SIX THOUSAND DIE IN TURK MASSACRE; MANY TOWNS BURN

All but Few Victims of Outbreak Near Janina Are Women and Children.

ULTIMATUM BY AUSTRIA

Montenegro Warned That Albania Must Be Left Independent at Any Cost.

PORTE APPEALS TO ALLIES

BULLETIN.

[BY CABLE TO THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.]

ATHENS, Nov. 13.—Six thousand women and children, twenty-five men, and two priests have been massacred near Janina by 750 men of the Turkish infantry and 300 Bashi-Bazouks, who pillaged and set fire to many villages.

In the Malakassi district eleven villages were destroyed and the inhabitants took refuge in caves in the mountains.

Eighteen hundred Christians have succeeded in reaching Greek villages destitute.

ULTIMATUM BY AUSTRIA.

[BY CABLE TO THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.]

CETTINJE, Nov. 13.—Austria, through its minister here, has notified the Montenegrin government formally and finally that Albania must be free and independent.

The representative of the dual monarchy pointed out that Montenegro's operations against the ports of Allessio and San Giorgiani de Medua in Albania on the Adriatic are inconsistent with the notion of the integrity of Albania.

King Nicholas replied that he totally disagreed with the Austrian view and could not consent to it for a moment.

It was reported here that the danger of war between Austria and Servia is practically eliminated. Servia, whose demands for an Adriatic port and partition of Albania will not be enforced, is preparing to yield to Austria. Servia probably will be allowed an outlet at Saloniki and possibly the commercial use of an Adriatic port over the Bosnian railways.

Appeals Direct to Allies.

CONSTANTINOPLE, Nov. 14, 1 a. m.—That the porte has entered into direct negotiations with Bulgaria for an armistice is confirmed.

Nazim Pasha, the Turkish commander in chief, has received instructions to open communication with the Bulgarian generals, and he has sent an envoy to the Bulgarian headquarters.

The porte appears resolved upon this course, owing, on the one hand, to the delay of the powers in handling the mediation proposed, and, on the other hand, to the divergence of views the proposal has occasioned among the powers. The porte, according to official circles, is unwilling to add to the existing embarrassments of the powers.

As a basis of the proposals for an armistice Turkey is ready to abandon Tchataldja, provided the Bulgarians will undertake not to enter the capital.

The porte is prepared to make heavy sacrifices in lands to avert this crowning humiliation of the war, and if King Ferdinand of Bulgaria is not too insistent peace is in sight.

Germany Back of Austria.

It is understood here that only four of the powers agreed to submit the mediation proposal, while two, presumably Austria and Germany, abstained from participating. Under these circumstances the porte elected to apply direct to the principal belligerent—Bulgaria—and there is reason to believe that the same course will be adopted in the negotiation for the terms of peace.

At the Russian embassy this afternoon it was stated that the only remaining difficulty in the way of peace was the Bulgarian insistence on a formal entry of troops into Constantinople. This, the Ottoman government points out, even with the Bulgarian assurance that it has no desire permanently to occupy the town and that the Bulgarians are prepared to march in and out again on the same day, it would be impossible to grant while the sultan is in residence here. It is also stated that the claims of the Greeks are excessive.

Several young Turks were arrested today. An attempt was also made to find Djavid Bey, the ex-minister of finance and Saloniki deputy, for the purpose of placing him under arrest, but he had disappeared.

Turks Beaten at Adrianople.

SOFIA, Nov. 13.—A desperate sortie was made by the Turkish garrison of Adrianople yesterday, according to a dispatch to the Mir. After five hours' fighting the Turkish troops were driven back by the Bulgarian besiegers. The Turks lost heavily.

Continue Attack on Tchatalja.

VIENNA, Nov. 13.—The main Bulgarian attack on the Turkish forts along the line of Tchatalja in front of Constantinople is now progressing favorably, after being delayed for two days because of the difficulty of transport after the heavy rain, according to the correspondent of the Reichspost at Bulgarian headquarters in a dispatch dated on Tuesday.

The Turks, he says, have been driven from their advance posts.

In another dispatch the correspondent says the Turkish officers captured during the sortie made by the garrison of Adrianople declare that the Bulgarian artillery fire was unbearable. The Turkish troops engaged in the sorties had only a few biscuits to eat.

Utmost confusion prevailed among the besieged, the Turkish troops firing on one an-

Why the Bell Rang

Time and again The Tribune classified renting ad has shown itself the best means of reaching folks who make best tenants. Every little while proof of this comes in with overwhelming force. For example, this ad in last Sunday's issue:

TO RENT — WELL FURNISHED, LARGE 4-room apartment; new building; porch, etc.; cars. 539 East 50th St., Tel. Kenwood 3886.

A clear and attractive notice—but there's no magic about it. Yet, in The Tribune, it pulled more than 60 earnest inquiries and kept the apartment phone going from morn till night.

PRICE OF STEAKS CITED BY CARMEN FOR RAISE IN PAY

Figures Showing Advance in Cost Presented by Mahon to Wage Arbitrators.

U. S. BULLETIN EVIDENCE

Records Rise of 54.6 Per Cent in Foodstuffs to the Consumer Since 1896.

OTHER DATA FROM THE RETAILERS

Figures showing the higher cost of living were produced by the surface car employés yesterday before the traction arbitration board in defense of their plea for an advance in wages.

Presentation of these figures by President W. D. Mahon of the Amalgamated Association of Street and Electric Railway Employés closed the introduction of evidence by the car men.

It was shown there has been a material advance in the price of necessities of life in the local market since the last contract was entered into between the company and its employés in August, 1909. Round steak, for instance, it was recorded, has gone up from 14 and 16 cents a pound to 22 cents a pound.

The figures were compiled from the charges made by retail markets where the wives of the men have been in the habit of trading. They were as close to home as could be obtained.

Cites Statistics of United States.

To reinforce the local prices Mr. Mahon introduced a bulletin from the United States bureau of labor covering the retail prices of food in the country from 1890 to June, 1912. These showed that the lowest prices were reached in 1896 and the highest level in May, 1912. The government report showed an advance of 54.6 per cent in the cost of foodstuffs during that period.

The Chicago City railway company will take up the issue from its side of the case at the opening of this morning's session, when President L. A. Busby will submit a financial statement giving the resources of the company, the cost of operation, amount of its capital account, etc. His testimony, it was said, will practically constitute the company's case.

The railway company proposes to show that the cost of operation has not stood still while the cost of living was going forward and will seek to prove its contention that an advance at this time would jeopardize the financial status of the company.

Some of the Prices Cited.

Some of the prices paid in the Chicago market for foodstuffs in August, 1912, as given by Mr. Mahon, in comparison with the cost of similar articles in August, 1909, follow:

Even Bread More Costly.

Incidentally it is stated that in August, 1909, bread was 5 cents for a pound loaf. The price now is the same, but the loaf weighs only three-quarters of a pound.

The government report, which Mr. Mahon submitted in full, takes fifteen articles which it states represent approximately two-thirds of the expenditure for food of the average workman's family. Fourteen out of the fifteen articles, it sets forth, were higher in price on June 15, 1912, than in June 15, 1911. The percentage of increase varies from 2.4 for milk to 18.6 for round steak. Nine of the fifteen articles advanced more than 10 per cent during the year.

Advance in Canned Goods.

Figures obtained by the car men from a wholesale establishment in Rochester, N. Y., show that out of a list of 225 items in canned goods 143 have advanced, 67 remain stationary, and 11 have decreased since August, 1909.

The board deferred a ruling on the question of whether the books of the company shall be ordered thrown open to examination by an accountant in the employ of the men until the company has presented its evidence in full.

"It might be possible that after the company presents its evidence the employés will be willing to rest their case without an examination of the books," said Judge Scanlan. "If the men still demand an examination, however, then the board will make a ruling."

DEMOCRATS BACK "LORIMER" CANAL

Thomas H. Riley of Joliet Says Dunne Will Drop Deneen Inland Waterway Plan.

EXPECTS TO BE ON BOARD.

The "Lorimer" plan of building the Illinois section of the lakes to the gulf deep waterway is one of the chief items on the program of the coming legislature. The plan involves the expenditure of the $20,000,000 bond issue already authorized by the voters of Illinois, and of the $1,000,000 now appropriated by the federal government for a joint commission to be named by the president and by Gov. Elect Dunne.

This news was brought to Chicago yesterday by former Representative Thomas H. Riley of Joliet, late Democratic candidate for congress against Congressman Copley. Mr. Riley was a member of the Illinois legislature in 1909 and voted for Mr. Lorimer for senator. He expects to be one of the Illinois commissioners to spend the $21,000,000, and said as much without reservation when seen at the Hotel La Salle.

Says Deneen Plan Is Dead.

"The Deneen plan of water power conservation has been knocked in the head five separate and distinct times by popular vote," Mr. Riley said. "It has been thoroughly and finally repudiated, and it now is up to Illinois to perform its duty and authorize through the general assembly the appointment of a commission. This board will coöperate with the federal government on the only feasible method of doing business, and will inaugurate action as soon as the proper legislation can be enacted by the incoming general assembly.

"I am informed through credible and authoritative sources that enough votes are in sight in both senate and house to enact what has been called the 'Lorimer' plan, as opposed to the Deneen scheme. I positively am assured that Governor Elect Dunne will throw the full force of his administration toward the enactment of such a bill. He will aid with all in his power to secure the effective coöperation of state and national governments in initiating business at the earliest moment."

Here Is "Administration" Bill.

As roughly outlined in the afternoon, what is to be known as the "administration" waterway bill in the new legislature will call for the immediate expenditure of the $20,000,000 bond issue. It was voted by the state in 1906 to be used in building the Lockport-Utica stretch—through federal and state coöperation, and with the initial expenditure of approximately $10,000,000 for the building of necessary dams in the sixty miles of construction. This is to be accomplished without particular respect to the water power sites, most of which now are claimed by the Economy Light and Power company and allied interests, as has been pointed out repeatedly by Gov. Deneen in his various speaking campaigns through the state.

Dunne Foe of Deneen Theory.

The foundation for the expectation that Gov. Elect Dunne is to coincide with the Lorimer plan of waterway construction, as an administration policy, apparently lies in his platform utterances in the recent campaign. Then he assailed the Deneen theory of waterway-water power conservation and set up the claim that the retiring governor had been trying to get his hands on the $20,000,000 bond issue for the purpose of creating a personal political machine.

It was pointed out the political fitness of things in Illinois calls for definite recognition of the Lorimer wing of the Republican party by the incoming Democratic administration. The general opinion is expressed that minority appointments under the new state administration will go to men who have the indorsement of the Lorimerites, rather than to the regular organization men. This supposition, freely admitted on all sides, is predicated on the open support of Mr. Dunne for the governorship in the late election by the element which acknowledges the Lorimer leadership.

Tried to Save Water Power.

The legislative history of the two recent sessions of the general assembly emphasizes the fight made by the retiring state administration to enact a law intended to secure to the state primarily the possession of water-power sites along the proposed deep waterway route. At the final showdown, with Speaker Adkins from the McKinley senatorial district flatly refusing to permit the bill to be considered after it had passed the senate, the Deneen plan went into the scrap heap.

The rejuvenation of the Lorimer plan, idealized by him and made the basis of a statewide campaign, becomes now, according to Mr. Riley, one of the main items of the approaching legislative program which will be advocated by the new administration at Springfield.

Mr. Riley said the $1,000,000 authorized by congress is available for instant use, as rapidly as the state shall act through legislative channels. The contention is made that the federal government had not the privilege of negotiating with the state rivers and lakes commission, appointed by the governor, on the theory that it was not legally named as a federal-state body by act of the legislature.

TRAIN OF PAINTED ORANGES CONFISCATED BY GOVERNMENT

Stained Golden Hue, but California Shippers Fail to Mark Them as Law Requires.

A trainload of painted oranges was confiscated by federal officials yesterday at Proviso, Ill. The seizure was made under the pure food and drugs act.

The train consisted of six cars loaded to capacity with oranges stained to as golden a hue as ever was displayed by the best sun kissed fruit of California. Seizure followed suits filed in the United States District court by District Attorney James H. Wilkerson charging artificial coloring to conceal inferiority.

The painted fruit was shipped from Lindsay, Cal., five of the cars being consigned to branches of the Lindsay Fruit company in various cities, and the sixth car was shipped by the Central California Citrus exchange to the California Fruit Growers' association at Toledo.

The legal mistake made by the shippers was that they failed to label the fruit "painted."

DAYLIGHT THIEF GETS $60,000 IN GEMS FROM A PARIS SHOP.

Establishment of M. Clerc, in Center of French Capital, Looted While Salesmen Are on Duty.

[BY CABLE TO THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.]

PARIS, Nov. 13.—The establishment of M. Clerc, the well known jeweler, which is situated in the Place de l'Opera on the corner opposite Tiffany's, was visited today by a thief, who managed to gather up gems and jewelry worth $60,000 and to make his escape unnoticed by several of the salesmen on duty.

The scene of the robbery is in the center of Paris and the apparent ease with which it was accomplished has produced something of a sensation.

As explained at the jewelry shop, the thief must have made his way through a makeshift partition which connected the shop with a building under reconstruction next door.

EXPEL EVANSTON STUDENT RIOTERS

Academy Authorities Locked in House Office and Bombarded with Pillows.

MANY ARE SUSPENDED.

Representation of Hatfield house in Evanston academy's student list was reduced 75 per cent in 75 seconds last night when Floyd Holsinger, housemaster, decided to enforce the laws.

The evening study hour at the house, whose twenty-six students are preparing for Northwestern university, just had started and Holsinger and his assistant, Oscar Druhn, Northwestern left half back, were in the house office. A shriek from outside brought them to their feet and they dashed to the door supposed to open into the hall.

Door Fails to Open.

The door did not open, for the boys had braced it with a chair inserted under the doorknob, and were using their chance to have a first class fracas, the first and second floor boys defending themselves against those from the third and fourth floors. The housemasters forced their way out, and the boys turned on them and beat them joyously with pillows. Holsinger, crimson with rage, finally quelled them.

"You're fired," he shouted. "You, and you, and you," pointing to all but six of the twenty-six boys. "Get out now."

That meant suspension for from one to three days, and the indignant boys went to Nathan W. Helm, principal of the school, with their grievance.

Expels Two Students.

The principal ordered W. J. Buell and T. J. Buell, six foot twins from the west, expelled, and told the balance to seek other rooms for three days. He also told them to report by 10:30 where they were staying.

The boys started for a round of the hotels and boarding houses. At midnight only a half dozen had reported where they were, and the house authorities were beginning to fear they would learn from the police. Today the boys are expected to report every hour.

"We give them one privilege," said Mr. Helm. "We will let them come back and take their examinations during the suspension term."

Windows and chandeliers were smashed in the pillow fight.

SIX FAMILIES DRIVEN OUT BY APARTMENT BUILDING FIRE.

Early Morning Blaze Attacks Structure on Forty-first Court, Between Irving Park Boulevard and Byron Street.

Six families living in the apartment buildings on Forty-first court, between Irving Park boulevard and Byron street, were driven into the street shortly after midnight this morning by fire.

Within a half hour the four apartment building was in ruins and the adjoining structure, half as large, ablaze.

The refugees, most of them scantily clothed, were taken into adjoining houses for the rest of the night. Some persisted in trying to recover their property and had to be driven away by the police.

Detectives from the Irving Park station were hurried over to look for the cause of the fire. At a late hour they had not report-

RIOT IN COMMONS; LIBERALS CALLED APES AND REBELS

Shouts of 'Government a Circus' and 'Traitors'; Adjournment Forced.

CHURCHILL HIT BY BOOK

Probable Fist Fight Over Home Rule Averted by Singing of "Auld Lang Syne."

ASQUITH TO STAND HIS GROUND

LONDON, Nov. 13.—The house of commons, the popular house of the "mother of parliaments," tonight was the scene of a riot over Premier Asquith's proposal to rescind the action of Monday, when the Unionists by a majority of 22 carried Sir Frederick Banbury's amendment defeating the most important financial feature of the home rule bill.

The Unionists refused this evening to permit the debate and the speaker was forced to adjourn the session on account of the disorder. This is an extremely rare necessity, and the situation is considered critical.

The Unionists almost unanimously threaten that they will continue to make business in the house impossible unless the prime minister accepts the amendment or drops the home rule bill. They say his action is unprecedented and will be obstructed by unprecedented measures.

Their object is to force the government to resign. However, the government leaders, at a meeting after adjournment of the house, agreed to stand by their program.

Worst Since Gladstone's Day.

The uproar far exceeded that which stifled Premier Asquith's speech when he introduced the home rule bill, and has not been equaled since the free fight over Gladstone's first home rule measure. The ministers were taunted with epithets like "traitors" and "apes."

Sir William Bull, Unionist, for Hammersmith, was ordered from the floor for repeatedly calling Mr. Asquith a "traitor."

After adjournment the Unionists doubled up programs and threw them across the floor at the prime minister. Winston Spencer Churchill, first lord of the admiralty, was hit in the face with a heavy book, entitled "Parliamentary Procedure," hurled from the camp of the enemy.

The Liberals gathered around Premier Asquith to protect him, as they feared violence. Fierce imprecations were exchanged by individual Unionists and Liberals, the eyes of many blazing with passion as they screamed at one another.

Friends Restrain Churchill.

Ronald McNeill, a Unionist, is the man who threw the volume that struck Winston Churchill. The first lord of the admiralty, when the book hit his cheek, winced, but instantly faced about, pale with anger, and his flashing eyes swept the ranks of the taunters to see who threw the book. He then made a hasty dash forward as if to attack his assailant.

John William Gulland and Sir Maurice Levy, government supporters, who were near Mr. Churchill, laid hold of the minister, and other Liberals joined them, attempting to dissuade the first lord from going further. Mr. Churchill yielded; then he smiled, evidently having quickly realized how the dignity of his position would suffer by scrapping like a schoolboy with an ill mannered assailant.

The evidence in connection with the assault was collected by the officials of the house after the incident, and will be submitted to the speaker, who is not likely to treat the offender lightly.

Will Crooks, the labor member, qualified as the peacemaker, averting what seemed to be an inevitable fight by starting up "Auld Lang Syne."

Liberals There in Force.

When the session began there were packed benches. The premier's followers gave him a great cheer on his entrance and demonstrated that they were present in force by defeating a motion to adjourn early in the proceedings by a vote of 327 to 218.

The substance of Mr. Asquith's motion was that the Banbury amendment be rescinded, "notwithstanding anything in any standing order of this house," and that the order of the house in respect to the home rule bill take effect as if Monday's proceedings had not taken place.

The effect of this would be practically to begin again the consideration of the bill at the clause where the Banbury amendment was offered.

Andrew Bonar Law, leader of the opposition, had the floor quickly and inquired whether there was any precedent for the government's course and whether it would not destroy all safeguards for regularity in the house of commons proceedings.

Loud Opposition Cheering.

Amid loud opposition cheering the speaker replied that he could find no precedent for rescinding a decision of the house arrived at during the passage of a bill. Whether it would destroy the safeguards was a matter on which every member must form his own judgment.

There was a long discussion on the parliamentary points and then Mr. Asquith rose and said that no notice had been given of the amendment offered by Sir Frederick Banbury and that its discussion was brief.

He doubted if the members on either side had appreciated its importance. It would reduce the $80,000,000 which it was proposed to transfer to the Irish government to $12,500,000.

"If the decision come to Monday remains unreversed," said the premier gravely, "or, on reconsideration, is found to be the deliberate judgment of the house, it would be impossible for the government to proceed with the bill. There are two seasons for this In the first place, a mortal blow would have been struck——"

Interruption by Law.

Mr. Law—"Has been——"

Mr. Asquith—"At the financial arrangements of the bill. Next, I strongly hold that a bill passing this house should receive upon all substantial and vital points the assent of the majority of the house."

Mr. Asquith proceeded to point out that last week the government had a majority of 121 on a question similar to that raised by Sir Frederick Banbury. He argued that there were precedents for the course proposed.

Bonar Law replied that the established rule of the house was a decision once on a resolution. The government's proposal, he declared, was an affront to the house.

Capt. Craig, Unionist for East Down, said: "The government's supporters are here under monstrous and degrading circumstances. A change in the government under the present international conditions—if that is the ground for the government clinging to office—will have the whole hearted support of the Unionist party."

He then moved adjournment, which was defeated, 327 to 218.

"Circus Led by Rebels."

Then the storm broke. Sir Frederick Banbury moved that a decision reached could not be reversed at the same session.

"The only honorable alternatives before the government," he said, "are resignation or dissolution. All the respect with which the members of the minority are treated is to have the members of the cabinet sitting opposite them grinning like apes. The government is only a circus led by rebels. The best thing the Ulster members can do is to go home and make preparations to resist home rule."

Lewis Harcourt, secretary of state for the colonies, attempted to speak. He was on his feet for several minutes. Every sentence was drowned by Unionist shouts and derisive cries for Lloyd-George. He finally took his seat.

The attorney general, Sir Rufus Isaacs, had the same experience.

Henry Page Croft, Unionist for Christ church, shouted:

"The name of this government stinks in the city of London," referring to various alleged financial scandals.

Appeal for Order Vain.

The speaker finally adjourned the house for an hour. Immediately it reconvened, Sir Rufus Isaacs was on his feet amid shouts of "adjourn!"

The voice of Sir Edward Carson, who led the anti-home rulers in Ulster, arose above the din.

"There will be no more business ever in this house," he cried.

The speaker repeatedly appealed for order, and at length declared:

"I rule that a scene of grave disorder has arisen and I adjourn the house until tomorrow."

A yell of victory burst from the Unionists. The members of the cabinet clustered on their side of the clerk's table. No one moved to leave the house.

On the Unionist side was a seething mob. An arm was raised and a document flew across the floor. It struck the prime minister on the shoulder. A shower of papers fell among the group of ministers.

Air Thick with Papers and Hats.

Mr. Asquith, white and indignant, faced the attack with folded arms. The air was thick with papers and hats. At length the prime minister stalked to the door, greeted with yells of defiance and approval.

Suddenly the Unionist member, Ronald McNeill, rushed to the clerk's table, seized a heavy volume, and hurled it at Mr. Churchill. There was an ugly rush from the Liberal benches, but the cooler members held back their colleagues.

For a moment a battle of fists seemed imminent. Then the voice of Will Crooks was raised in song:

"Should Auld Acquaintance Be Forgot."

Others took up the refrain and gradually flowed into the lobbies.

GIRL, SCARED, KILLS MOTHER; MISTAKES HER FOR BURGLAR.

Half Awake on Train, Young Woman Shoots Parent—She and Chance Companion Freed.

Trenton, N. J., Nov. 13.—Mrs. J. Rapps Myers, wife of the proprietor of the Rapps hotel, Greensburg, Pa., was shot by her daughter, Gladys Elizabeth Myers, in mistake for a burglar in a sleeping car on a Pennsylvania railroad train bound for New York, about 5:30 o'clock this morning.

She died a short time later in a Trenton hospital. The shooting occurred when the train was passing Croyden, Pa.

Miss Myers and W. R. Cuthbert, 60 years old, of Lynchburg, Va., were detained by the Trenton police, but after an investigation both were released tonight.

It was thought at first that Cuthbert was concerned with the shooting, as he was found with Miss Myers at the side of the wounded woman a few seconds after the shot aroused the other passengers.

But Cuthbert explained that he had been standing on the platform and had run in when he heard the shot. The police say they are satisfied the shooting was an accident and that Mr. Cuthbert went to the aid of a person he had reason to believe was in distress.

Miss Myers, who is about 20 years old, was on the way to New York to purchase a trousseau for her wedding next June to J. Blair Dillard, a druggist of Salem, Va. She had a casket of jewels she was taking to New York to have repaired and matched and when she heard her mother reëntering their section from the dressing room she took her revolver from under her pillow and fired, thinking a burglar was after the gems. She was only half awake.

MUNICIPAL JUDGES ATTACK CITY LAW DEPARTMENT POLICY

Deny Responsibility for Failure to Enforce Health Ordinances Rests on Court Bailiffs.

Tiring of the rôle of the worm that would not turn, the Municipal court yesterday struck back at the city administration. It rejected responsibility for nonpunishment of violators of the sanitary code and tried to place it on the office of James S. McInerney, city prosecutor.

Municipal Judge Sheridan E. Fry made the following criticism of the city's prosecutors based on the present agitation:

"On today's call there was a case against Edward Prindeville for violation of city ordinances pertaining to sanitation. R. G. Lewis, an assistant city prosecutor, asked for a continuance. Charles B. Ball, chief sanitary inspector, asked for trial. Mr. Lewis declared a son of the defendant was an attorney in the city law department and he had promised him a continuance.

"On examination of the files I found this case had been continued eight times and that the suit was commenced April 1, 1912. I agreed with Mr. Ball there was no sufficient showing for a continuance and directed the trial of the case.

"Mr. Lewis then said: 'Very well: I will proceed to trial, and as soon as a judgment is rendered I will stipulate to vacate it.'"

FINANCING HALTS SUBWAY PLANNERS

Council Committee Finds Questions of Cost and Capital Big Obstacle.

MUCH TALK, NO ACTION.

Ald. Block Instructed to Determine Marketability of Mueller Certificates.

Subway planning came to a dead stop yesterday when the council committee on local transportation took up the subject for general discussion for the first time since its series of public hearings on the proposed routes. The aldermen found themselves all at sea when it came to determining upon the next step to be taken. No one presented a clearly defined program of procedure. Nearly every one had an idea of some distinct phase of the problem that he thought ought to be considered at once. One suggestion after another was advanced, and the result was that almost no business was transacted.

The net product of the session was that Chairman Block was instructed to go into the question of financing subway construction by the issuance of Mueller certificates. He was authorized to obtain from bond experts a statement whether they will give an opinion on the marketability of Mueller certificates and if they will give such an opinion what they will charge for it.

Finance Question Proves Obstacle.

The question of finance, regarded by many as the greatest of all, proved to be the big stumbling block. There was no program calling for its immediate consideration, but it would not down. Chairman Block raised the question for a brief discussion, but it occupied practically all the two hour session. The resolution calling for an investigation of the supervising board was handed to a subcommittee after veiled explanations that it was not intended to serve as a means of "getting" any of the present engineers. It was disposed of with so little debate that the subway project, which otherwise might not have been approached, was taken up.

The questions of procedure raised included these:

Should the committee at once determine whether the subway shall be built by municipal capital or private capital?

Should the committee, before making this determination, ascertain whether the city can finance construction by Mueller certificates?

Should the city, to ascertain this, adopt subway plans, authorize the issuance of Mueller certificates, and have a test case brought in court, or should the committee attempt to learn whether this method of financing would be successful without a test case?

Should the committee attempt at once to determine whether a majority of the citizens, property owners, or voters favors subway construction?

Capitain Now Against Report.

Several phases of these questions were discussed, and incidentally Ald. Henry D. Capitain, a member of the subcommittee that with the subway engineers recommended the plans now before the committee, disclosed he was opposed to these plans although he signed the report. Other aldermen were said to be in the same predicament.

Secretary Herbert H. Evans told the committee an opinion on a proposed issue of Mueller certificates from the city's bond experts, Wood & Oakley, probably would cost between $1,000 and $5,000.

"I don't think there is any one who can give an opinion on the marketability of Mueller certificates unless they are based on a definite plan," said Ald. John A. Richert.

Ald. T. K. Long raised the question whether the city's income from the subway could be pledged as security for the certificates, and extracts from two opinions from the law department were read. One expressed a doubt whether the Mueller certificates would prove an attractive investment and the other said a test ordinance for the construction of a subway system on a single street probably would be opposed on a referendum.

Ald. James Donahoe again raised the question whether bond experts would give an opinion on the marketability of these securities on a hypothetical scheme; and the motion directing the chairman to get an answer to this question was passed.

Committee to Investigate Board.

On the motion of Ald. W. J. Healy that the chairman be made chairman of a subcommittee to take the resolution directing an investigation of the supervising board Ald. Block appointed Healy and Ald. Charles Twigg as his associates. In discussing his resolution Block said its only purpose was to arrange matters so that the committee can have free access at all times to all traction information in the hands of the engineers.

Rumors have been circulated the investigation will result in the removal of George Weston, the city's representative on the board, and his replacement by J. J. Reynolds, and possibly in an effort to remove Bion J. Arnold as chairman of the board.

CHIEF FEARS MILITARY RULE

McWeeny Afraid Aldermen Will Convert Force Into Army.

"WON'T BE REAL COP LEFT."

Drills May Take Place of Real Work, Says Superintendent.

Chief of Police John McWeeny is fearful that the special aldermanic subcommittee which will shortly make recommendations for the reorganization of the police department, will transform his force into militiamen and the stations into armories. He has visions of the reveille taking the place of the morning roll calls and the police whistles being replaced by bugles.

"As far as I can learn," the chief said, "this committee has got the military 'bug' to such an extent that we won't have any real policemen. All I hear is talk about drills, and inspection, and military appearance, and schools of instruction. I guess they're going to have parade grounds instead of beats and issue clothing allowances and rations to the cops.

"You can't make a military man out of the old thief catchers on the force—I can tell them that—and I don't see how they're going to do much police work if they've got to take care of a lot of military maneuvers and drills.

Abolition of Sergeant a Puzzle.

"I understand the committee is going to abolish the rank of sergeant. The lord knows how they're going to get along without sergeants. I'm told that the lieutenants are going to be expected to be responsible for the stations and their men. Well, all I've got to say is that they'll have to make a lot of new lieutenants, for it will take about four or five of them to the station if they do away with the sergeants, especially in the big stations. Why, it takes all of one lieutenant's time to handle the big cases alone.

"Then I understand another proposition is to take all the plain clothes men away from the outside stations and have all of them work from a central downtown bureau. I'm certain that such a plan won't work. Just for instance, if there was a big crime out at Fifty-fifth and State streets and they sent eight good men out from downtown what would they know about the neighborhood? Nothing. But a plain clothes man who had been working in the district would know all about the geography and the surroundings and would know the men of the neighborhood.

"I don't think the removal of plain clothes men from the stations will help along police work at all. In fact, I'm sure that we won't get as many criminals under that system as we get today with the detectives on duty throughout the city."

Not Consulted by Committee.

The chief said he had not been consulted by the subcommittee concerning the reorganization plans, and [illegible] that if consulted he would have a lot to say against the supposed plans of the committee.

Ald. Richert, chairman of the reorganization committee, said yesterday that its report would be ready on Tuesday when it will be presented to the council committee on schools, fire, police and civil service. He declined to discuss the contents of the report.

It is known that one of the recommendations to be offered will be for the reduction of the number of police precincts, probably to not more than two-thirds of the present number of forty-five. This would mean the abandonment of one-third of the police stations of the city.

It is said that the committee plans to redistrict the city so that all of the good station houses will be kept in service and the old and inadequate structures abandoned. One of the features of the plan is said to embrace the building of a big central station in the loop which will take care of the big central portion of the city with a territory probably reaching over at least three of the present precincts in the central section of the city.

CORKERY WILL CASE OPENS.

Relatives Say Rich Widow Was Influenced by Sister of John P. Hopkins in Making Bequests.

A jury was impaneled in Judge Dever's court yesterday to try a suit involving the $500,000 estate of Mrs. Mary A. Corkery. Relatives contesting the will contend that Mrs. Corkery was of unsound mind when she made her will. A group of other relatives, who are heirs, are defending the will. Their attorneys say they will disprove absolutely the contentions of those who have brought the suit.

The contestants say that Mrs. Corkery was unduly influenced, in making her will, by Miss Adelia Hopkins, a sister of ex-Mayor John P. Hopkins, and by John A. McCormick, executor under the will.

In support of the allegation that Mrs. Corkery was of unsound mind, Weymouth Kirkland, one of the counsel for the contestants of the will, said in his opening statement that the contestants would prove that the testator up to and preceding the executing of the instrument, was suffering from various diseases, including arterial sclerosis, delusions, brain lesion, aphasia, and Bright's disease.

NO BLOCK SYSTEM; 15 DIE AS RESULT

Indiana Railway Board Blames C., H. & D. for Big Wreck at Irvington.

FIVE DEAD IN FAMILY OF 6

Sixteen Hurt When Passenger Train Crashes Through Open Switch Into Freight.

Indianapolis, Ind., Nov. 13.—The wreck on the Cincinnati, Hamilton and Dayton railway at Irvington early this morning, in which fifteen persons were killed and sixteen injured, was due to the company's failure to install a block signal system as had been ordered.

This was the statement of inspectors of the Indiana railway commission, after a thorough investigation of the crash. Had this order been obeyed, the commission says, the wreck could not have occurred.

The wreck was caused by the failure of the head brakeman of a freight to close the switch to a siding on which his train had been run to let the rapidly running passenger train, which was more than an hour late, pass.

Carl Groes, the head brakeman, has assumed blame for the disaster. He has not been arrested, but is under police guard at a hospital, where he lies with a broken leg.

Late in the day, after the wrecking crews had completed the search of the demolished passenger cars, the coroner's office here gave out a correct list of the dead and injured.

The Dead.

ALLEN, ALBERT, Los Angeles.

ALLEN, MRS. ALBERT, Los Angeles.

BOYLE, BEN; had ticket to Chicago.

BURG, C., fireman on passenger train.

CHENEY, CHARLES, 13 years old, Jackson, Ky.

CHENEY, JOHN, Breathitt, Ky.; died at Deaconess hospital.

CHENEY, CHESTER, 5 months old, son of Clifton and Julia Cheney.

CHENEY, JULIA, wife of Clifton Cheney, Jackson, Ky.

CHENEY, ——, 2 year old daughter of Clifton and Julia Cheney.

GRUENDHOEFER, C. F., 4440 Darrow avenue, Cincinnati.

IMHOLT, CLEM, theatrical man from Los Angeles.

PALMER, J. L., Itawaw, Tenn.

SHARKEY, WILLIAM, engineer on passenger train, Indianapolis.

WIGGINS, IRVIE M., conductor on passenger train, Indianapolis.

WHITE, HORACE B., brakeman on passenger train, Indianapolis.

Among the injured were Mrs. Mary Sears, 2927 Indiana avenue, and Harry Sell, 2437 Indiana avenue, Chicago.

Mail Car Battering Ram.

All of the dead passengers were in the smoker and day coach, which were immediately behind the steel reinforced mail car that acted as a battering ram. Both of these cars were of wood and were completely demolished and it was with difficulty the bodies of the dead were extricated. The injured in many cases had to remain pinned under heavy timbers until they could be chopped out with axes.

The injured were taken from the wreck within a short time after the collision. They were removed to nearby residences and later taken to the Deaconess hospital here.

The passenger train was No. 36 from Cincinnati to Chicago and was running an hour late. The engineer had been given a clear track and was running forty miles an hour in an effort to reach his destination on schedule time.

At Irvington there was nothing to indicate danger ahead and the pilot of the passenger kept his engine at top speed.

As the train hit the switch it lurched to one side almost overturning. It righted itself and crashed into the freight train.

Five of Family of Six Dead.

Out of a family of six, the Cheneys of Jackson, Ky., only one was alive this morning, and he, Clifton Cheney, was at Deaconess hospital badly injured. His father, wife, and three children were among the killed. They were on their way to a logging camp in Wisconsin.

Twenty-eight Hurt in Wreck.

Corpus Christi, Tex., Nov. 13.—Twenty-eight persons were injured, one fatally, in a wreck on the Frisco railroad near Sitton, Tex., today, when an engine, baggage car, smoker, and day coach jumped the track from some cause as yet unknown. All the injured are in the Frisco hospital here.

Russia Mobilizing Troops.

[BY CABLE TO THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.]

ST. PETERSBURG, Nov. 13.—There are persistent reports that Russia is mobilizing in the Kieff, Warsaw, and Vilna districts. A passenger from Kieff today says that military preparations are in progress there. On the other hand, government officials profess to be hopeful of a peaceful solution of the Balkan crisis.

It is related here that Foreign Minister Sazenoff, after seeing the German ambassador, informed the Servian minister that in answer to German inquiry he had declared that Russia did not contemplate hostilities for the sake of the Servian port on the Adriatic. M. Sazenoff also expressed the wish for the departure of Prof. Koshutich, who by his lectures and interview had been arousing public opinion in Russia in favor of the Servian claims, thus complicating the task of the Russian government.

TURK ARMY LOSES SPIRIT.

[BY CABLE TO THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.]

LONDON, Nov. 13.—M. H. Donahoe, the correspondent of the Daily Chronicle, under date of Nov. 12, by way of Kustendje, Roumania, telegraphs:

"Beaten and demoralized and without hope of reorganization in time to make an effective stand against the united enemy, the Turks have recognized the futility of further resistance. Nazim Pasha, the Turkish minister of war, who is at the front, has informed the grand vizier, Kiamil Pasha, that the Turkish army is both unwilling and unable to continue the fight and suggests, as the only course, that Turkey make the best possible terms of peace with the allies by direct negotiations, opening with the Bulgarians.

"Some Turkish advisers in the capital, anxious to continue the defense of Tchataldja that would certainly result in disaster, make as a basis of proposals for armistice that Turkey is ready to abandon Tchataldja, provided the Bulgarians agree not to enter the capital. The porte is prepared to make heavy sacrifices to avert this crowning humiliation, and if King Ferdinand is not too insistent peace is in sight."

PREMIER'S BODY IN PANTHEON; HIS ASSASSIN, SILENT, DIES.

Canalejas Entombed While All Spain Mourns—Press Praises Minister as Great Statesman.

MADRID, Nov. 13.—The body of the Spanish premier, José Canalejas, was entombed in the Spanish pantheon this afternoon with the highest national honors. The entire nation is in mourning and all civil life and business were suspended in Madrid until after the ceremony.

King Alfonso, accompanied by Prince Charles of Bourbon-Sicilies and Prince Ferdinand of Bavaria, infants of Spain, walked behind the hearse from the chamber of deputies to the pantheon, while 250,000 persons stood with uncovered heads in tribute to the dead premier.

The press of all shades of opinion condemns the assassination and praises Señor Canalejas as the finest type of Spaniard, who, in addition to being a great statesman, had devoted himself to the amelioration of the condition of the poor.

Manuel Pardinas, the assassin, died, according to the police, without making any statement. The exact motives for the deed, therefore, remain a mystery.

WOMEN ASK LAW TO SAVE BABIES

Illinois Federation of Clubs Urges Registration of Births and Deaths.

U. S. TO JOIN CAMPAIGN.

Organization Will Urge State to Adopt Other Humanitarian Measures.

[BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.]

Aurora, Ill., Nov. 13.—[Special.]—Seven bills will be introduced to the state legislature at its next session by the legislative committee of the Illinois Federation of Women's Clubs. They were outlined at tonight's session of the state convention by Miss Anna E. Nicholes, chairman of the committee. The bills will call for:

Immediate registration of all births and deaths as the first step in a campaign to lessen the death rate for infants.

A minimum wage commission.

Authority for cities to acquire, equip, and conduct playgrounds.

Authority for expenditure of funds for a farm colony for epileptics.

One rest day in seven.

Higher education requirements for children leaving school and taking working certificates.

Enfranchisement of women.

U. S. Bureau Investigates Births.

The speakers on tonight's program were Miss Mary McDowell, Miss Julia Lathrop, and Miss Nicholes.

Miss Lathrop, who is director of the children's department of the department of commerce and labor, said the first work of the bureau will be an investigation into the causes of infant mortality.

"The number of babies under a year old who die every ten years," she said, "is greater than the population of Chicago or of the state of California. One of the most necessary things for our work is thorough birth registration.

"We are going to go to the birth, not the death, records. We will take some certain small typical communities to get our inferential data. We want the coöperation of every mother, every woman's club, every doctor, and public officers in our quest of these invaluable figures. Our investigation will necessarily be a campaign for better birth registration.

"We can't tell the proportion of children who die until we know the number of those who are born."

Political Fight Stirs Federation.

The old fight of the Woman's Party of Cook County has struck the federation, and is responsible, it is said, for the withdrawal today of Mrs. Freeman E. Brown as a candidate for president. Nominations were made this morning from the floor.

Mrs. Myra Strawn Hartshorn, leader of the unincorporated faction of the Woman's party, jumped to the floor when nominations opened to place the name of Mrs. Brown, who is an officer in Mrs. Hartshorn's faction of the party. Not many minutes later several telegrams were distributed through the audience. They were sent by Mrs. Charlotte Rhodus, head of the opposing faction of the party. They stated Judge Tuthill had enjoined Mrs. Hartshorn and Mrs. Brown from using the name Woman's party, and that if Mrs. Hartshorn nominated Mrs. Brown the nomination would be contested at the next session. Mrs. Brown withdrew her name.

Mrs. Brown's withdrawal leaves Mrs. Frederick A. Dow and Mrs. Robert McCall in the field.

ADMITS KILLING POLICEMAN JONES

Young Teamster Implicates Three Others in Bloomingdale Road Tragedy.

FIGHTS AGAINST ARREST.

Arthur Reich, Surprised in Smithy, Tries to Use Knife on His Captors.

Arthur Reich, a young teamster living at 1749 North Wood street, yesterday confessed he was the man who murdered Patrolman Charles T. Jones of the Rawson street police station on Sunday on the Bloomingdale road.

He involved three other men who, he said, were present when the murder was committed. These are Frank Barlock, Eddie Bahn, alias "Bottles," and Ed Galinski, alias "Eggie." The police started a hunt for the trio.

Reich was taken into custody at Gilmartin's horseshoeing shop in North Green street, between West Lake and Fulton streets, by Detectives O'Keefe, Monaghan, and McFarland of Capt. Halpin's staff. These are the same men who captured the slayers of Miss Sophia Singer.

Reich, Surprised, Fights Arrest.

The police had received information that Reich, who was under suspicion in connection with Jones' death, was in the habit of loafing about the blacksmith shop and they went out there in Capt. Halpin's automobile.

The machine was stopped near the smithy and the detectives entered the place unexpectedly and took Reich by surprise. The man recognized them and drawing a knife struck at O'Keefe. The latter seized the man's arm and threw him to the floor.

Reich fought, but O'Keefe clung to the hand in which the knife was clasped until Monaghan and McFarland could go to his assistance. The prisoner was then disarmed and beaten into submission.

He was taken in the automobile directly to Capt. Halpin's office. He confessed after a few minutes of questioning.

According to Capt. Halpin Reich said he and the three other men sought by the police were in a crowd at North Wood street and Bloomingdale road Sunday afternoon when Policemen Jones and Glerman approached and ordered them to disperse. Reich said he and the other three fled into an alley and sought refuge in a shed, shutting the door. They tried to hold this, but the policemen forced it open.

Tells How He Killed Jones.

"I got into a fight with the policemen and Jones fired two shots at me," said Reich. "I took the revolver away from Glerman. When the two came back at me I fired five shots into Jones' body with Glerman's revolver.

"Then I ran out of the shed through a passageway into Bloomingdale road. I threw the revolver behind a garbage box a few blocks from the shed. I don't know where Barlock, Bahn, and Galinski went."

Reich said one of the bullets fired by Jones struck him and he displayed a slight wound on his arm.

When the prisoner's examination had been concluded he was taken by the detectives in the automobile to the scene of the murder and they also planned to search for the revolver.

On the way out Reich admitted he sold the revolver with which he shot Jones to David Paulnitzki, a bartender at 545 West Madison street. He said he got $5 for it. Paulnitzki was arrested.

Plans to Aid Victim's Family.

Jones had been on the police force nineteen years. He left a widow and five children. Julius Rosenwald has sent a check for $1,000 to Mayor Harrison as a contribution toward a fund for the relief of the victim's family. Chief McWeeny said he was considering taking up a collection among members of the department to add to this amount. Mr. Rosenwald gave the check on the condition that at least $5,000 be raised.

The chief issued an order to the department in the evening urging strict enforcement of the city ordinance with reference to "lounging and loafing in public places." His instructions were for patrolmen to take in all street corner hangers-on.

SUIT FOR $50,000 DAMAGES ENDS A 20 YEAR COURTSHIP.

Miss Mary Glennon Brings Action for Breach of Promise Against Assistant City Engineer George F. Samuel.

The twenty year courtship of two Chicagoans ended yesterday in the courts when Miss Mary Glennon brought a $50,000 breach of promise suit against George F. Samuel. Mr. Samuel is an assistant city engineer assigned to the track elevation department and is said to be well to do.

According to friends Miss Glennon is almost a nervous wreck because of the alleged faithlessness of her old sweetheart.

"Miss Glennon is 42 years old," Attorney John F. Harris, her counsel, said last evening. "Mr. Samuel is ten years older. She always expected him to marry her. He at first made the excuse that his mother was nervous and needed his care.

"As the years went by she gave up all thought of everything except his interests and guided him in his business enterprises to the end that he has become a wealthy man. At one time she went to New York to engage in business there, but came back to Chicago at his request.

"Finally they agreed to be married in September, 1911. Since that time she learned that he was paying marked attention to a girl much younger."

Mr. Samuel resides at the Hyde Park hotel.

Sharp had a tumor removed a week ago and is still in bad condition, but is expected to recover.

'AIR CASTLE' HUSBAND FOUND

Stepson Trails William Miller on Abandonment Charge.

PUT DREAMS INTO DEEDS.

Made Over Invisible Property and Then Disappeared.

William Miller, once a resident of 40 East Superior street, who deeded to his bride a year and a half ago all kinds of invisible property, and then became invisible himself, was arrested yesterday on a charge of wife abandonment. He was taken to the Chicago avenue station and will have a preliminary hearing this morning.

The "air castle husband" was seen by his stepson, Louis Heintz, agent for the Knickerbocker Ice company, who had been looking for the man that married his mother.

Heintz followed Miller for several blocks on the north side until he happened to meet detectives, who made the arrest.

Claimed Pot of Gold or Two.

While courting Mrs. Miller, who was Mrs. Mary Heintz of 6444 Vernon avenue, Miller posed as a man of wealth. He made his wife a wedding present of deeds to a four story brick building valued at $80,000, two flat buildings worth $50,000, and a south side business block. He said he owned a few factories and a pot of gold or two.

Soon after the marriage Miller disappeared. Mrs. Miller took her deeds to the recorder's office to see where her property was located. She found some of it was in the center of Washington park, some of it was a few hundred feet out in Lake Michigan, and some had no location, even on paper.

Mrs. Miller then came to the conclusion she had been deceived. She also concluded her husband had gone to live on some of her invisible property. Then she swore out a warrant on the charge of abandonment.

Asks Annulment of Marriage.

Discovery that his new son-in-law did not have a large real estate owner, a prominent lawyer, and a mayoralty candidate all in one as a father, prevailed on Dr. Paul A. Leichsner, organist in St. Clara's Roman Catholic church, to demand the annulment of his daughter's marriage to John Bodnick, alias Evans.

Mrs. Evans, who lives at 7019 Rhodes avenue, told Circuit Judge John Gibbons her husband had claimed to be the son of Judge Evans of Cincinnati, and pointed out to her several houses owned by his father. Later he called up Leichsner by telephone, representing himself as Judge Evans, and recommended his son highly.

Bodnick erred when, to make himself particularly strong, he had the hypothetical father promise Leichsner the post of health commissioner of Cincinnati. Leichsner began to pack up and Bodnick was scared into confessing.

Policeman Is Dismissed.

Policeman Martin Barry of the Central station was discharged from the police force yesterday on a charge of intoxication. Charles Pilling of the Desplaines street station and Martin Foley of the Central station were fined twenty days' pay each for the same offense. Sergt. William Driver of the detective bureau was fined twenty days' pay for allowing five prisoners to escape from him Nov. 5.

SCHOOL PRINCIPAL BLAMELESS FOR DEATH OF BOY PUPIL.

Coroner's Jury Exonerates S. B. Allison and Finds Victim Suffered Injury in Play Which Resulted Fatally

Samuel B. Allison, principal of the Walsh public school, was exonerated by a coroner's jury yesterday of blame in connection with the death of Andrew Ross, 1955 Canalport avenue, a 12 year old pupil. The inquest was held in the county morgue.

Testimony presented at the inquest proved to the jury that the boy died as the result of injuries received while he was playing in the alley back of his home.

It had been charged by the parents of the boy that Mr. Allison "had played football with Andrew." They said the boy had told them he had been mistreated. Mr. Allison said he had not touched the Ross boy.

Miss Clara Byrnes, teacher in the Walsh school, said she slapped the boy in the face on Oct. 23, when he became unruly. She testified Mrs. Ross had told her to punish her son when he did not behave.

LITTLE GIRL KILLED BY CAR.

Struck While on Her Way Home from School and Dies a Few Hours Later.

Lucille Marck, 5 years old, 2059 Cullom avenue, was fatally injured yesterday when struck by a Lincoln avenue car at Warner avenue while on her way home from school. She was a pupil at the Coonley school, North Leavitt street and Belle Plaine avenue. The child was taken to the Children's Memorial hospital and died there a few hours later. Mrs. Marck collapsed when notified of the death of her daughter.

Auto Strikes and Injures Woman.

Mrs. Anna Fitzgerald of 4417 Park avenue was bruised severely last night when she was struck by an automobile owned and driven by F. J. Riley, 1240 North Willow avenue, Austin, at Washington boulevard and North Forty-fourth avenue.

'LOVE GOAT' CASE STRIKES SNAG

Judge Sabath Calls Former Husband of Broker's "Affinity" to Ask About Divorce.

James S. Charter of Harvey, Ill., must go before Judge Sabath on Saturday morning and explain what part, if any, he had in getting the "love goat" of Chauncey C. Foster, the commission man who is objecting to paying $2,400 to Mrs. May Williams Charter, his former "affinity" and also former wife of Charter.

Yesterday Judge Sabath decided he wanted more light upon the "goat getting" of Foster.

"I think Charter should be brought in and asked to explain what part he had in this alleged 'frame up,'" said the court. "It has been charged that the Charter divorce was but a fraud to get more money from Foster. I want to question Mr. Charter, and I will postpone my decision in the case until he has been questioned."

AUTO ROOF TRAMP'S WATERLOO

Experienced Box Car Rider Slides from Upper Deck of Limousine—"$5 and Costs."

John Mann, experienced at riding boxcars, was tired of that sport. An unoccupied limousine at Adams street and Wabash avenue interested him and he clambered to the roof. The chauffeur did not see him, and in a little while started at a lively clip down Jackson boulevard.

At State street he swerved and Mann, clutching wildly at the air, slid violently into the feet of Crossing Policeman John Long.

"It's no way to ride an automobile," said Municipal Judge Himes. "Five dollars and costs."

PENSIONS FACTOR IN PHONE RATES

Company Discloses $100,000 Annually Must Be Set Aside for Fund.

OUT OF THE NET EARNINGS

Lessens by So Much Possible Reduction in Cost to Users in Chicago.

All estimates of the amount of money to be saved Chicago telephone subscribers by the reduction of rates were revised yesterday. They were lowered by $100,000 a year.

It was disclosed that the $10,000,000 pension plan of the American Telephone and Telegraph company will have an important bearing on the long pending revision of rates by the city council now nearing a conclusion.

The plan has been to lessen the company's charges against the public the amount of the surplus earnings over and above a fair return on the investment. The company has determined to take $100,000 of that amount and place it in its pension fund.

Would Use Surplus for Fund.

Instead of permitting the benefit of this entire surplus to go to the general public the company proposes to divert at least a part of it for the benefit of its own employés. It also is predicted that the council will not and cannot oppose the proposal.

The disclosure of the $100,000 cut in the possible reduction of rates was made by President B. E. Sunny in a discussion of the program for rate revision. He also announced that the company's answer to the report of E. W. Bemis will not be ready for a week or ten days.

Sunny Says Committee Will Be Told.

Mr. Sunny declared the committee would be told of the plan to set aside $100,000 annually for pension purposes.

"Of course," he said, "our company will be expected to take care of its own employés and we have more than 10,000 of them. It will require an initial charge of $400,000, which will be taken from the surplus now on hand, but every year hereafter $100,000 will have to be set aside for this purpose. That, of course, will affect the amount by which the rates can be reduced."

PRIEST PREVENTS EXPLOSION OF GAS AND SAVES RECTORY.

Father M. A. Humphrey of Campus, Ill., Battles Through Fumes to Shut Off Leak.

Groping his way through stifling gas fumes that filled the basement of his parish house in Campus, Ill., yesterday, Father M. A. Humphrey of the Sacred Heart church succeeded in shutting off the leak just as the engine room burst into flames.

The blaze was extinguished with small loss and, although some excitement was caused among the many pupils of the school across the street, none was injured.

At the time the janitor of the church was recharging the gas tank and failed to notice the escaping fumes until Father Humphrey's attention was attracted.

"It really didn't amount to much," said Father Humphrey. "Of course I realized the danger and worked fast enough for a minute or two. I was afraid of an explosion, and it is certain that had the flames reached the gas tank, where the leak was, there would have been but little left of the place."

CALLS SULLIVAN PRECINCT CLERKS

Election Board Hears Hoyne Man Hint at Fraud in Cunnea's Favor.

ASKS FOR INVESTIGATION.

Watchers Say Vote Counted for Socialist Exceeds Total Reported.

Ten judges and clerks from precincts of the Fourth and Fifth wards were summoned yesterday to appear before the election commissioners and explain discrepancies in election figures.

Charges that several judges and clerks friendly to Roger C. Sullivan had given William Cunnea, Socialist candidate for state's attorney, more votes than were cast in the precinct were made to Commissioner Czarnecki Citations for the men followed at once.

Among others the citations include the officials of the Third precinct of the Fourth ward, T. J. O'Hern, William Lewis, John H. McCuen, John Paules, and George C. Nelson. They are to appear tonight before Commissioners Czarnecki and Kellermann.

Exceeds Total Vote Cast?

The canvass of the vote reached the Sixth ward yesterday and no changes of importance occurred for any of the larger offices. In the Fourth and Fifth wards watchers for Maclay Hoyne, Democratic candidate for state's attorney, called the attention of Commissioner Czarnecki to the fact that Cunnea's vote in several instances was in excess of the total vote cast.

"This is an example of the 'knifing' done by certain Democratic men," said City Prosecutor McInerney, who represented Hoyne. "We want to know about the count in these precincts, and we want to find out just who the supposed Democrats are who did this. Hoyne lost out in all the so-called Sullivan precincts on just such tactics as this, and we demand an investigation."

The protest of McInerney was recorded, but no change was made in the Cunnea total.

The vote for the five leading Municipal judge candidates now stands: Wade, 117,509; Gemmill, 117,383; Courtney, 117,090; Rafferty, 116,005; Malato, 115,876. Olson keeps his lead for chief justice. Thirty wards are yet to be counted.

Of the candidates for the vacancy created by the death of Judge Eberhardt, Ryan retained the lead during the day, having 134 votes in the count of the first five wards. Longenecker is next with 110 votes.

Race for City Bench.

Mistakes and lack of knowledge of election rules among judges and clerks in the Second senatorial district caused changes to be made at night which gives Henry M. Ashton, Democrat, the lead over William Ostrom, Republican, for the third place on the legislative ticket from that district.

In the First precinct of the Third ward the judges and clerks neglected to record any votes at all for either Ostrom or Ashton. Called before the board the election officials pleaded an oversight. By an agreement between the candidates Ostrom was given 150½ votes and Ashton 146½. In this same precinct the election board now is investigating charges that the "short pencil" trick was used on behalf of certain candidates and the judges and clerks will be called in again tomorrow night.

Peter Bartzen made a gain of 300 votes over A. A. McCormick in the Eighth precinct of the Seventh ward and also showed a net gain of thirty-two over Mr. McCormick when the Fourth ward figures were totaled.

IT DIDN'T COST O'HAIR A CENT TO BEAT "UNCLE JOE" CANNON.

Democratic Congressman Elect from Danville Files Affidavit—Others Tell Campaign Expenses.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 13.—[Special.]—Congressman Elect Frank T. O'Hair, a young Danville lawyer, did not spend a cent in the campaign in which he defeated "Uncle Joe" Cannon, the champion standpatter of the world, for reëlection. The successful Democratic candidate filed an affidavit to this effect today with the clerk of the house of representatives.

In the election campaign Representative Madden of the First district, spent $3,306; Representative Wilson, Third district, $3,701; Representative McKenzie, Thirteenth district, $2,225; Representative Rainey, Twentieth district, $500; and Representative Graham, Twenty-first district, $1,559.

In Indiana Oscar E. Bland, Second district, expended $50, and W. L. Risk, Republican, Sixth district, $184.

In Iowa Walter H. Peterson, Republican, Second district, reports no expenditures, and D. S. Cameron, Socialist, Third district, $2.

Representative Lenroot, Eleventh Wisconsin, Republican, spent $125.

DEMOCRATS TO HOLD CAUCUS

Gorman of Peoria Will Receive Support for Speakership.

DAILEY FOR SENATE CHIEF.

Republicans Expected to Agree on Him as Floor Leader.

The first real roundup of legislators looking to the Illinois speakership will be held at the Hotel La Salle on Saturday. The men are those Democrats who are expected to be in favor of the candidacy of Thomas N. Gorman of Peoria when the Democratic caucus assembles in Springfield in January.

Republican senators will also assemble at the call of Senators Maclean, Juul, Lundberg, and Cornwell, of Chicago; Barr of Joliet, Landee of Rock Island, and Johnson of Ottawa. This conference is expected to determine that Senator John Dailey of Peoria is the man to lead the Republican side in the coming senate.

McLaughlin Is Candidate.

Representative John J. McLaughlin, Democrat, from the Nineteenth senatorial district, has announced that he is a candidate for speaker.

Mr. McLaughlin is to open headquarters immediately in Chicago.

The political makeup of the house evidently is to be an open question until it shall have acted upon contests. It is certain there will be conests between Snite, Progressive, and Marcy, Republican, in the Second district; Ashton, Democrat, and Ostrom, Republican, in the Third district; Boyer, Republican, and Gorman, Democrat, in the Fourth district, with more to follow.

Deneen May Appoint Sherman.

The indications are that Gov. Deneen will appoint Lawrence Y. Sherman to the Lorimer vacancy. A quasi-legal opinion has been handed down from the office of the Illinois attorney general that the governor's appointment might be questioned by the federal senate. In view of prevailing conditions Mr. Sherman's credentials may not be questioned, particularly if by such procedure Illinois would be deprived of representation in the senate, following the expiration of Senator Cullom's term. The coming legislature may be deadlocked absolutely upon both senatorships.

ONE BID REPORTED FILED FOR COOK COUNTY'S NURSING.

Dr. John Dill Robertson Said to Have Made Offer—Illinois Training School May Not Compete.

The Illinois Training school may submit no bid to the county board for the coming year's nursing contract. For thirty years the school has been given the work without bidding. This year the board has advertised for offers and one is understood to have been submitted yesterday.

It was reported the bidder is Dr. John Dill Robertson, head of the Bennett Medical college. The doctor could not be reached last night. His wife said he went to New York in the afternoon and would not return until Sunday. She did not know whether he had made the bid or not.

"Dr. Robertson has been threatening to bid for the last two years," said Mrs. Ira C. Wood, president of the board of the training school. "In public speeches I am told he has announced his intention of underbidding the school and getting county money for a number of small schools around Chicago—using the county hospital, in other words, for training these pupils, who can get no such experience where they now are.

"This means the nursing of some 50,000 sick persons by fifteen or twenty different methods of training. What kind of a guarantee of adequate care is that? If this should carry it would be a severe blow to good service.

"We are giving our $200,000 property to the county in order that our nurses live at the school and thus save the county that money."

AGAIN DENIES JOHNSON BOND.

Judge Carpenter Refuses to Accept Bail from Man Who Admits He's Being Paid.

Attorneys for Jack Johnson, black pugilist, appeared before United States District Judge Carpenter yesterday and tried to have the bail set by Judge Landis in Johnson's case reduced. Judge Carpenter refused. The attorneys then presented a bondsman to District Attorney Wilkerson.

"Are you paying this bondsman anything?" they were asked.

"We are indemnifying him," one of the lawyers replied, "and paying him for acting in that capacity."

"Then we oppose him," said Mr. Wilkerson. "We will fight any attempt to give indemnity bond."

UNCLE SAM BACKS LANDIS.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 13.—No reason exists, according to a brief filed today on behalf of the government by Solicitor General Bullitt, why Jack Johnson, the negro pugilist confined in jail in Chicago on a charge of violating the Mann act, should be admitted to bail by the Supreme court of the United States.

M'CORMICK FACES FIGHT IN COURT

Peter Bartzen's Friends Say They Have Enough Money to Dispute Election.

TALK OF APPOINTMENTS.

County President Elect and the Democratic Commissioners Meet at Dinner.

BY OSCAR E. HEWITT.

It was given out yesterday by the friends of Peter Bartzen that the eligibility of A. A. McCormick to the presidency of the county board will surely be attacked in the courts. It was said that the necessary money to retain the services of Francis Walker and another lawyer had been "gotten together," and that the fight will be started as soon as Mr. McCormick receives his certificate of election. It was further stated that the money was not contributed by the Hearst interests, but from a source which will be disclosed later.

All this despite the announcement by Mr. Bartzen on Monday that he had given up the fight. He explained at that time that he could not afford the battle financially, and would make no protest against the president elect taking his seat.

The fact that Mr. Bartzen was not invited to a dinner given by Mr. McCormick to the holdover Democratic commissioners is said to have no connection whatever with the announcement of a continuation of the fight. The dinner was for the purpose of getting acquainted. Both the Democrats and the president elect desired to look each other over, as well as to talk in general about county affairs.

Seek Appointment for Glennon.

The talking did not reach the point where patronage was discussed, according to the Democratic commissioners. They, however, were prepared to make one unanimous request. That one was the appointment of Charles Glennon, the defeated Democratic commissioner, as superintendent of public service.

With this place and a comparatively few minor places the Democrats would be perfectly satisfied, according to two who consented to discuss the matter. They said that Mr. McCormick gave no indication whether he would make such an appointment.

Mr. McCormick has gone east for a ten days' rest. He said yesterday that he had not decided upon any appointments.

Meyer May Get Place.

Joseph Meyer, formerly county agent under Bartzen, has been mentioned for reappointment. He was removed by Bartzen as part of a bargain with the Hearst-Harrison faction. They are said to have demanded the removal of Meyer as a condition of their support of Bartzen in his fight for reëlection. Meyer is reported to have done excellent service for Mr. McCormick during his campaign. Mr. McCormick, in a theater speech just before election, referred to Mr. Meyer as a good county agent.

For the job of civil service commissioner to succeed John H. Fichter, President Robert Catherwood and Secretary Herbert Fleming of the Civil Service Reform association, and Elton Lower of the city civil service commission have been mentioned.

LORIMER MAY ESCAPE KNIFE.

Examination Shows He Probably Will Not Have to Undergo Operation for Appendicitis.

Further examination of William Lorimer at the Presbyterian hospital yesterday was of such satisfactory nature that it is likely he will not have to undergo the expected operation for appendicitis. An evening statement from the hospital announced the inflammation had reduced and the patient was comfortable. Mr. Lorimer will remain at the hospital for several days in order that frequent examinations may be made under favorable conditions.

TARIFF MAY CALL CONGRESS

President Elect Expected to Summon Extra Session.

WILL CARRY OUT PLEDGES.

Wilson Is to Live Up to His Campaign Promises.

Princeton, N. J., Nov. 13.—President-elect Woodrow Wilson announced tonight in speaking on the tariff and the monopoly question that he purposes to carry out the pledges he made in his campaign speeches to cut special privilege out of tariff schedules, prevent unfair competition in business, and to destroy private monopolies.

In his campaign speeches the governor often reiterated that revision of the tariff should be undertaken immediately. It is believed that this idea now will find expression in a call for an extra session of congress to consider the tariff question as well as other subjects which were issues in the campaign just closed.

Has Others' Opinions.

Gov. Wilson just now has in hand a fairly complete list of all the men who have expressed themselves publicly on the advisability of an extra session. It is known that the president-elect has made up his mind on the subject and soon will make known his attitude.

He is of the opinion that the work of tariff revision can be undertaken without a series of long investigations. He was informed that a New Jersey congressman had suggested that, if it were a possible thing, committees of Democrats ought to get together and investigate the various schedules.

"There have been investigations in every congress," remarked the governor. "I've studied the problem all my life. I think there is a definite idea of what ought to be done."

Today Judge William R. King, Democratic national committeeman from Oregon, and Lieut. Gen. Nelson A. Miles, United States army, retired, visited at the Wilson home. Gov. Wilson said Gen. Miles had called unexpectedly to pay his respects.

MARTIN FOR EXTRA SESSION.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 13.—Owing largely to President Elect Wilson's intimation that he would be pleased to receive suggestions regarding the desirability of an extra session of congress, there was much freer expression of opinion among senators and members of the house favorable to such a session today than heretofore has been indulged in.

Among those who pronouncedly advocated an early session plan was Senator Martin of Virginia, who is the caucus leader of the party in the senate.

SPLIT LIKELY IN CALIFORNIA.

Roosevelt Leading by Ten Votes on the Eighth Day After Election—Wilson Ahead Fifteen Minutes.

San Franisco, Cal., Nov. 13.—[Special.]—At midnight tonight, the eighth day since the presidential election, the result in California is still in doubt.

Col. Roosevelt, by latest official and unofficial returns, is leading by ten votes out of a total of about 600,000 cast by all parties in the state.

A division of the electors between Roosevelt and Wilson is considered the most probable outcome of the unprecedented race.

Mr. Wilson again enjoyed a fleeting plurality on the face of returns. For about fifteen minutes tonight he was one vote ahead. Then revised figures from a mountain country threw eleven more votes to Roosevelt.

San Francisco, Alameda, and Los Angeles counties now furnish the storm centers. In San Francisco no change was shown today. In Alameda county the Democrats claimed a gain for Wilson of thirty-two votes, and in Los Angeles county it was asserted that the recount in progress showed a gain for Wilson of seventy-two votes, making a total of 104. These estimates are not official.

Bride Dies of Hydrophobia.

Cleveland, O. Nov. 13.—Mrs. Florence Dietz, a bride of three months, who was bitten three weeks ago by a puppy, died today of hydrophobia. The puppy was a wedding present from her husband.

TAFT WAS READY FOR THE RESULT

Hopeful, but Not Overly So, of His Re-election, He Explains.

VIEWS ON NEW PARTY.

President Says the Present Progressive Movement Contemplates the Impossible.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 13.—[Special.]—William Howard Taft, defeated eight days ago, but still president for four months, tonight gave his views of politics, policies, and parties. It was his first statement for publication since the election. In part the president said:

"I was very hopeful, as my position as leader required me to be, that there would be a different result. I was surprised at Mr. Roosevelt's strength as compared with that of the regular Republican ticket.

Hopeful, but Not Overly So.

"Of course, I could not be blind to the fact that struck every one, that, if you take a majority party and divide it in two—unless the majority is very large, and indeed ours was not—the solid minority party is apt to prevail over either of the parts of the majority. And so it was.

"While I was hopeful, I was not in a condition of mind where the defeat greatly disappointed me, and now it would seem to me as if I had never anticipated any different situation. The criticisms and attacks upon my administration, of which I seem to have had more than has fallen to the lot of most, covering two or three years, had not prepared me for a triumphant reëlection, and had not greatly misled me as to my popularity among the American people."

New Party Views "Impossible."

In discussing the new party's entrance into the political affairs of the nation the president says:

"The difficulty I find with the present progressive program is that it contemplates the impossible. It assumes that legislation can do everything with the individual and with the government, and in that way make over the world without making over, or making allowance for, the individual by individual influence and individual changes. It is holding up a prize to the followers of the cause that is quite beyond any possible realization.

"But the country cannot afford to turn itself over to a class of men who do not deserve to figure in any more honorable light than quacks do the practice of medicine. It would be too great danger to the body politic."

WORK FOR OUR NOTED "EXES"

Bryan Would Let Them Talk in Congress, but Not Vote.

PAY NOT AN ESSENTIAL.

U. S. Soon to Have Two Ex-Presidents and Two Ex-Vice Presidents.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 13.—A plan to admit ex-presidents, ex-vice presidents, and ex-speakers of the house of representatives to the floors of the two houses of congress, with the privilege of debate but not of voting upon pending measures, was broached today by William J. Bryan.

Mr. Bryan's statement was coupled with a declaration that he favored a change in the time of convening congress, so that the new sessions would begin shortly after new members took office, March 4.

Two Ends in View.

"The question is often asked: 'What shall we do with our ex-presidents?'" Mr. Bryan said. "It seems to me that the nation might avail itself of their services and at the same time afford them a dignified means of keeping in communication with the public.

"It has occurred to me that both these ends could be attained by a law giving an ex-president the privileges of the floor in both the senate and house, with permission to take part in debate, without, of course, the privilege of voting or serving on committees.

"The retiring vice president should be given these privileges of the floor of the senate under the same limitations, and I see no reason why they should not be accorded to an ex-speaker of the house, if he retires from congress."

Pay Not Essential Feature.

Asked if his plan contemplated salaries, Mr. Bryan replied, "Not necessarily. In fact, it ought not to be considered from the standpoint of benefiting the persons to whom the privileges should be granted.

"At this time the plan proposed would extend its benefits in the main to Republicans, as there is now one Republican ex-president and soon will be another, while there are two Republican ex-vice presidents, Levi P. Morton and Charles W. Fairbanks and one Republican ex-speaker, Joseph G. Cannon and one Democratic ex-vice president, Adlai E. Stevenson."

With the jury practically complete, it is probable the hearing of witnesses in the case of George W. Fitzgerald, charged with the theft of $173,000 from the Chicago subtreasury on Feb. 19, 1907, will begin some time today in Federal Judge Carpenter's court.

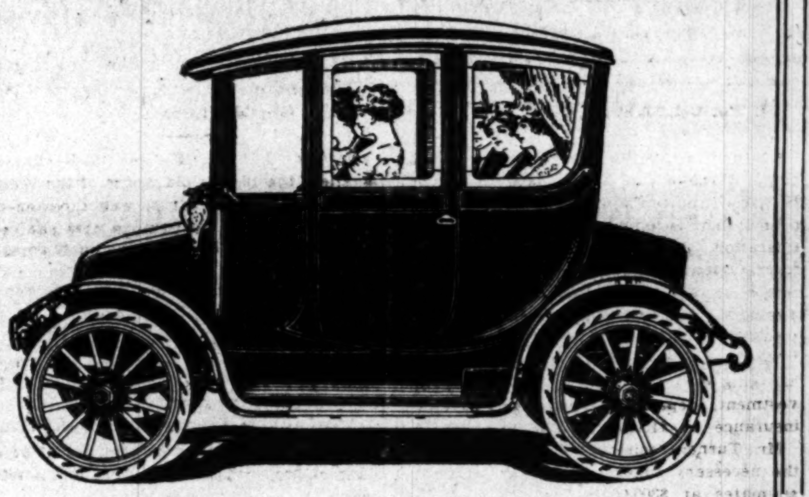
The Beautiful OHIO Electric



THE ONLY ELECTRIC WITH BOTH FRONT AND REAR DRIVE

The problem confronting the purchaser of an electric car today is "Shall I buy a forward or a rear drive car?"

Why not buy an OHIO and get both in one car?

The OHIO is the only electric that can be operated from BOTH front and rear seats. You cannot find it elsewhere—we have the device fully covered by strong patents. It is not new. It is not an experiment. We can refer to hundreds of satisfied users.

When riding alone you do not have to drive from the front seat and look like a hired chauffeur; for, with one, two or three passengers you drive from the rear seat. Looks right—feels comfortable. You need drive from the front seat only when carrying five passengers. The OHIO steers and controls easily from either front or rear seat.

Many more things might be said about the Ohio to amaze you; such as to beauty, extreme mileage per charge, speed, ease of operation; but all this we will leave to your own judgment.

We honestly believe there is no better and more comfortable car built than the OHIO; but, all things being equal, the fact that you can operate it with perfect ease from both front and rear seats ought to appeal to you.

MRS. KIRBY FACES JUDGE LANDIS' IRE

Wife of Private Banker Fails to Produce $20,000 of Depositors' Money.

IS CITED FOR CONTEMPT.

Woman Paroled Until Noon Today Into the Custody of Her Attorneys.

Mrs. Margaret L. Kirby, wife of Dr. William T. Kirby, head of the bankrupt Kirby Savings bank, was cited by Federal Judge Landis yesterday to appear in court at noon today and show cause why she should not be punished for contempt.

The proceedings against the private banker's wife came when she failed to bring in $20,000 of the assets of her husband's defunct institution, as ordered by the judge on Tuesday. Bonds in the contempt proceedings against her were fixed at $20,000. She was paroled to her attorneys, Patrick H. O'Donnell, James Rosenthal, and Thomas B. Lantry, who assured the court they would produce her at 12 o'clock today.

Attorneys for the defense intimated that Mrs. Kirby's answer to the citation, in addition to stating she is not now in possession of the money, will show by "inference" that Kirby squandered the money playing the races.

Defense Is "Frameup."

That this defense is a "frameup" to save Mrs. Kirby from being adjudged in contempt for failure to produce the money, was the view taken by counsel for the receiver, and a stubborn fight is in prospect on this point.

Her attorneys pleaded for more time in which to prepare her answer, but the judge overruled them on every point, declaring the case must be disposed of before other questions in the bankruptcy proceedings are taken up. The courtroom was crowded when court convened for the afternoon session.

"Has the $20,000 been turned over to the receiver?" Judge Landis asked.

"It has not, your honor," answered Attorney Edward B. Healy, representing the receiver, the Central Trust Company of Illinois, and also the Stockmen's Trust and Savings bank.

"Is the respondent, Mrs. Kirby, in court?" the judge asked.

Mrs. Kirby Faces the Court.

Mrs. Kirby, attired in a tailored brown walking suit and hat to match, stepped forward and faced the court.

"Margaret L. Kirby, will you turn over to the receiver $20,000 as ordered by the court?" Attorney Healy asked.

"I haven't got it," said Mrs. Kirby, in a voice slightly above a whisper.

"There was a finding that Mrs. Kirby has the $20,000 of the funds of this bankrupt and that she held the money for the estate," ruled Judge Landis. "She was ordered to turn it over and she accepted the order. She was to have turned it over at 2 o'clock and now 2 o'clock has come and gone and she has not complied with the order of the court.

"There is now before me a petition from the Central Trust company of Illinois as receiver to attach the respondent for contempt for failure to comply. That is the status of the case at this time."

Judge Reads the Petition.

The judge then read the petition that Mrs. Kirby be cited for contempt.

Attorney Rosenthal objected to the court's finding in the matter of her having the $20,000. He said the evidence showed this only because "she has made no explanation of what disposition she made of the money."

"Mr. Rosenthal," said the judge, "when Mrs. Kirby took this money belonging to the depositors she had to move expeditiously to avoid the officers of the law. Let her move expeditiously now. The order stands."

Attorneys for the receiver and agents of the department of justice paid no attention to an alleged "confession" made by Dr. Kirby that he squandered the money by playing the horse races at the instance of a gang of "wire tappers."

This confession is contradictory to one he and Mrs. Kirby made to officials of the Stockmen's Trust and Savings bank on Oct. 31. At that time Kirby got down on his knees and "confessed" he had lost the money on stocks.

Kirby's Confession to Doff.

The "confession" Dr. Kirby made to Isaac Doff, County Judge Owens' personal bailiff, who has him in charge at the Great Northern hotel, was to the effect that he had lost $20,000 on a horse known as "Lucky George" in a race at Laurel, Md. The horse, he said, was a 5 to 1 shot and was "tipped off" to him by one Charles Kissel, who took Dr. Kirby to the Blackstone hotel and then to 113 East Eighteenth street. From there, he said, they went to 1710 Michigan avenue, where he put up the money.

Investigation at 1710 Michigan avenue revealed that the house is occupied by R. A. DeCoverly, a chauffeur. Persons at that address knew nothing of William T. Kirby.

The other address, given by Kirby as 113 East Eighteenth street, is the side entrance of the boarding house known as the Durnion on the southeast corner of Eighteenth and Indiana avenue. William T. Kirby was unknown to any one living there.

OFFERS CITY A GARBAGE PLANT; ASKS SHARE FOR RUNNING IT.

Former Manager of Reduction Company Wants $300,000 Invested, He to Take 10 Per Cent Net Profits.

Another proposition for disposal of the city's garbage has been made to Mayor Harrison and probably will be sent to the council finance committee tomorrow for consideration. It comes from Charles Turner, former manager of the Chicago Reduction company, which has been using various means to get an extension of their contract.

Mr. Turner estimates the net profits after charging for the operation, interest on investment, depreciation, maintenance, and insurance at $150,000 to $300,000 a year.

Mr. Turner desires that the city supply the necessary funds for a plant, which he estimates at $300,000. Then he will construct the plant and operate it for 10 per cent of the net profits, leaving it to the city to determine what the profits are.

"Taking the present market value of grease and tankage," reads his proposal, "the net minimum profits from the volume of garbage now produced by the city will amount to $150,000 yearly, and if the high level of prices which has prevailed during the last two years are again experienced, the profit will be double that amount. In no event can the city lose in accepting my proposition, as the 'by-products' can always be relied on to pay the cost of operating the plant."

THREATEN OHIO TAR VICTIM ON SECOND DAY OF TRIAL.

Nineteen Year Old Girl Receives Note Telling Her to "Let Up"—Try to Discredit Her Testimony.

Norwalk, O., Nov. 13.—[Special.]—Minnie Lavalley, the 19 year old victim of the West Clarksfield tarring party, was threatened with death in an anonymous note she received at her home in Norwalk on Wednesday. Coming on the second day of the trial of the six men indicted for the outrage, the note accentuated the fears for her safety. The note read:

"You've caused enough trouble in West Clarksfield. If these six men go to jail you'd better look out."

At the foot of the note is a roughly drawn skull. The note is written in pencil on a sheet of paper apparently torn from a note book.

The defense late this afternoon began its attempt to discredit the Lavalley girl's testimony as to the identity of the men who attacked her. Every effort will be made to free Ernest Welch, the first of the six indicted men to be placed on trial. Scores of witnesses will be called to attack the girl's reputation for veracity.

MARTIAL LAW AT DES MOINES?

Gov. Carroll Gives City Officials One More Chance to Curb Teamsters' Strike—Saloons Closed Again.

Des Moines, Ia., Nov. 13.—[Special.]—Des Moines has martial law in prospect if the police and county authorities fail to keep order while the teamsters' strike is in progress.

"I will give the police and sheriff's forces one more chance," said Gov. Carroll tonight. "But order must be restored."

The strike of the transfer teamsters was begun more than six weeks ago, but there has been no great trouble until yesterday.

Mayor James R. Hanna tonight ordered the saloons closed for the second time.

S. C. Ware, president of a transfer company, and managers of other companies arrested yesterday charged with discharging firearms, pleaded not guilty in police court today.

ROBBER ACCUSES TWO POLICEMEN

Declares Plain Clothes Men Conspired with Him to Steal $2,000 from Woman.

FORCED TO ARREST HIM.

Then Promoted to Rank of First Grade Detectives for Meritorious Work.

New York, Nov. 13.—Two New York policemen plotted robberies and carried them out so cleverly that instead of being suspected they were promoted to first grade detectives for their supposedly good work in connection with the crimes, according to "Sing Sing evidence" read into the police investigation records today.

The testimony startled the members of the aldermanic committee, notwithstanding the sources of the allegations were two men convicted of the robberies in question, who are now serving terms in prison.

Emory R. Buckner, counsel for the committee, read first the affidavit of Frank Paresi, who declared two policemen known to him as "Al" and "Leo" conspired with him for the robbery of a house in Sixth street and of a woman patron of a bank.

Forced to Aid in Arrests.

Paresi said the policemen told him and his comrades of a woman accustomed to carry large sums to an east side savings bank and that the policemen participated in a plot to rob her. A bag containing $2,000 was snatched from her in a crowd at the bank door.

It happened that detectives near opened fire and the plain clothes officers were forced to participate in the arrest of the men with whom it is alleged they planned the robbery.

Mr. Buckner pointed out that neither of the two policemen concerned in the alleged robbery plot, whose names he gave as Laderio Gambrella and Angelo Cava, appeared at the trial of either Paresi or his comrades. Paresi's allegations were given to the district attorney at the time, but he refused to believe the story and it was not read at the trial.

State Rests in Gunmen Trial.

The state rested its case tonight in the trial of the four gangsters accused of murdering the gambler, Herman Rosenthal, at the instigation of Charles Becker, and counsel for the defense said he would show that none of the four took part in the shooting or were connected with the plot to kill Rosenthal.

He declared he would show the quartet were lured to the scene on a pretext, and that the shooting in front of the Metropole, where Rosenthal was laid low, was done by Bridgie Webber, Harry Vallon and a mysterious stranger, who was thus brought into the case for the first time. The first witness for the defense will take the stand tomorrow.

When the prosecution's last witness had testified Justice Goff denied Attorney Wahle's motion to dismiss the indictment and acquit the defendants. The lawyer then outlined his defense.

E. R. THOMAS TO PAY DEBTS

Consents to Give $125,000 a Year to His Creditors.

AGREEMENT MADE IN COURT.

Leaves $50,000 Annually for Support of Himself and His Bride.

New York, Nov. 13.—[Special.]—Under a judgment filed in the Supreme court today Edward Russell Thomas, who was married Nov. 5 at Newport to Miss Elizabeth R. Finley will have to get along with $50,000 a year income until he has paid off more than $1,000,000 of debts at the rate of $125,000 a year.

The judgment was entered in a suit brought by William O. Allison, J. Horace Harding, William H. Taylor, Elverton R. Chapman, Charles I. McBurney, as trustees, under an agreement made by Thomas in 1909 to liquidate his indebtedness arising largely from the panic of 1907.

It asked the court to determine the amount of income needed by Mr. Thomas for the support of himself and family, and to direct that the remaining income be applied to the payment of his debts.

The lawyers agreed to have Harlan F. Stone determine the case as referee and to accept his decision as final. The judgments entered today was on the decision of Mr. Stone, who found the total income payable to Mr. Thomas under his father's will is $175,000 a year.

ASSESSMENT UP $18,000,000.

Increase in Valuation Over 1911 Is Mostly in Cook County, as Shown by Board Statement.

Springfield, Ill., Nov. 13.—[Special.]—An increase of $17,942,501 over the 1911 assessment was made by the local assessors throughout Illinois in the property assessment for 1912.

These figures are shown in a statement made public today by the state board of equalization.

According to the local assessors' returns the total Illinois property valuation, exclusive of railways and the capital stock of corporations, this year reaches $2,122,104,048.

The valuation for Cook county is $930,472,142, an increase over 1911 of $17,010,153.

HUNT FOR MISSING SALESMAN.

Police Search for Bostonian Who Disappeared Here After Drawing a Large Deposit.

A. L. Greenlaw, a salesman of Boston, who disappeared Nov. 7 after drawing a large sum of money he had deposited with the clerk of the Hotel Sherman, is now being sought by the police on suspicion that he may have met with foul play. H. A. Royce, general manager of the Greenlaw Manufacturing company, which employed Greenlaw, asked the police to search for the missing salesman.

FRATERNITY MEN ENTERTAIN THIEF

Early Caller at Kappa Sigma House at the U. of C. Arouses Suspicion.

SHOOTS AS HE RUNS AWAY

Discovery Clears Up Mystery of Several Recent Robberies at Midway.

Members of Kappa Sigma fraternity of the University of Chicago "entertained" an early caller yesterday morning at their house, 6035 Kimbark avenue.

All of the students were in their rooms dressing for breakfast except Nat Perreen, who walked out of the dining room and came face to face with a smartly dressed young man he never had seen before.

"Pardon me for not knocking," ventured the stranger as he lit a cigaret. "Is 'Snitz' Pierce here?"

The caller was informed the Maroon football player, "Snitz" Pierce, was a Chi Psi and that his house was across the Midway. Then the stranger became affable, talked glibly of his "fraternity experience at Harvard," said he knew a number of the fraternity men at Chicago, and "liked to knock around at the different houses."

The maid beckoned to Perreen and told him the stranger had been there the morning before, when valuables were stolen. A policeman was sent for.

Realizing he was about to be arrested, the caller drew a revolver, fired once at Perreen, and leaped out of the window.

The episode served to clear up a number of robberies that have taken place in various fraternity houses near the Midway during the last few weeks.

The Chicago Tribune
THE WORLD'S GREATEST NEWSPAPER

FOUNDED JUNE 10, 1847.

ENTERED AS SECOND CLASS MATTER JUNE 8, 1906, AT THE POSTOFFICE AT CHICAGO, ILL., UNDER ACT OF MARCH 3, 1870.

All unsolicited articles, manuscripts, letters, and pictures sent to "The Tribune" are sent at the owner's risk, and The Tribune company expressly repudiates any liability or responsibility for their safe custody or return.

SWORN CIRCULATION.

Net paid circulation of The Chicago Tribune, as reported under oath to the United States government under section 467½ of the postal laws and regulations, being the average from April 1 to Sept. 30, 1912:

Daily	220,500
Sunday	304,325

THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 14, 1912.

CERTAINLY DEMENTED.

Dr. William T. Kirby, president of an institution which Illinois permitted him to call a "bank," may or may not be insane but the most charitable thing to say of a state which allows any one so desiring to label a rat hole a "bank" is that it at least is lunatic.

ANOTHER CHANCE.

Suggested to Edward F. Dunne and the new members of the Illinois general assembly:

There still remains the opportunity to take over for the benefit of tax payers of the state the water power which tax payers of the state created.

Deneen was not able to persuade a Republican house of representatives to permit this. Possibly Dunne will have better luck with a house of Democrats and Progressives.

WITH SWIFT FEET.

Mr. Lawrence J. Coffey, county commissioner, offers an exhibit for the observation of persons interested in the celerity of our court processes. Mr. Coffey was arrested in September charged with violation of South Park traffic regulations. The policeman who made the arrest continues to report every morning for duty and to perform that duty, which speaks well for the stability of our institutions. Mr. Coffey may come to trial Dec. 12, his latest continuance being to that date, which speaks well for the celerity of our courts.

We presume the day set is Dec., 1912, although there is nothing to indicate this as a certainty and the presumption may be violent. Mr. Coffey's good nature is tolerant and he deserves well of the community for indulging the law in its whimsical desire to have a trial at any time.

SELFISH OPPOSITION.

The Teachers' federation is making a serious mistake if it is planning to obstruct vocational education or its establishment on the most efficient lines. At times federation leaders have seemed to think that schools exist for the benefit of teachers rather than the benefit of pupils. It is to be hoped this theory will not result in a self-destructive attack upon one of the most important movements ever undertaken in Illinois.

The federation, it is said, fears that salary advances will be retarded by the expenditures necessary to establish a vocational system, especially if the separate boards provided by the so-called Cooley bill are adopted.

The argument is selfish, reactionary, and, from the public point of view, irrelevant. If it is urged, it will do more toward retarding salary advance than anything else, for it will advise public opinion that the teachers, in order to get more money for themselves, are opposing an institution which is vitally needed by the community. The problem of half developed youth thrown unprepared into the whirl of economic competition and, what is worse, into the unchecked temptations of the city streets, is one which must be met without delay. It is not to be deferred in order that the teachers may be better paid. The schools exist for the security of the state and to keep alive our democracy. They exist for the pupils, not for the teachers.

It would be pitiful if at the threshold of this great reform we should have selfish interest, jealousy, and prejudice threatening progress. We need greatly to approach the questions involved with fair minds and the determination to learn and adopt the very best system not from the point of view of any class but from the point of view of efficient citizenship. The danger just now seems to be that a violent propaganda by organized opposition is to raise unjustified fears and prejudices. There is little real danger that salary advances will be retarded by such expenditure as will be called for at first, or that the present teaching force will be lessened. But even if both were to come about, the vocational system must be accepted, and public opinion should be aroused to its support without delay.

NO PROGRAM.

It might astonish a foreign observer to learn that Gov. Woodrow Wilson, president-elect of the United States, hesitates in an important policy to the extent of not knowing whether or not to call congress in extra session for tariff legislation. Mr. Wilson, it is announced, is appealing to public opinion for aid in reaching a decision.

We insisted during the campaign that there was only one platform which offered a program, and that platform the Progressive. Now, after an election which an observer accustomed to other methods would regard as decisive and determinative, Mr. Wilson does not know what he intends to do, the people do not know what he intends to do, and he does not know what the people want him to do.

It is not his fault half so much as it is the fault of the hypocritical party managements which have been tolerated in American politics.

Mr. Wilson might construe the election as a mandate from the people for the execution of his promises and the vague pledges of the Democratic party. He doesn't so construe it, because his statements and the vague pledges of the Democratic party did not agree, because he was not definite in his utterances, and because the men who voted for him did not know what program they were indorsing.

When the Progressive party has forced its opponents out into the open, issues will be decided in elections and not after them.

FORWARD, NOT BACK.

Two or three years ago John D. Rockefeller Jr. was made foreman of a grand jury in New York.

During the proceedings of that body his eyes were opened to the white slave traffic and to the conditions of the social evil in the city.

The revelations were terrible, and he determined that he would not be satisfied with the findings of the grand jury, but would set on foot a thorough investigation and inaugurate organized warfare against the ancient evil.

There became associated with him a number of public spirited men in New York. They did not organize as a temporary reform body. They organized for perpetuity. They bound themselves, their heirs, assigns, and estates to continue the prosecution of the work to which they had laid their hands from the time of signing the original agreement until the evils they had set out to fight either were eradicated or, if that is humanly impossible, effectually controlled.

They determined first to be prepared. Then they or their representatives could go before the authorities and say:

"Gentlemen, we have studied this question here and elsewhere. We have studied it in the light of history and in the fiercer light that beats on the problem today. We have studied it at home and abroad. We have brought the best minds to bear on this problem. We have listened, we have studied, we have investigated every condition, every theory, every point of view, and we have come to the conclusion that the lessons of history and the necessities and problems of today make essential a certain form of procedure.

"Now you, Mr. Mayor—or Gentlemen of the Board of Aldermen—you can reject our proposition. You can ignore our advice. You can refuse to put into operation the plans that we believe to be essential to the cure of this evil. You can continue to play politics with this foul thing. You can permit it to remain as a poisonous source of political and police inefficiency and corruption, as a reeking breeding ground of crime, disease, and degeneracy. But, gentlemen, you are elected for a few years and we are banded together for all time. We propose to continue this fight."

Nowhere in the world at any time has such an effort been made thoroughly to investigate and settle, so far as it is humanly possible, this question. Mr. Rockefeller and his associates procured fourteen trained investigators, among them an investigator employed by the Chicago vice commission. They have studied conditions abroad and in America. They have spared no expense and no effort to master the tremendous problem. Their report is nearly complete and will soon be available.

Why should not the Chicago authorities make use of such aid?

Within two months the problem of segregated vice has been precipitated in a most acute form upon the community.

It should not be disposed of in haste.

It cannot be disposed of in haste. It will not be disposed of unless it is put in the way of solution or, at any rate, of substantial amelioration.

Mr. Wayman has closed the principal district. It should remain closed until a carefully considered and conclusive judgment as to our municipal policy as to the social evil has been reached.

The reopening of this district or any similar district should not be considered by the authorities for a moment at this time nor until more information is obtained.

Chicago's decision should await the report of the Rockefeller vice commission. It undoubtedly will present the most thorough and authoritative study of the social evil ever made, and, taken with the voluminous report of the New York grand jury, whose investigations aroused Mr. Rockefeller's interest in the subject, and the report of our own vice commission, will provide data and conclusions upon which can be worked out the best possible policy for Chicago.

The problem, older than civilization, is not bettered by tinkering, and Chicago is surely sufficiently enlightened to work it out on the most advanced lines. Now that we are tardily facing this dark question the conscience and the intelligence of the community demand that it be dealt with not superficially and cynically but courageously, scientifically, and with effect.

Let us go forward, not back, and let us be sure which way we are going.

NOT to be outdone by President Taft, Gov. Deneen suggests a few additional reasons for observing Thanksgiving day this year, as usual.

If your husband decides to raise a mustache you will need at least two dozen more table napkins.

When the baby begins to walk you will find it necessary to move everything of a breakable nature about a foot higher.

THE CHICAGO BAKERY ORDINANCE.

THE bulletin of the Chicago health department contains the information that the Supreme court has upheld the bakery ordinance. This ordinance was directed at unclean bakeries and, particularly, at those so located and so built that they could not possibly be kept in a sanitary condition.

The ordinance, at the time of its passage, was warmly advocated by the journeymen and master bakers, and had the tacit approval of the large hotel and restaurant proprietors in the loop district. Its most strenuous advocates were the journeymen bakers, who knew of the disease and disability which came to their members from working in insanitary shops.

When the law went into effect, some of its support among the master bakers fell away, largely through the influence of one man. So long as the operation of the law bore down on the man with a small shop who sold his goods amongst his neighbors and friends, the hotel and restaurant keepers in the downtown district were in favor of it. As soon as it began to bear down on them they were against it.

Their business is largely from people whose home kitchens are clean, who have high æsthetic standards and who patronize no downtown houses except those where the outside appearance is one of high sanitary standards. That the cooks are working in a sanitary place, the customer must take on faith.

By reason of these considerations, it is doubtful if this group could have been induced to fight the ordinance in the courts had a mayoralty election not been pending. A certain man had lost out in his organization. He had to have a job. Under the guise of fighting the ordinance the downtown group were persuaded to get into the election and also into the fight against the ordinance. Soon after election this group dropped out of the fight, but an organization of master bakers went on with it. They fought it in the courts, getting a decision in the Municipal court. It was from this decision the city appealed.

Now the Supreme court has spoken. The journeymen and the health department have a decision which is satisfactory in that it not only settles the underground bakery question but establishes some valuable basic legal principles, the agitator and organizer has his job, and the silly obstructors are holding the sack.

From the health department bulletin we learn that since 1907, 400 insanitary underground bakeries have crawled out of their holes. The aboveground bakeries have increased from 750 to 1,300. The ordinance has increased the number of small bakeries. This always happens. There is no lie worked so hard as the lie that ordinances requiring better sanitation put the little fellow out of business.

The milk ordinance increased business for the small milk dealer as the bakery ordinance increased the number and the prosperity of the small bakers.

STOMACH TROUBLE.

Reader writes: "Kindly advise me if you think that the following is too hearty a lunch for a sedentary worker (woman), who has trouble with her liver and stomach periodically. She eats a light breakfast and little at night, usually only a little fruit or a vegetable: One large saucer of creamed onions, one large saucer of raw tomatoes with a little olive oil and vinegar, one portion of mashed potatoes, four slices of fried bacon, one slice of graham bread with butter, one glass of buttermilk. She eats practically a similar lunch every day, varying it with different vegetables and sometimes fruit."

REPLY.

No. You should vary your diet more. Can you not cure your liver and stomach by physical exercise in the open air—something that you can get interested in?

OPEN WINDOWS IN WINTER.

S. T. T. writes: "It is time to put in something about leaving windows open at night so as to sleep in brisk, fresh, early winter air."

REPLY.

You are right. I begin by publishing your admonition.

HUMIDITY.

H. L. O. writes: "Is it necessary to have hot water pans on hot water heat radiators to obtain correct humidity?"

REPLY.

It is necessary to do something. Pans will help, though you will need more moisture than they will furnish.

ACNE.

M. F. J. writes: "If I am not mistaken, there is an antitoxin made now for acne. This disease has troubled me for several years. Has the antitoxin proved successful? Is it worth giving a fair trial?"

REPLY.

The acne remedy is a vaccine, not an antitoxin. Your druggist can get it for you from the manufacturing pharmacist. You can have a vaccine made from the bacteria in the pustules on your face. Sometimes this vaccine helps, sometimes not.

TUBERCULAR SORES.

Mrs. A. G. writes: "Kindly let me know if lupus of the nose of seven years' standing can be cured? Can a tubercular sore of five years' standing on the face be cured?"

REPLY.

Lupus and tubercular sores on the skin can be cured rather readily. Skin tuberculosis is about the mildest form of tuberculosis. If you will persist in proper care of your case under the direction of a competent physician, you will be cured.

CARE OF THE HAIR.

Reader writes: "My hair is falling out rapidly. I am advised by friends to apply a weak salt water or brine about twice a week. If I use this regularly will it be beneficial? What proportion of salt to water?"

REPLY.

It will be all right if you will use it thoroughly enough to keep your scalp clean, will use a little grease afterward, and brush your hair frequently and well. In other words, care will save your hair. Salt water washing will be a part of the care given. The proportion is not a matter of consequence. Use a tablespoonful to a pint of water.

LA MARQUISE DE FONTENOY.

[Copyright: 1912: By the Brentwood Company.]

EMPEROR FRANCIS JOSEPH has just lost through death the commander of his superb Hungarian bodyguard, whose uniforms are perhaps the most picturesque things of the kind to be seen at the courts of Vienna and Budapest.

The commander was Gen. Prince Louis Esterhazy, who for the last twenty years of Queen Victoria's reign was, as military attaché of the Austrian embassy to the court of St. James, one of the most familiar and popular figures in English society.

He was not regarded by the English as a foreigner, for, through his mother, Lady Sarah Villiers, daughter of the fifth Earl of Jersey, he was related to many of the greatest houses of the British aristocracy.

The prince's English grandmother, Sarah Countess of Jersey, ruled the English great world with a rod of iron in its most brilliant and most exclusive days, and so despotic was her sway that on one memorable occasion she actually declined, in her capacity of lady patroness of the famous Almack's assemblies, to permit the admission of the great Duke of Wellington because he had arrived five minutes late.

She figures as Zenobia in Lord Beaconsfield's novel "Endymion."

Prince Louis died a bachelor, and thereby hangs a romance. For many years, long before she became a widow, he was deeply attached to the ex-Queen of Naples.

In fact, a couple of years or so after the death of King Francis it was currently reported that she had contracted a secret marriage with the prince, which she could have done without exposing herself to the imputation of a mesalliance, since the prince belonged to the mediatized branch of his house, the members of which retain, among other former petty sovereign rights, that of mating with the reigning houses of Europe on a footing of perfect equality.

The marriage, however, never materialized, and in recent years the prince saw but little if anything of the ex-queen, who resides mostly in Paris, whereas he made his home in Vienna after severing his connection with the Austrian embassy in London.

That Emperor Francis Joseph held in high regard this prince, who had almost become his brother-in-law, is shown by the fact that he bestowed upon him not only the command of his Hungarian guard but also the Order of the Golden Fleece and the colonelcy and proprietorship of the Eighth regiment of hussars, the bestowal of a regiment of this kind being an altogether exceptional distinction, usually reserved for crowned heads and princes of the blood.

The prince was on terms of great intimacy with King Edward and a frequent guest of the latter at Sandringham.

Louis Esterhazy is the hero of that somewhat familiar story anent the defeat of a designing adventuress through a cigar.

He was traveling from London to Hatfield to spend the week end with the late Lord and Lady Salisbury, and had just taken his place in a first class compartment at King's Cross when suddenly, at the last moment, an elegantly dressed woman entered the carriage.

Under ordinary circumstances it is possible that he might have responded to the threadbare artifices which she employed with the object of striking up a conversation. But by mere chance he had been reading a recently published memoir of his old friend, Valentine Baker Pasha, and the effect of this was to call to his mind the common practices of adventuresses in Europe to take advantage of the old world system of railroad compartments to blackmail susceptible and unprotected male travelers.

Thanks to this, he declined to make any response to the advances of the lady and continued to tranquilly smoke his cigar, as if entirely oblivious to her blandishments. It was fortunate that he adopted this policy, for, just before the only station between King's Cross and Hatfield, she suddenly tore her hat from her head, disheveled her hair, and, as the train came to a standstill, put her head out of the window and shrieked for assistance.

The guard and other railroad officials, as well as passengers, hurried to the scene, and then the lady asserted that she had been terribly insulted by the prince, who was the only other person in the compartment. He did not stir from his seat, but continued tranquilly smoking his cigar.

It was perhaps this extraordinary calmness on his part which led the railroad officials to hesitate a moment before collaring him, and the station master exclaimed:

"What have you to say to this charge?"

Without the slightest appearance of concern the prince, who was seated in the far corner of the compartment, replied:

"Only this."

With that he pointed to his cigar, which showed a beautiful gray ash considerably over an inch in length.

The station master was wise in his generation, and on perceiving the ash he touched his hat to him and said quietly:

"That's all right, sir."

He seized the woman instead, who, sadly discomfited, was led off in custody.

The prince thereupon gave his card and informed the station master whither he was bound, but declined to prosecute, merely recommending the railroad officials to take a good look at the woman in order that they might recognize her and prevent her from preying on travelers less up to date and wide awake than himself.

I related this story in these letters at the time it occurred, some twenty years ago (which was the first time it appeared in print), with particular pleasure, since Louis Esterhazy was an old and valued friend.

I have since seen the adventure ascribed to all sorts of other persons. But it was to Louis Esterhazy that it actually and originally happened.

The prince, like the other members of the Esterhazy family, claimed to be descended from Queen Esther of the Old Testament and also from the Hun monarch Attila, through Paul Esteras, who is on record as having been baptized in 909.

The Esterhazys have always been magnates, that is to say, great nobles of Hungary, since the dawn of Magyar history, and every page of the history of Hungary, and in a slightly lesser degree that of Austria, contains mention of their name.

Thus Nicholas Esterhazy, as palatine of Hungary at the beginning of the seventeenth century, was one of the principal authors of the peace of Westphalia, which brought the thirty years' war to a conclusion.

His son bore himself so magnificently in the war against the Turks that he obtained from the emperor at Vienna the right of coining money and of conferring titles of nobility in Hungary.

Prince Nicholas Esterhazy was a favorite of Empress Maria Theresa, one of the principal commanders of the seven years' war, a founder member of the Order of Maria Theresa, and the friend and patron of Haydn, who for thirty years was the conductor of his private orchestra.

It was his grandson and namesake to whom the first Napoleon offered the crown of St. Stephen. The prince, however, declined to be King of Hungary save by the election of his fellow nobles and refused to accept the Magyar throne at the hands of Napoleon, stating that no gift from a man whom he regarded as a Corsican adventurer could add to the prestige or to the grandeur of his house.

MR. TAFT'S notion of entertaining Mr. Wilson some time before March 4 is a great little idea. Tales of a Stenographer.

II.

Yesterday morning's mail was unusually heavy. With two score letters to answer, I rang for my stenographer. Miss Perkins entered, sat down, and started to sharpen her pencils. As she whittled away she recited the following in that always even monotone:

"There was a lot of excitement at our house this morning about nothing. My sister and her husband were over last evening to dinner and stayed all night. Bob is rather portly—almost fat—and our bathroom is quite small. This morning Bob borrowed my father's old fashioned razor to shave, although he says he always uses a safety at home. Of course while shaving he had to cut himself on the chin. He jerked away from the razor and backed into the steam pipe, burning himself severely. He bounced away from the steam pipe and bumped his forehead on the door, raising an awfully big black and blue spot over his eye and alongside his nose. Somehow he forgot what he was doing and dropped the open razor and cut his foot so badly that it bled profusely. He uttered several exclamations while these incidents were happening—indeed, he made so much noise that mother asked him what the trouble was. He did not reply intelligently. When he came to breakfast he looked as if he had been playing football. He didn't seem comfortable standing up, or sitting down, or walking, or any way. He told me confidentially that it was the most exciting three seconds of his whole lifetime. Are there many letters today?"

I answered, "Yes," and began to dictate.

WOULD INTERFERE WITH THE SERVICE.

Chicago, Nov. 7.—[To the Friend of the People.]—Isn't there any way we can get better service from the Chicago and Oak Park Elevated road? Why cannot they run express trains through from Clinton or Halsted to Fortieth without stopping? As it is now they stop at Morgan, Ashland, Wood, Robey, and Oakley. I know sometimes they would be delayed by a local ahead on the same track, but not always. I know they could easily improve the present antiquated service, crowded cars, especially the so-called express service, which is not to be compared with the South Side and Northwestern. They should give the people of Austin and Oak Park real express service both ways during the rush hours at least. Cannot something be done to this end?

FRANK HAMILTON.

Trains in express service using local tracks cannot skip all stations on the local tracks without overtaking the local trains within a short distance, so that no time would be gained by not stopping at certain of the most important stations. Express trains following local trains at Market street would not be able to make any express run.

A MATTER OF DRINKING WATER.

Chicago, Nov. 4.—[To the Legal Friend of the People.]—1. Is there any law compelling a firm to supply its employés with water that is fit to drink? Just at present the only water we have for that purpose is what comes from the tank on the roof of a fifteen story building.

1. Report this matter to the department of health, city hall, as it is the duty of this department to enforce all health ordinances. Ask this department to investigate the matter. We know of no law which directly compels an employer to supply good drinking water to his employés.

2. Yes, unless the employé is employed for a definite period or there is some different custom in the particular trade or occupation.

COLLECTING A DEBT.

Chicago, Nov. 6.—[To the Legal Friend of the People.]—Up to six months ago a woman lived with her children in Chicago, and all of the property the family owned was in her name. The property is in Idaho, where her husband lives and manages affairs. Six months ago she died, owing me a bill of $75 for medicines. Some time afterward I asked her husband for my money, and he said that as soon as the property was transferred to him he would pay, but that he had nothing. Then he left for Idaho, where he has been ever since. How can I collect my money?

B.

Your only claim is against the estate of the woman and you cannot force the husband or children to pay your claim. It is probably necessary to present this claim within one year from the woman's death, so that we advise you to consult an attorney about it immediately.

REMOVING A MENACE.

Chicago, Nov. 10.—[To the Friend of the People.]—There is an open hole of an old cistern near the alley and just in the rear of the Granville Avenue Methodist church, at the southwest corner of Granville and Lakewood avenues in North Edgewater. It is a constant danger to children, and also to horses. It has been there for many months. Members of the church have been advised of the matter, but nothing has been done. I do not know whether the hole is on the church property or on city property. Anything you can do to remove this source of danger will be appreciated.

W. E. G.

I would say in reply that the stone cover of this catch basin is broken and lies at the bottom of the basin, which is located on church property about twenty feet inside of the alley line. The ward superintendent advises me that he has made it safe temporarily, and I will take the matter up with the pastor of the church, with a view of having the repair made permanent.

THE OLD HOUSE NUMBERS.

Chicago, Nov. 10.—[To the Friend of the People.]—Kindly prompt the city authorities to enforce the house numbering ordinance. This was promised in response to a complaint in your column many months ago.

Old numbers are still displayed in all parts of the city, and many houses are as yet without the new. It would seem that civic pride and public spirit should induce householders to remedy this untidy and confusing condition voluntarily, but evidently it will be necessary to exercise authority in a systematic and persistent manner.

In the absence of street signs it is a great help in getting about the city if the correct numbers appear on the buildings.

CITY SALESMAN.

An ordinance was passed by the city council Sept. 30 last, this ordinance being published in the official newspaper Oct. 14 and becoming effective Oct. 24. The ordinance requires the removal forthwith of all old house numbers, a penalty of $5 being provided for each thirty days' neglect or refusal to comply therewith. Printed notices are now being prepared, which it is the intention to have distributed to all offenders by the police officers on their various beats.

FROM A JAPANESE READER OF "THE TRIBUNE."

Chicago, Nov. 12.—[Mr. Editor.]—To the relic of barbarism as one of the Chicago papers calls it or the relic of national trait for Japan as we prefer to call, the little island empire owes greatly for the maintenance of her integrity. If Japan were so civilized as the hon. Paper might have wished, probably the result of the late war with Russia would have been the reverse. And, if so the little old country with tradition of over two thousands years might have been disappeared long since from the map of the World.

Fortunately, however, the people of Japan are still under influence of the ancient Bushido; and as long as there it remains—the spirit of so-called "barbarism" Japan is capable to stand firmly, making herself conspicuous in the declining Asia, with fair prospect in her future.

Undoubtedly, the World has made a great advance towards civilization up to present, and if that progress keep its going, there may be a day—possibly after thousand years—when man get rid of fighting instinct.

And a day the conservative Englishmen become citizens. Still at present, we are under our humble impression that it is too remote to believe in Cosmopolitanism under a Common governing machine of the whole World yet.

Looking from the standpoint of Christianity and humanity in general, it is foolish, if not barbarous, that the German government tries so hard to win the competition of shipbuilding with Great Britain. Nay, not only German government but almost every country losing her financial balance on the heavy expenditure for man-slaughter machines. And tu quoque, America.

Alas, civis pacem, bara bellum; that is under circumstances deemed necessary yet. Whether or not it is barbarous, is a country not in need of efficient army and navy? Moreover, of loyal subjects, faithful citizens like the late Nogi of Japan?

Here I do not mean to try to cover Nogi's act with certain pretenses that pertinent with American idea, but I frankly say his act was only revelation of his extreme loyalty to the ruler. Of loyalty there is still corner in the heart of the Japanese to hold it dear. In Bushido, loyalty has its place as one of the best virtues.

Be it as it may, Nogi was only a simple soldier; fought for his ruler and country without wavering from his firm belief in the old national code of Japan. Say not, he was a stoic, because it sounds more like cold hearted. He was a sensible man! "Barbarism" can find ample excuses in Bushido, and perhaps in many countries other than Japan.

Japan has never been too slow to adopt Western civilization—chiefly material, but she hesitates to follow Western idea in certain thing.

I hope that one will dare not to judge or criticise Japan harshly after seeing "Madam Butterfly" or "The Geisha Girl" as to her moral; "Typhoon" as to the idiosyncrasy of her people. They look "awfully funny." Instead, I can recommend a little book entitled "Bushido" by Dr. Nitobe. It may not be a pleasant book and delightful as Rubaiyat of Omar Khayyam, but more worthy one. So perhaps, the reader may be able to acquaint a little with so-called "barbarism" of Japan.

ANOTHER ROYAL DEAF MUTE.

Chicago, Nov. 13.—[Editor of The Tribune.]—Marquise de Fontenoy was mistaken in the letter of this morning where it was stated that the son of the King of Spain, Don Jaime, was the only deaf mute among the royalties of Europe. One of the children of Prince Henry of Prussia and his wife, a princess of Hesse, who also is a first cousin of the Queen of Spain, is a deaf mute.

EX-DIPLOMAT.

SAYS TICKETS ARE STILL SCALPED.

Chicago, Nov. 12.—[Editor of The Tribune.]—Last spring occurred the annual flurry about theater ticket scalpers. The city council, as on many previous occasions, was supposed to have taken measures to prevent the continued fleecing of the public by the managers of theaters in collusion with ticket agencies.

Like nearly everything else done in Chicago, it was evidently merely a pretense to cover up facts and further bunco the public, for tickets for all theaters in the loop may still be obtained at all stands, and to suppose for one moment that these scalpers do not return their unsold tickets is a bigger joke than H. B. Smith ever put into one of his librettoes.

DISGUSTED PLATOOSA.

PUNISH GUILTY PARENTS ALSO.

Chicago, Nov. 12.—[Editor of The Tribune.]—I would suggest that in future when cruel and cowardly murders are committed by mere boys the murderers' mothers should receive a light punishment—say, a few weeks' imprisonment—for bringing up their sons so abominably. The fathers of the young monsters should then be called up for sentence, and, as a man's brain is considerably heavier than a woman's, their punishment should be correspondingly heavier. This would be a lesson to criminally indulgent or criminally negligent fathers and mothers, and would have the further advantage, if action were taken at the proper time, of keeping the parents, and especially the mothers, out of court during the trial of the depraved young cutthroats whom they have turned loose upon the world to rob and butcher mankind. Unfair appeals to foolish juries by means of theatrical displays of hysteria, carefully arranged by the prisoners' lawyers for the purpose of defeating justice, would thus be in their turn defeated.

For the benefit of those who take life seriously, I had better add that I am not entirely in earnest, although nearly so.

HANDLING THE IMMIGRANTS.

Harvey, Ill., Nov. 13.—[Editor of The Tribune.]—Last Saturday morning, in company with Mr. W. J. Christie, secretary of the Dearborn Station Y. M. C. A., I watched a large company of immigrants file out of the Dearborn street station. Three policemen were doing their best to guide them in safety across the way to the Immigrant Protective League building. At the door the station agent was fighting to keep off a bunch of express men, who, in spite of his efforts, would crowd up and endeavor to carry off some of the people. No one was there who could understand one word spoken by the newly arrived immigrants and so they were compelled to use signs and signals.

Finally one of the expressmen dashed in and persuaded a young woman to accompany him to his wagon, which was backed up against the baggage platform opposite the Y. M. C. A. building. I followed on the opposite side, saw him place her box in his covered wagon and then place her inside out of sight. He left her to hunt more prey. I went to a dear Irish policeman and told him the circumstances, and he quickly left the crowd, went to the wagon, and with much dumb persuasion got the girl out of the vehicle, and seized the poor little wooden box, which I carried over to the building of the immigrant league.

The policeman tried to find the fellow, but he must have hidden himself for the time being.

Such an incident goes to show the pressing necessity of the authorities or private citizens to change this miserable business with methods and means whereby these human jackals shall have no possible chance to get possession of any of these foreign people.

NEW PRESIDENT OF PENNA. LINES

James McCrea Resigns After Forty-eight Years in Railroad's Service.

SAMUEL REA TO SUCCEED.

Melville E. Ingalls Retires as Head of the C., C., C. & St. L. Railway Company.

Philadelphia, Pa., Nov. 13.—James McCrea resigned today as president of the Pennsylvania railroad.

The resignation, to take effect on Jan. 1, was presented at a special meeting of the board of directors, which immediately elected Samuel Rea to the position. Mr. Rea has been vice president of the road for years. He was elected a member of the board of directors to succeed Clement A. Griscom, who died last Sunday.

In his letter of resignation Mr. McCrea said:

"This action is prompted by the consideration that I will shortly reach the age of 64 years. Forty-eight of them have been practically devoted to the service of lines either directly in or subsequently embraced in the Pennsylvania system.

Wants to Take Earned Rest.

"It is almost unnecessary to say that such service has meant unremitting effort, and now I feel that I have earned a rest and to be free to dispose of my time in such a manner as may be most agreeable to me and best conducive to my health.

"It is not inappropriate to state that but two of my predecessors passed my present age, and none of them was actively engaged in the service of the company for so long a period.

"To each of you gentlemen of the board I beg to tender my most sincere acknowledgements and hearthy thanks for the unfailing and cordial support given to my administration."

Advised by His Physicians.

One close to the management of the Pennsylvania said that not only did Mr. McCrea desire to rest, but that his physicians had told him he must retire.

Samuel Rea, the president-elect, is 57 years of age and has been with the company since 1871, when he began as a chainman in the engineering department.

He worked with former President Cassatt on the great constructive program of that official and won fame through the part he took in the building of the Pennsylvania New York tunnels and station. During the McCrea administration he was one of the principal figures in the operating and engineering departments of the company.

Ingalls Retires from Post.

New York, Nov. 13.—Melville E. Ingalls of Cincinnati, who has been connected with the Cleveland, Cincinnati, Chicago and St. Louis railway company for forty-two years, first as president, then as chairman of the board, resigned today on account of ill health. His successor was not elected.

NEW I. C. GENERAL MANAGER.

Thomas J. Foley, assistant general manager of the Illinois Central, has been appointed general manager, effective Nov. 16, assuming that portion of the duties of Vice President W. L. Park, who has acted as both vice president in charge of operation and general manager.

John M. Day has been appointed superintendent of transportation, with headquarters in Chicago, succeeding George W. Berry, who becomes general superintendent with headquarters at Memphis. Sullivan S. Morris, whom Mr. Berry succeeds, will become chairman of the general safety committee of the railway, with headquarters in Chicago.

ALDERMANIC VICE COMMITTEE DENIES PLAN TO OPEN LEVEE.

Several Members Assert They Have Been Strongly Impressed by Arguments Against Segregation.

A canvass of members of the special aldermanic committee on vice yesterday indicated the reformers' fear that the committee will recommend the reopening of the south side levee district might be groundless.

Although none of the committee would make any public statement as to his views on segregation, several said they had been strongly impressed by the anti-segregationists' arguments against the reëstablishment of the vice district. They said any report that the committee had taken a vote on the question of segregation was untrue.

No meeting of the committee has been held since the public hearing on Monday. The committee will be called together in a few days by Chairman Emerson to consider the evidence taken at the hearings.

Miss Jane Addams said during the day she had heard the committee would report for segregation. She said she did not know yet what action would be taken to try to thwart a possible attempt to reopen the old dives.

"There is to be a meeting on Saturday of the various organizations fighting the segregation of vice," Miss Addams said, "and the question of future action probably will be taken up at that meeting."

BATHROOM BOB TRIAL TODAY

Case Against State Representative May Be Dismissed.

SEQUEL TO LORIMER ROW.

Defendant Accused of Being Go-Between in Bribery Deals.

The case against Robet E. Wilson, state representative who is alleged to have perjured himself in testimony given at the time of the trial of Representative Lee O'Neil Browne in connection with the Lorimer senatoral election, will be called in Judge Kersten's court today.

According to rumors circulated about the criminal court building yesterday the case against Wilson may not be pressed. Wilson was indicted at the time of Browne's trial for alleged perjury in denying having handed out money to four other representatives in a bathroom in the Southern hotel at St. Louis. These representatives, one of whom is now dead, contradicted the statements of Wilson and his indictment followed.

Wilson Called Go-Between.

Wilson, it was charged, was used as the "go-between" in paying out money alleged to have been promised for votes for William Lorimer.

Representatives H. J. C. Beckemeyer, Charles White, Frank Shepard, and Michael Link, the last now dead, admitted that money was handed out by Wilson.

In the first trial of Browne the jury disagreed, and in the second prosecution he was acquitted.

Erbstein Escaped Conviction.

Attorney Charles Erbstein, indicted for alleged "jury fixing," was also acquitted.

Because State's Attorney Wayman failed to convict Browne and is soon to go out of office, rumors were heard in the Criminal court building that the case against Wilson would be dismissed.

MAKES LOVE PLEA IN COURT.

Max H. Ehrlicker, Sentenced for Pawning Ring, Declares Affection for Young Woman Accuser.

A sentence of sixty days in the bridewell for pawning a $100 diamond ring belonging to his sweetheart only intensified the love of Max H. Ehrlicker, 5239 Justine street, for Mrs. Rose Albright, a young widow living at 3447 West Sixty-second street.

As Ehrlicker was being led from Municipal Judge Newcomer's courtroom yesterday he broke away and rushed up to Mrs. Albright, who had testified against him.

"I love you, Rose," he said. "I am sorry I pawned the ring and sold the ticket. Please forgive me, and tell me you will be my friend when I get out of jail."

"Don't put him in a cell," the woman pleaded, sobbingly. "I am sorry I had him arrested. I thought he did not care for me, but now I know I was wrong."

ACCUSES POLICE OF LEVEE GRAFT

Erbstein Also Promises Evidence Grogan Used Force for Collections.

INQUIRY MAY BE RESULT.

Matter Comes Out at the Trial of "Mike de Pike" Heitler on the West Side.

Documentary evidence to prove that policemen of the Desplaines street police station have been on the payroll of divekeepers, and testimony to show that Boss "Barney" Grogan uses the police force to collect campaign funds were promised yesterday by Attorney Charles E. Erbstein in Municipal Judge Turnbaugh's court.

If the attorney makes good his charges it is expected the civil service commission will order an investigation into the west side police conditions, for the graft charges are said to concern a number of policemen, including commanding officers.

Erbstein is defending "Mike de Pike" Heitler, who was arrested ten days ago on the charge of frequenting a disorderly place. The lawyer, in his opening statement, said he would prove that Grogan ordered the police to raid a restaurant and arrest Heitler on a trumped up charge because the latter had refused to contribute to a campaign fund collected by Grogan just before the election.

Erbstein Questions Alcock.

The attorney severely cross examined the one policeman who took the stand in the afternoon. The witness was Patrick Alcock, one of the seven men who raided the restaurant and arrested Heitler and fifteen other persons.

"You know Heitler, don't you?" Erbstein asked.

"Yes, I know him," replied the witness.

Q—You visited his saloon often when he owned one, didn't you? A—Yes, I went there.

Q—You loafed about there and drank at the bar, didn't you? A—I maybe took a drink there.

Q—You got $15 every Saturday from Heitler, didn't you? A—No, I did not.

Q—You wouldn't take money? A—Not from him.

Q—When did you last see "Barney" Grogan? A—I haven't seen Grogan for six months.

Q—Weren't you at Grogan's saloon last night, shortly after 11 o'clock? A—No, I wasn't.

Q—Who gave you orders to raid this restaurant at 941 Washington boulevard? A—Capt. Meagher gave me the orders when I saw him at a political meeting at the armory about 8 o'clock.

Q—What time did he tell you to raid the place? A—He didn't specify any certain hour.

Q—You waited until 11 o'clock, after Heitler went into the place, because you wanted to arrest him, didn't you? A—No.

Q—Why did you wait until that hour? A—I was busy on other matters.

Watched Restaurant for Months.

On direct examination by Assistant City Prosecutor E. J. Raber the witness said that he had watched the restaurant for months and knew that the most of the men who hung about the place were cadets and men without occupation. On cross examination he admitted that he had never raided the place until he got orders from his superior officer.

The witness said on cross examination that he had arrested the men in the raid and held them without booking at the Desplaines street station for twenty-four hours, and that the proprietor of the restaurant was not arrested as a keeper of a disorderly house until after the men caught in the raid had been arraigned in court.

"We will prove," Attorney Erbstein told the court and jury, "that before December, 1911, Heitler was a small factor in politics in the Eighteenth ward, and that in that ward he and other denizens were requested to contribute sums of money each month.

Says Demands Were Made Constantly.

"We will show that demands were made upon them during every political campaign. We will show that this defendant has contributed thousands of dollars to 'Barney' Grogan. On the Tuesday night preceding the arrest of Heitler, Grogan met this defendant and demanded a campaign contribution.

"Heitler refused, and Grogan told him that before Saturday night Heitler would find himself in a cell. The evidence will show that Saturday night Heitler and others attended a political meeting at the armory on the west side. Grogan gave his orders to his police manikins in his saloon and the police arrested Heitler."

GIVES ALL TO BENEFACTRESS; VERBAL WILL FILED IN COURT.

Nicholas Suri Calls "Boys" Around Him, Tells Them He Is Going to Die, and Registers Wishes.

"Boys, I am glad I have a home in my old age. When I was young I had to suffer a great deal and didn't have a place to live. I was mistreated. Mrs. Pavlik has been so good to me. Now, boys, I am going to die, just like that old horse. Boys, I want you to hear it: When I am dead, I want Mrs. Pavlik to have everything that I got."

This was the declaration made by Nicholas Suri shortly before he died on Nov. 3, 1912. The declaration, sworn to by two witnesses, was filed yesterday in the Probate court.

Mrs. Josephine Pavlik, 7222 South California avenue, is the beneficiary.

The witnesses are Peter J. Flower and Rudolph Pavlik. The amount of the estate left by Suri is not given.

Miss Carew to Have Realty on Kimbark Avenue if She Remains Unmarried During Donor's Life.

Edward C. Egan yesterday conveyed to his niece, Miss Maude Carew of Chicago, property in Kimbark avenue, 286 feet south of Sixty-third street, 25x165 feet, for nominal consideration. The property is said to be worth about $7,000. Mr. Egan stipulated that the property was to be held in trust for his niece, and that she was to have the income on it as long as she did not get married during the life of Mr. Egan. If she marries or dies during the donor's life the property reverts. Mr. Egan also stipulates that he can take the gift back at any time he desires.

THE KEYNOTE OF HEALTH IS THE LIVER

Scientists have definitely learned that the Liver is one of the most important organs of the human system. It is the sieve which separates the good from the bad, the nutriment from the poison. Allow the Liver to become torpid or inactive, the poison is sent through the system and disease is the result. First you become bilious and constipated and later the consequences are more serious. Nobody can live as regular as a clock. In order to enjoy life we subject ourselves to dietary indiscretion. If the proper remedy is then used the trouble is quickly ended. A remedy which comes nearest to the heart of the people is a natural remedy. The natural remedy most widely used is Hunyadi Janos Water, the NATURAL Laxative. Its natural combination is wonderfully effective in Biliousness, Torpid Liver and Constipation—½ tumblerful cleanses the Liver, flushes the intestines, purifies the system and is gentle, speedy and sure. Don't take the substitutes; they are worthless imitations and may be harmful.—Advertisement.

Many trunk makers have tried to imitate the Indestructo construction. Similar appearance has been gained, but if you stop to analyze the way in which such a trunk is built you will see that it presents far more weakness than the ordinary trunk of square construction.

There is no other trunk that has the built in strength and endurance, capable of carrying the five-year accident guarantee.

LABOR SITUATION LIKE STONE WALL

Australian Legislation Faces Difficulties Impossible of Solution.

VIEWS OF PENDING BILL.

Editorials from Two of the Leading Capitalistic Papers of Antipodes.

BY GEORGE A. DORSEY, PH. D., LL. D.

SYDNEY.—Is it not apparent from this review of Australian industrial legislation that we are up against a stone wall? It is a serious matter, and I can see only one way over the wall.

As the case stands now, trade unionism says: We will strike if we want to; you cannot prevent it; employers must employ unionists—if not we will kick over the whole arbitration business and go back to the good old days of free fight, and in that we would win, for we are the stronger?

Result? The worker must join the union. And the result of that? Industrial society becomes organized into water tight compartments. And then? Well, the ultimate stage is the elimination of every distinction between capital and labor, between employer and employé. Meanwhile I invite you to inspect two samples of editorial opinion, representative of the most powerful capitalistic press in Australia.

First, we get the anti-labor view about preference, strikes, etc.:

"'You cannot pay too big a price for industrial peace,' exclaimed the vice president of the executive council in the upper house last night when moving the second reading of the bill to amend the existing arbitration law. Mr. Flowers evidently meant what he said, and we are quite prepared to admit that the government is in earnest in its desire to secure industrial peace.

Several Kinds of Peace.

"But there is peace and peace. To create a desert and call it peace may be Cæsarian or Napoleonic, but the dispassionate student of history is disposed to give such form of conquest another name. Moreover, it is possible to buy the peace which does not create a desert as the preliminary to absolute rule at too high a rate.

"The peace which satisfies one party and leaves the rest of the community in slavery may be satisfactory from one point of view, and a certain form of prosperity may arise from it; but since true liberty is worth dying for on occasion, Mr. Flowers' critics may be forgiven for reminding him that it is possible to lose everything worth having under despotic rule.

"We know from bitter experience what the labor idea of peace is. It is power in the hands of those who will allow nobody to work except under conditions set by one class—a power exercised so as to suppress ruthlessly all protest and to make of industry the sport which we see at present in parliament.

"Strikes are bad; let us abolish strikes; but the only way to abolish strikes is to take care that the unionist gets practically all he asks for. Such may be given as the three heads of the argument of the representative of the government in the upper house. He had admitted that there would be more power vested in the unions than is possessed by the high court; and when reminded of this during the development of his argument he said: 'Well, why not, if they use it discreetly?' The whole intention of the amending bill is to make unionism supreme, and practically to place all industry under its heel. This is to be the peace for which too high a price cannot possibly be paid.

Government's Sincerity Admitted.

"We admit the government's sincerity in submitting its amending bill; we also admit that its proposals have been made with the desire to remove difficulties and straighten the course of administration. For many years now there has been a piling up of experience, and compulsory arbitration so far has tended to breed strikes, not to prevent them. Now comes what is to be a great experiment. He confesses, in effect, that if the present proposed labor legislation fails, there is nothing left to hope from compulsion by law. That is to say, if the grouping of industries, the granting of preference to unionists, the placing of the appointments of chairmen of wages boards in the hands of the government, and the extension of the machinery of arbitration, while appearing to simplify it, fail, then the next thing will be to cast aside the law and return to force.

"This may seem like an extreme statement. Yet no careful reading of the amending bill can lead us to any other conclusion. For the return to force is practically provided. The strike or lockout is supposed to be the thing to be prevented at any cost—it is to be peace at any price. Yet provision is made for notice of a strike or lockout; and when there is a strike the secret ballot is not to be made imperative; it is to be left at the discretion of the minister.

Aimed at Nonunionists.

"But the worst feature of the bill, in our opinion, is that it does not regard the nonunionist as a person worthy of consideration. Preference to unionists is to be granted, if in the opinion of the board it is likely to be conducive to industrial peace. Mr. Flowers said, in reference to this, that the strong unions cared nothing about it. They were already in too strong a position to trouble about preference. The intention was to safeguard the weak unions. But presumably the weak unions are those which cannot force the nonunionists to come in and which feel the competition. So that preference is to be granted if the weak unions demand it and threaten industrial war.

"Which means that the whole bill is aimed at the nonunionist and is to be a weapon in the hands of labor governments to force him either to starve or submit. Is this likely to lead to peace? Is peace an ideal worth accepting under these conditions? The essential thing is that the board will now be compelled to grant preference. So far it has been permissive."

Slaves and Shackles.

The second editorial talks of shackles and implies slaves:

"It was certainly never the original purpose of trades unionism to deprive men of that most essential attribute of any rational being. This is a latter day development, and the marvel is that a people who, after ages of determined struggle, shook off all the shackles that had been imposed on their right to own their own souls, should now be found returning to a moral slavery.

"For that is the position of a unionist as we see it at present illustrated in Brisbane. He can make no agreement with his employers that he must not be prepared to turn around and repudiate whenever he is ordered. In this matter, while he remains a unionist he cannot help himself nor can his own union help him. He may be perfectly satisfied with the conditions of his employment; his union may be perfectly satisfied, but his union has not the deciding voice any more than he has himself.

"He may quite understand that he is acting disloyally to a good employer with whom he has not the least quarrel and bringing his business to ruin. He may be equally aware that he is acting disloyally to his own interest in throwing to the winds the asset represented by a long term of faithful service and putting himself in the position of having to begin all over again when the age for adaptability to new men and new ways has perhaps passed. No matter. He may fully realize that he is ordered to act unjustly to his employer and foolishly to himself, but the test of his new unionism will be in the readiness with which he obeys."

TAFT FIXES TOLLS IN PANAMA CANAL

Proclamation Covers Rates to Be Paid by Foreign Shipping of World.

TOP PRICE SAME AS SUEZ.

American Coastwise Trade Exempted, as Are Warships of the United States.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 13.—President Taft tonight issued a proclamation fixing the rates that the foreign shipping of the world shall pay for passage through the Panama canal.

The proclamation, made under authority of the canal act, passed by congress in August, establishes a merchant vessel rate of $1.20 per net ton of actual carrying capacity, with a reduction of 40 per cent on ships in ballast.

Condition in Taft Proclamation.

The provisions of the proclamation are as follows:

On merchant vessels carrying passengers or cargo, $1.20 per net vessel ton—each 100 cubic feet—of actual earning capacity.

On vessels in ballast without passengers or cargo 40 per cent less than the rate of tolls for vessels with passengers or cargo.

Upon naval vessels other than transports, colliers, hospital ships and supply ships, 50 cents per displacement ton.

Upon army and navy transports, colliers, hospital ships and supply ships $1.20 per net ton, the vessels to be measured by the same rules as are employed in determining the net tonnage of merchant vessels.

The secretary of war will prepare and prescribe such rules for the measurement of vessels and such regulations as may be necessary and proper to carry this proclamation into full force and effect.

Exempts Coastwise Shipping.

American coastwise shipping was exempted from toll payment by congress. It was to this provision of the act that Great Britain diplomatically protested, but no reference to the incident was made in the president's proclamation.

American naval vessels are exempted without specific mention either in the act of congress or the proclamation because the authorities believed it unnecessary to explain the uselessness of payment from its navy department pocket to the one belonging to the treasury department.

The rates named in the proclamation are practically the same as those which will be in force at the Suez canal next year.

The president based his declaration of rates upon the report and investigation of Prof. Emery R. Johnson of the University of Pennsylvania, an expert designated by executive order for the task.

On Paying Basis in Twenty Years.

According to Prof. Johnson's report to the president, also made public tonight, the Panama canal should be upon a self-sustaining basis in twenty years. It should compete successfully with the Suez route for the traffic of Europe with South American west coast points and with New Zealand, but cannot be expected to compete successfully for Europe's trade to the far east.

Taking the estimates of the canal commission for expenses of operation and maintenance of the canal and for the improvements held to be necessary at the end of a decade, Prof. Johnson figures the rate per net ton can be reduced at the end of ten years to $1.

Even with this rate, which, he says, probably will correspond closely with the rate that may then be enforced through the Suez canal, the United States will obtain enough revenue from foreign vessels to pay all fixed charges, provide a sinking fund of 1 per cent to retire the Panama canal bonds, and still find a yearly balance.

The Johnson report shows that a foreign traffic of about 9,000,000 tons may be expected through the canal during its first two years of operation; a traffic of more than 11,000,000 tons in 1920 and 14,000,000 tons in 1925.

Touches All Toll Questions.

The report goes into all phases of the canal tolls question. Prof. Johnson's defense of the $1.20 rate for merchant vessels is based on several grounds. It reads in part as follows:

"A toll of $1.20 per net ton on loaded merchant vessels and a reduction of 40 per cent from the standard rate in the case of vessels in ballast will place the Panama canal and its rival, the Suez canal, upon an equal competitive footing.

"The Panama canal must compete with the Suez route for the commerce of the eastern seaboard of the United States and of the Atlantic-North Sea ports of Europe with the Orient east of Singapore. For voyages between the eastern ports of the United States and the Orient, fuel expenses via Panama will be less than by way of Suez; and, with equal tolls at each canal, the Panama route will readily secure the traffic.

Asiatic Trade Not Expected.

"It is not to be expected that much of the commerce of Europe with the Pacific seaboard of Asia can be diverted to Panama from its present route via Suez. Distances are less via Suez; and, with the exception of voyages from north Europe to Japan and return, the fuel expenses are lower by way of Suez.

"A Panama toll of $1.20 per net ton will not unduly burden the commerce served by the canal. The costs of transportation between the two seaboards of the United States will be reduced several times the amount of the toll; and for the commerce of the eastern seaboard of the United States with western South America and with Australia, the economies effected by the Panama canal will largely exceed the toll suggested.

Would Save in Fuel Expense.

"Nor will a toll of $1.20 per net ton seriously restrict the use of the canal by European countries. For the commerce of Europe with Chile and with New Zealand, the saving resulting from the shortening of the time of voyage via Panama as compared with the Straits of Magellan, would not warrant the payment of tolls of $1.20 per net vessel ton for using the Panama canal; but the fuel exenuses via Panama will be so much less than via Magellan as to make the canal route preferable even with tolls of $1.20 per net ton.

"The normal growth of traffic of the Panama canal will not be interfered with by a toll of $1.20 per net ton. The tonnage of shipping using the Suez canal has increased rapidly, the growth of traffice having been about 70 per cent during the last ten years, although the tolls at the opening of the decade were $1.74 per net ton and in 1911 $1.30—a higher rate than is recommended for Panama."

Touches Rates on Warships.

In the president's proclamation the rate upon war vessels was fixed at 50 cents a displacement ton, and Prof. Johnson had this comment to make:

"The tolls upon merchant vessels should be fixed low enough to enable the Panama canal effectively to promote the commerce of the United States and the world; but the United States government is not called upon to make the Panama canal tolls upon warships low for the purpose of lightening the naval burdens of foreign countries. In sending their warships through the Panama canal foreign nations should pay tolls high enough to cover costs and risks incurred by the canal authorities in performing the service rendered."

WILL ASK FOR DISSOLUTION OF UNITED FRUIT COMPANY.

Attorney General Wickersham Charges $35,000,000 Corporation with Violation of Sherman Anti-Trust Law.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 13.—[Special.]—After an investigation lasting more than a year Attorney General Wickersham has decided to prosecute the tropical fruit trust. A petition in equity asking the dissolution of the United Fruit company, under the Sherman anti-trust act, will be filed within a few weeks.

The company is a $35,000,000 corporation which owns the Tropical Fruit Steamship company and controls the Bluefields Steamship company. It has absorbed a score of competing fruit concerns.

It is charged the company controls the production of fruit in Central and South America and the West Indies and its distribution in the domestic market, thereby being able to dictate the prices paid by consumers.

The United Fruit company owns a controlling interest in the Nip company, a $7,000,000 corporation which is developing an immense sugar plantation in Cuba.

SAYS CAPITALISM RULES IN NATION

Ettor Admits Telling Strikers Laws and Courts Were Under Domination.

FORCE NOT HIS CREED.

Defendant at Murder Trial Asserts That Violence Doesn't Bring Results.

Salem, Mass., Nov. 13.—That he told foreign strikers of Lawrence that the constitution, the laws, the courts, the police, and soldiers belonged to the capitalists, was testified to today under cross examination by Joseph J. Ettor in his trial as an accessory to the Anna Lopizzo murder in a riot last winter.

He said he told foreigners the constitution and laws belonged to capitalism because of his own knowledge of conditions in this country.

The district attorney asked Ettor what he had referred to when, in a conference Ettor had with William D. Haywood of the Industrial Workers of the World he had spoken of the "persecution of strikers" in Lawrence.

"I meant the clubbing of strikers," Ettor answered, "the bayoneting of a boy, the striking of men with butts of guns, the arrest of men under false charges, and men being condemned without trial, or a drum trial at least."

Referred to Spread of Strike.

Ettor said further that he recalled saying to the strikers on Jan. 25 that the mill owners would come to terms by the following day, or "something would happen they will not like." He referred, he said, to a spread of the strike to other mills of the American Woolen company in Massachusetts.

"Did you ever preach or counsel force or violence?" asked Attorney Mahoney.

"No, sir," Ettor replied.

"Why?"

"Because," Ettor answerd, "violence does not bring results. The power of the worker is not in destruction, but in construction. In controversies involving wages the greatest power of the worker is in doing nothing.

"I believe that all machinery to produce wealth should belong to society and to destroy property would leave that much less for society when it attains its aim. Destruction, not being a utility, is barred from my program to attain the social ideal."

PLUMBERS WIN THEIR FIGHT

Rival Union Rejected by American Federation of Labor.

WHITE RATS IN SQUABBLE.

Socialists Renew Opposition to Reelection of Mr. Gompers.

Rochester, N. Y., Nov. 13.—The American Federation of Labor, in convention here, refused today by a vote of 192 to 31 to seat delegates from the International Association of Steam, Hot Water and Power Pipe Fitters and Helpers of America.

The reason given by President Gompers and the delegates who back him up, is that the United Association of Journeymen Plumbers, Gas Fitters, and Steam Fitters' Helpers of America, which is affiliated with the federation, takes in members of the steam fitters trade, and it would be contrary to the federation's principles to recognize more than one international union in a single trade.

Last year the International association was ordered to affiliate with the United association, but did not obey.

Members of the radical wing of the convention, which includes nearly a hundred Socialists, assert that vigorous opposition will be made to the reëlection of President Gompers, because of his opposition to direct political action.

Socialists have been trying for years to win the federation over to their principles. The fight is likely to come up next week, when the question of referring the election of officers to a referendum vote of the members is to be taken up.

An interesting side issue of the convention is a squabble between insurgent and regular wings of the White Rats Actors' Union of America. A delegation of insurgents or ex-members headed by James D. Doyle is bent on securing revocation of the charter of the regulars on the ground that they have been false to union principles.

Will J. Cooke of New York, business representative of the regular association, says most of the so-called insurgent wing are persons expelled for various reasons or who resigned of their own will. He denied that the organization had been false to union principles.

BUILD MOTOR CAR FOR CHAPEL USE

Catholic Church Extension Society Board Announces Novel Plan.

CARRIES ALTAR AND TENT

Will Be Called the St. Christopher, After the Patron Saint of Autoists.

Satisfied with the efficiency of a railroad car as a movable chapel, the Catholic Church Extension society at the annual meeting of its executive board yesterday announced the construction of a motor car chapel. The automobile will begin carrying the gospel through the south next spring.

On the car will be full equipment for the service, an altar, with electric light furnished by a dynamo run in conjunction with the engine, a tent large enough to cover the car and take in several hundred persons, and sleeping accommodations for the two missionaries who will conduct the tour.

The car will be named the St. Christopher, chosen for two reasons, Christopher meaning "Christ carrier" and St. Christopher being the chosen patron of automobilists.

How St. Christopher Was Chosen.

"Some time ago the automobilists in France appealed to Rome for the granting of a patron saint," explained the Very Rev. Francis J. Kelly, president of the society. "Now, of course, we have no saint who went about in automobiles, and we don't expect any. As a result the petitioners chose their own saint and picked Christopher. According to the legend, it was the giant Christopher who consented to carry a child across a whirling stream and almost drowned on the way. Across the stream, he found he had carried the Christ child."

The car is now building and will make its first appearance at the New York automobile show and later at the Chicago show. It will be put into service first along the Rio Grande, where railroads are few and there are many Mexicans cut off from opportunity to attend church. It is planned to keep it in the south, operating out of New Orleans.

A third chapel car is also to be built to assist those already in service on the Pacific coast railways at present. Dr. Kelley says they have proved a great success in the territories where there are no permanent churches.

Many Prelates in Attendance.

At the meeting were about forty members of the board, the clerics including Dr. Kelley, the president, Archbishop Quigley, chancellor, Archbishop S. G. Messmer of Milwaukee, and the following bishops: J. F. R. Canevin, Pittsburgh; Joseph F. Busch, Lead, S. D.; Edward P. Allen, Mobile, Ala.; Joseph Schrembs, Toledo, O.; P. J. Muldoon, Rockford, Ill.; Cornelius Van de Ven, Alexandria, La.

Archbishop Quigley and Dr. Kelley are appointed to their offices. The following were reëlected: The Rev. E. B. Ledvina, Indianapolis, the Rev. Edward L. Roe, Peoria, and the Rev. W. D. O'Brien, Chicago, vice presidents; John A. Lynch, Chicago, treasurer; A. V. D. Watterson, Pittsburgh, recording secretary; Leo J. Doyle, vice president and counsel; Joseph D. Daley, counsel. The executive committee was reëlected with one change, Edward Hines replacing Ambrose Petry, who is not in the United States.

The board voted to use $265,000 for mission work this year, and decided on Boston as the place of the second Catholic missionary congress next spring. The first was held in Chicago four years ago.

EDITOR-PRIEST IS HONORED.

Chicago Bohemians Entertain the Rev. Valentine Kohlback of the Narod at Dinner.

The Rev. Valentine Kohlbeck, editor of the Bohemian Catholic newspaper Narod, was the guest of honor at a dinner in the Auditorium hotel last night of the Federation of Catholic Bohemians of Chicago in celebration of his twenty-fifth anniversary as priest and editor. Sheriff Michael Zimmer was toastmaster, and spoke for the city and county officials in the absence of Mayor Harrison. Archbishop James E. Quigley referred to the religious work of the guest of honor.

That is the strong, pliable, water-resisting stock WESTON MODEL is made of.

New York, Nov. 13.—[Special.]—Several sensations marked the third day's play in the world's 18-2 billiard championship at the Hotel Astor today, among them the withdrawal of Sutton from the tourney. All of the billiard dope went awry and the form displayed by the contestants in the first two days proved a misleading guide.

All eight players were in action and the four contests left Ora Morningstar of Pittsburgh, the 18-1 champion, in the lead, the only player with a clean slate. Morningstar gained his advantage by defeating Calvin Demarest of Chicago, 500 to 439.

The greatest surprise came in the defeat of Champion Willie Hoppe by Kedji Yamada, the Japanese player, who won a nerve trying contest, 500 to 497, and proved himself a far better player than his first performance indicated. He gathered an average of 22 16-22 and made high run of the day with 138. The little Tokio player gave a remarkable exhibition, showing a thorough knowledge of the intricacies of the game.

Cline Beats George Sutton.

George Sutton, who averaged 20 2-24 in his opening game, suffered a big slump and was beaten by Harry Cline of Philadelphia, who averaged only a little over four against Hoppe yesterday. Cline climbed to 16 20-30 and defeated the Chicago veteran, 500 to 97. Sutton fell to 9 27-30 and attributed his poor work to having had to play in the afternoon after having played the night before. He was so "peeved" that he withdrew from the tournament. He averred that Willie Hoppe should have gone on in the afternoon.

Sutton claimed he had had no sleep and was unable to do himself justice. His last statement in connection with his defection was that the management would have to "see him" and come to some agreement.

Hoppe vs. Yamada.

In running 56 and 138 in his second and fourth innings, Yamada showed some wonderful billiards. Hoppe made two runs of 100 and 102 in his third and tenth innings and played a strong, earnest game throughout, but the Tokio player outlasted him through the severe strain which both experienced toward the finish.

Score of matches:

YAMADA—3, 56, 0, 138, 3, 22, 8, 0, 6, 92, 5, 13, 0, 10, 0, 20, 9, 21, 5, 85, 0, 4—500. Average, 22 16-22; high runs, 138, 92.

HOPPE—17, 2, 100, 6, 31, 47, 15, 22, 5, 102, 0, 0, 6, 27, 2, 44, 47, 0, 11, 0, 13—497. Average, 23 14-21; high runs, 102, 100, 47.

Morningstar defeated Demarest, 500 to 439, in the other night game. It was a nip and tuck contest in which the Pittsburgher showed slightly better control, getting runs of 64, 63, and 57. Score:

MORNINGSTAR—0, 29, 5, 1, 3, 4, 26, 63, 0, 0, 36, 8, 6, 3, 5, 57, 1, 0, 2, 2, 2, 0, 40, 24, 45, 2, 5, 0, 0, 19, 0, 64, 0, 35, 0, 9, 4. Total, 500. Average, 16 6-38; high runs, 64, 63, 57.

Slosson Starts Poorly.

The veteran Slosson made a slow start against Al Taylor of Milwaukee, but caught his stroke later on. Taylor made some good runs in the concluding stages.

TAYLOR—0, 12, 7, 63, 15, 8, 23, 18, 0, 0, 0, 29, 2, 18, 2, 0, 1, 0, 0, 14, 5, 18, 6, 5, 3, 8, 7, 1, 9, 1, 4, 0, 44, 12, 0, 3, 0, 1, 0, 0, 0, 25, 20, 3, 28, 1—429. High runs, 63, 44, 29; average, 9 15-46.

Sutton Weak Near Finish.

Sutton ran 53 in his ninth inning against Cline and followed with 98 on his next essay. After that he made double figures only three times in his last twenty trials. Cline gave a steady display. He had two lucky kisses in his high run of 85.

SUTTON—0, 0, 10, 23, 0, 3, 1, 5, 53, 98, 2, 0, 0, 3, 46, 0, 0, 0, 14, 3, 3, 0, 3, 0, 1, 14, 0, 0, 0, 1—297. High runs, 98, 53, 46; average, 9 27-30.

The games tomorrow are as follows: Afternoon, Morningstar and Cline, Hoppe and Taylor. Evening, Sutton and Yamada, Slosson and Demarest.

Both players played well and neither could gain a lead until the latter part of the game. They were tied at 24, 25, 27, 32, and 36. The Chicago player than ran four, making his score 40. JOSEPH D. O'BRIEN MAY RESIGN.

Secretary of New York Giants Probably Will Retire from Game Because of Ill-Health.

New York, Nov. 13.—[Special.]—An unconfirmed rumor was circulated tonight that Secretary Joseph D. O'Brien would soon be succeeded in the business management of the Giants. It was said that O'Brien had found the duties of his position too arduous and had been ordered to resign by his physician. At the club offices it was stated that O'Brien was resting up at an out of town resort. John T. Brush is ill and could not be seen. O'Brien succeeded William Gray in the position and it was understood that his work had been satisfactory.

SIGNAL DRILL FOR MAROONS

Trick Plays Tried by Varsity Against Freshman Team.

GOOD SHOWING BY REGULARS

Stagg Fears Weakness of Line May Give Victory to Illinois.

BY MAROON.

Coach Stagg sent the Maroon team through a long signal drill against the freshmen yesterday. The regulars ran through all the plays developed during the last two weeks, and Coach Stagg also tried out a few new formations.

The men showed more spirit than they have exhibited since the Wisconsin game. They managed to go the length of the field for touchdowns several times, and got off the plays quickly and effectively. No attempt was made to conduct a regular scrimmage, the varsity retaining the ball throughout the afternoon.

The regular lineup was used, with Lawler at quarter back. Stagg gave three men a chance at full back, Kennedy, Pierce, and Fitzpatrick working in that position. Skinner and Huntington worked at ends, with the rest of the line the same as it has been throughout the season.

Coach Stagg is pessimistic regarding the outcome of the Illinois game Saturday. The old trouble of line weakness still worries the Midway mentor and he fears the defensive weakness of the team may result in defeat. Chicago scouts report that Illinois has strong line bucking backs and that the downstate team is able to gain ground on straight football.

Stagg feels that Purdue was the equal of Chicago on the defense, and bases his gloomy predictions on the fact that Purdue has made considerable improvement since the clash with Chicago, while the Maroons have failed to make any material gains in defensive strength. Stagg feels that defensive ability will swing the game.

Over 500 Chicago fans are expected to see the battle, while the Illinois alumni in Chicago are planning to go in a body. The Illinois home coming celebration will be held on Saturday.

St. Ignatius to Play Loyola.

St. Ignatius academy will play the Loyola academy eleven this afternoon at Loyola field, Evanston and Devon avenues. Great rivalry exists between the two schools. St. Ignatius appears to have the stronger team, despite the fact that McConnell, who was the mainstay of the line all season, will be out of the game owing to injuries.

Big Entry for Bowling Meet.

The entry list of the Chicago Bowling association's ninth tournament closed at midnight with the officials buried under the late entry. Secretary Jake Mueller said last year's high water mark was beaten. At least thirty more clubs are expected in this morning's fast mail.

SCALPERS GET GOPHER SEATS

Report Circulated 5,000 Are Selling at Big Increase.

BADGER TEAM 10-7 CHOICE.

Williams Puts Squad Through Three Hours of Hard Drill.

Minneapolis, Minn., Nov. 13.—[Special.]—Reports were current here tonight of wholesale scalping of tickets for the game on Saturday between the Gophers and Wisconsin for the "big nine" football championship. It is said that 5,000 pasteboards are being held by private persons at a 50 per cent increase in price. Seats for 20,000 persons are reported as all sold.

The betting on the game today was heavy, with odds of 10 to 7 on the Badgers.

The most strenuous practice of the year, more than three hours in length, was meted out to the Gophers today by Coach Williams. The Minnesota squad will go through its last scrimmage tomorrow afternoon.

Nursing bitter feelings for the Badgers ever since the Pickering disbarment last fall, the Gophers though admittedly having the weaker team, are determined to fight every minute in the game. Erdahl, the fast half back, will not play, and his place will be taken by Bierman, with Lawler as a reserve.

The faculty today denied that any Wisconsin men have been protested. The rumor grew out of the report that affidavits as to the professionalism of several Wisconsin players had been furnished the Badger faculty at the end of the season last year.

At Wisconsin.

Madison, Wis., Nov. 13.—[Special.]—Braving a driving sleet storm and with Camp Randall slow and heavy as a result of last night's heavy rains, Coach Bill Juneau's Badgers today brought to a close scrimmage preparation before Saturday's conference title battle.

With the husky freshmen, drilled in the Minnesota line of play, the varsity played one of the greatest straight football games seen on the camp this season. After a few attempts to use open work had failed, owing to the condition of the playing field, the varsity resorted to straight football exclusively, with the result that the freshmen were pushed all over the field. The regulars scored several touchdowns.

A stiff signal drill tomorrow will wind up the most strenuous practice campaign in Wisconsin football in years. The team, accompanied by the band and freshmen, will leave tomorrow evening for Minneapolis.

DEFENSIVE WORK FOR ILLINI.

Freshmen Try Maroon Plays Against Varsity Eleven—Final Scrimmage Drill for Team Today.

Urbana, Ill., Nov. 13.—[Special.]—Illinois played on the defensive tonight while the heavy freshmen tried Maroon formations. Tomorrow night the final scrimmage probably will consist of the same work, as Stagg's trick plays are feared greatly. Silkman, Woolston, Rowe, Booze, and Hoffman were idle most of the time. Silkman was removed after a few minutes of play and Healy given a workout at quarter back. Wagner and Randall showed to advantage in the varsity back field.

A new note in western conference ethics will be sounded by Illinois rooters. Heretofore it has been considered proper for the home crowd to make all the noise it can when the enemy holds the ball, to prevent the visitors from hearing the signals. An effort will be made to quell any such outbreaks on Saturday.

"Wise" Play by "Tip" O'Neill.

Milwaukee, Wis., Nov. 13.—Announcement that all the umpires in the Western league had been released was recalled tonight by President N. L. O'Neill of that organization. He said he had allowed the report to stand "just to see what would happen" and to "stir up a little interest in the league." All of his staff of umpires, said President O'Neill, still were on his reserve list and would remain there.

FINAL SCRIMMAGE FOR YALE; AVERY REPLACES GALLAUER.

Varsity Scores Three Times in Drill Against Scrubs—Chicago Veteran Loses Position on Team.

New Haven, Conn., Nov. 13.—[Special.]—Yale today closed its scrimmage practice for the Princeton game. The varsity eleven secured three touchdowns against the scrubs in a half hour drill. Capt. Spalding, Markle, and Castles registered the scores and Pumpelly and Markle kicked goals, giving the regulars twenty points.

Twenty yard plunges by Spalding and Cornell featured the practice. Plans for the remaining two days before the Princeton game call for signal work only. Gallauer, the Chicago veteran, apparently has lost his place at left end, and will be started against Princeton as a second string player. Avery was switched to the left wing today and Bomeisler sent in at end. Gallauer was given Bomeisler's place after the latter retired. The coaches were encouraged by today's showing.

The team has improved greatly since last week and Yale men are giving odds of 5 to 4 against Princeton.

Tickets for the Yale-Harvard football game will be scarcer this year than ever before. Yale has over 4,000 applications from graduates that must be turned down. The only ones who will be sure of seeing the game will be those who applied for but one ticket. Their applications will be filled first. Harvard has asked for several thousand more reserved seats than ever before. Crimson rooters usually have taken about 12,000 tickets, leaving about 21,000 for Yale. This year Harvard wants 16,500 tickets.

Princeton, N. J., Nov. 13.—[Special.]—The terrific pace at which the Princeton squad has been playing all season was continued today, but Trainer Keene Fitzpatrick probably will call a halt on scrimmage work tomorrow. The scrimmage today lasted for an hour, the varsity trimming the scrubs, 13 to 7.

Dixon and Walsh Draw.

Windsor, Ont., Nov. 13.—Tommy Dixon of Kansas City and Jimmie Walsh of Boston fought eight clever rounds tonight. Dixon had a slight advantage up to the seventh, when Walsh became more aggressive and easily evened matters.

HARD BATTLE FOR MAROON ELEVEN

Close Contest Promised in Annual Clash with Illinois on Saturday.

TEAMS EVENLY MATCHED.

Chicago to Depend on Open Style of Play, with Forward Pass as a Big Factor.

BY WALTER H. ECKERSALL.

Although Chicago and Illinois cannot be regarded as serious contenders for the conference championship, the annual struggle between these elevens at Urbana on Saturday should be close and bitterly fought. Keen rivalry exists between the two institutions and this struggle should be prolific of hard, bruising football.

A defeat for either eleven will put it hopelessly out of the race. The coaches and players know this and as a result the teams will be in the best of shape for what is considered one of the most important on the schedules of both universities.

A corps of assistants has rallied around Coaches Hall tnd Lindgren at Urbana and the old warriors are sure to whip the eleven into shape to play an advanced article of football, the style which is sure to give the Maroons plenty of trouble.

Maroon Stars to Play.

In all probability Vruwink, Chicago's left end, who was injured in the Wisconsin game, will be back in the lineup, while Norgren's injury, sustained in Saturday's battle with Northwestern, is not expected to handicap the Maroon back's work against the Orange and Blue eleven.

Illinois came through last Saturday's tie game with Purdue in good shape and should be ready for a hard game. The teams are about equal in weight. They are practically evenly matched in speed, but neither can boast of an exceptionally fast runner. Both have good kickers who punt on an average of forty-five yards, while Capt. Woolston and Pierce are average field goal kickers.

Chicago will depend mostly upon the open style of game, with the forward pass the most important factor. This mode of attack will be used in connection with the hard, grinding off-tackle formations in which the backs are sent through the line from split interference formations. Coach Stagg has put in a busy week strengthening the weaknesses which were so apparent in the Northwestern game and the eleven will be more thoroughly drilled by Saturday than it has for any contest this season.

Illini Alumni to See Game.

As it is home coming week at Illinois, the Orange and Blue eleven will be suported by the cheers from thousands of alumni. If cheering will bring a victory, Illinois already has won the game. Fred Lowenthal and Jake Stahl have been spending the week at Urbana assisting in the coaching, while a score of other well known Illinois warriors are giving whatever aid they can to the head mentors.

Illinois can be depended upon to put up a great fight. The players do not know the meaning of the word "quit," and even if defeated they will take their dose in true sportsmanlike spirit, just as they have in fomer years. Although Chicago appears the stronger on "dope" the contest should be bitterly fought. The Maroons defeated Purdue, while Illinois had to be content with a tie score. This means little as far as the result of Saturday's game is concerned. Illinois always plays its hardest game against Chicago, and Saturday's contest will be no exception.

Illinois, according to the games played this season, will use about the same style of attack as Chicago. The forward pass will be brought into commission to keep the secondary defense well back, so that straight formations can be used. As the Illini backs drive with plenty of power, they are sure to gain consistently if they receive the proper support from the line.

HARRISON AT EVERS' BANQUET.

Mayor to Attend Affair at Hotel Sherman Tonight Given in Honor of New Manager.

Mayor Carter H. Harrison will arrive tomorrow morning to attend the Evers banquet, which will be held at Hotel Sherman tonight. Reservations from fans throughout the country are coming in fast. Among today's mail was found a request from Bill Everett, who once starred at first base for the Cubs. A delegation of fifty fans and magnates, headed by Al Tierney and Charlie O'Leary, attending the minor league meeting in Milwaukee, will leave in time to attend the Evers affair. Hank O'Day, former manager of the Reds, has made reservations for five.

NEW YORK WANTS VANDERBILT.

Long Island Association Inaugurates Movement to Get Automobile Classic for Next Fall.

New York, Nov. 13.—An effort to bring the ninth Vanderbilt cup race to Long Island was inaugurated at a meeting of local automobile dealers today. A representative of the dealers said that it was the opinion that Milwaukee would not get next year's race because of the death of Bruce-Brown and the smashup between De Palma and Bragg.

PUGILISTIC POINTERS.

Boston, Mass., Nov. 13.—[Special.]—Angus McEachern, Boston's strong policeman, new white hope, declares he is ready to fight for the championship of the world.

"Stockyards Tommy" Murphy, who will meet Billy Walters of the naval station at Lake Bluff in the semi-windup to the White-Moore contest at Kenosha, boxed twelve rounds at O'Connell's. In addition he did about an hour's gymnasium work.

Youngstown, O., Nov. 13.—Johnny Griffith of Akron and Louis de Ponthieu, the French lightweight, fought a fast twelve round draw last night. The Frenchman was aggressive and hit hard, but Griffith showed superior defense and landed more blows.

Indianapolis, Ind., Nov. 13.—[Special.]—Tommy Howell of Philadelphia and "Wildcat" Ferns of Kansas City fought ten vicious rounds at the Auditorium tonight. No decision was given by the referee, but the eastern fighter appeared to have a shade. Earl Denning of Chicago and Jerry Dalton of Indianapolis, bantams, drew in ten rounds.

Tommy Gary, the Chicago Heights lightweight, left yesterday for Cincinnati, O., where he will meet "Yankee" Schwartz over the ten round route on Monday night. Tommy will go to New York after this bout to box "Young" Shugroe in the semi-windup to the McGoorty-Gibbons fight on Dec. 3.

Floyd Fitzsimmons, the Benton Harbor promoter, yesterday matched his "white hope," Homer Smith, with Marty Cutler. The contest will be decided in the Wolverine city on Thanksgiving day eve. It will be a ten round battle and Smith will remain in Chicago to train under Tony Caponi's direction at O'Connell's gymnasium.

Jack Dillon has called off his match with George "Knockout" Brown, which was scheduled to take place in Memphis on Monday. Nate Lewis, manager of Brown, yesterday received word from the promoters that Dillon had called off the match without giving any definite reasons. Dillon first requested that the bout be postponed a week and then demanded more money for his end. The promoters met his demands, but he called off the bout. Brown had been training for two weeks for the battle and was greatly disappointed.

Schedule Six Bouts at C. A. A.

Six wrestling matches are carded for the Chicago Athletic association show Saturday night. The windup will bring together Emil Gomez of South America and Sam Clapham, who styles himself the light-heavyweight champion of England. The pair will weigh in at 185 pounds. In the middle weight division Ernst Kartye, turner champion, is pitted against Peter Bokotowitsch, a star of the Olympian games at Stockholm. Otto Suter, a welterweight wrestler, will meet Tommy White, a Chicago grappler. "Red" O'Brien, a lightweight, will tackle "Young" Chappelle. Ted Tenneman, a veteran welterweight wrestler, will battle to a finish with Jack Hermanson. Young Zbyszko will meet Louis Talaber at 150 pounds.

BLATZ BOWLERS AVERAGE 1,031 2-3

Set Season Record by Handing the Moxleys Three Straight Defeats.

FOUR GO OVER 200 MARK.

Thoma Tops Players with 219, Steers Shoots 213, Collier 201, and Rolfe 200.

Blatz players set a new season's bowling record last night when they handed the Moxleys a three straight defeat in the City bowling league and averaged 1,031 2-3. The new mark displaces the former mark of [illegible] held by their victims. The series succeeded in intrenching the Blatz team strongly in second place just behind the O'Learys, while the Moxleys dropped to fourth.

Four men averaged over 200 in the Blatz series, Fred Thoma leading with [illegible], Harry Steers showed 213 1-3, Charley Collier [illegible] and Bob Rolfe 200 flat. Jimmy Bleuin missed the 200 limit by four pins. Al Toemmel piled up 201 1-3 for the losers, the team averaging 962.

The leading O'Learys picked up two victories from the Flenners, but were presented with their first victory when the ex-champs shot only [illegible] to the 853 by the stock yards mapleknockers. Billy Metcalfe's 256 game was the only flash of form in the series.

Centurys put up a brilliant series against the Brunswicks when they opened with 1,070, one of the highest totals of the year, but the club blew up in the last game and shot 864 to the [illegible] for the Brunswicks. Angie Trapp got [illegible] and "Beau" Bangart 201. In the other games the Halcyons picked up three from the [illegible] and the Cosmos piled up three at the expense of the José Gomez.

Juniors Beat "Sophs," 13 to 6.

The junior class football team at NoNrthwestern university defeated the sophomores yesterday, 13 to 6.

Established 1889 THE Keeley Treatment Always Reliable

For Liquor and Drug Addictions

"I tested this cure; I selected a half dozen of the toughest products of alcoholism which the Chicago saloons had been able to turn out, and the drunkard-making shops in no other city can beat them in their line of workmanship. The experimental cases were sent down to Dwight, one at a time, extending over a period of several weeks. And in due time they were all returned to me, looking as if a veritable miracle had been wrought upon them. The change for the better was so great that I scarcely recognized them. They went away sots and returned gentlemen. It was amazing and converted me to a belief in the efficacy of Dr. Keeley's treatment for alcoholism and opium."

HON. JOS. MEDILL,
Late Editor Chicago Tribune.

"To my mind the greatest discovery of this the most marvelous century is the Keeley Cure for inebriety, because its results are more far-reaching than all other discoveries which have been made."

EX-GOVERNOR JOHN P. ALTGELD, Of Illinois.

"We have during the past year treated by Dr. Keeley's method five hundred and eighteen men for chronic alcoholism and opium addiction, with less than nine per centum of lapses. I need not say to you that this is perhaps the most nearly a specific medicine that we have any knowledge of in the treatment of disease. I would further call your attention to the fact that not in a single instance in all the men treated, now numbering nearly twelve hundred, has a man died or his physical condition been injured, but in many cases of rheumatism, neurasthenia and other nervous affections great improvement has been noted."

D. C. JONES, M. D.
Surgeon N. H. D. V. S., Leavenworth Branch.

"I desire to express my gratification with results of the Keeley Cure on those of my troop who have taken it, as well as on other old and good soldiers in other troops that I have known for years. * * * It is noticeable that those requiring and taking the treatment are the very best soldiers in my command."

CAPT. EZRA B. FULLER,
7th Cavalry, Commanding Troop E.

"It becomes my duty to speak with reverence the name of Dr. Leslie E. Keeley."

REV. JENKIN LLOYD JONES, Chicago.

"It is because I know it does save them, because I know it is God's truth, that I take the deepest interest in the Keeley Cure, and so long as I live I shall raise my voice in advocating its efficacy."

RT. REV. JOHN SHANLEY,
Bishop of North Dakota.

EVERS HOT AFTER HAUSER FOR CUBS

Plans Three Cornered Trade in Which Joe Tinker Goes to Cincinnati.

MAY CLOSE TRADE TODAY.

All Leagues, with Exception of Class A. A., Agree on Salary Limits for 1913.

BY SAM WELLER.

Milwaukee, Wis., Nov. 13.—[Special.]—Many minor league trades were made today between business sessions of the annual gathering of the National Association of Professional Baseball Leagues, but one deal among major leagues, involving Joe Tinker of the Cubs, was the most talked of event of the day.

Early in the morning Miller Huggins, successor to Roger Bresnahan as leader of the St. Louis Cardinals, arrived in town, and no sooner had he shown himself at the Pfister hotel than he was grabbed by President Murphy and Manager Evers of the Chicago club. A long conference was held, after which all parties declared that nothing had been done. However, Evers announced that there is one player on the St. Louis club he would like to have, but that Huggins intends to be sure he's right before moving.

Consequently the names of the players involved could not be given out authoritatively, but there seemed to be no doubt that the man on the St. Louis club wanted by Evers is Shortstop Arnold Hauser.

Trade Involves Red Players.

The rest of the deal is supposed to involve Outfielder Mitchell, Shortstop Grant, and Third Baseman Phelan of the Reds. It is supposed that Evers is to trade Tinker for these three players, then turn over Grant and Phelan to St. Louis in exchange for Hauser. In this way St. Louis will get a good shortstop and a third baseman. It is said that Huggins needs a third baseman, too. Chicago will get a fast young shortstop and a veteran outfielder for Tinker and Cincinnati will get a great shortstop and a manager.

Hauser is one of the best fielding shortstops in the league, a smart fellow in a game, and at times has hit exceptionally well. He is a right handed batter, the kind of a clouter Evers demands of the man whom he expects to succeed Tinker.

It is questionable whether the deal can be put through or not because of the expected resistance from the St. Louis end of it. However, it still is pending and further developments may come tomorrow. President Murphy of the Cubs had expected to return to Chicago tonight, but decided to stay here until tomorrow noon. It is believed he is sticking mainly to get further developments on the deal.

Besides this deal Evers made another desperate effort to land Pitcher Doc Watson from the Milwaukee club. It was reported he had offered a big amount of cash for the man and when that was turned down Evers came back with an offer of Outfielder Downs, Pitcher Loudermilk, and Catcher [illegible] in trade for the big southpaw. This, too, was turned down by the local club, and after that Evers said there seemed no hope of getting the [illegible]

Manager Callahan seemed to be talking to every minor league magnate in the assembly, but declared he had nothing in the way of news to give out. Secretary Grabiner of the Sox came up on the morning train with a suitcase full of extra men on the Sox team and he and Cal hoped to sell several to the highest bidder, but not a man was sold. Callahan is not trying to buy any new men, he is here mainly to sell a lot of extra players, and expects to have them on his hands when he leaves tomorrow.

Agree on Salary Limits.

The weighty question of maximum salary limits affecting baseball teams, members of the National Association of Professional Baseball Clubs, was disposed of tonight when all classes, with the exception of A A, reported to the convention as follows:

Class A, $3,600 per month. Class B, $2,500, with the exception of the Northwestern league, which, it was agreed, should be allowed $1,000 additional. Class C, $1,400. Class D, $1,200.

These amounts do not include the salaries of managers. If a manager also holds a playing position an arrangement can be made whereby he may be allowed a certain amount as a player and an additional compensation as manager.

The clubs embraced in class AA, the American association, Pacific coast league, and Eastern league, sent in a sealed report, and it is understood they agreed upon a limit, but as none of the representatives of these clubs was present when the reports were read at the meeting, the amount of salary limit was not made public.

A motion was adopted providing that the secretaries of all leagues report to the national secretary by Feb. 15, 1913, upon individual players in their respective leagues.

The climax of the meeting will be reached tomorrow night when a big banquet will be put on at the Pfister hotel. After the feed a lot of the visitors expect to leave the city, though there will be some business of minor importance to be looked after on Friday

FOGEL A BAD BOOKKEEPER?

Member of Gilmore-Balfour Syndicate Asserts Accounts of Philadelphia Club Were Kept Poorly.

Philadelphia, Pa., Nov. 13.—[Special.]—One of the members of the Gilmore-Balfour syndicate, which has refused to have any further dealings with President Fogel, said today that the reason the deal was declared off was because of the fact that no business man could think of investigating a proposition when the books of the corporation did not show the exact condition of business.

Fogel declared this was not true and that certified accountants audited the books every month and sent a copy of the report to Cincinnati. Why they were sent there Fogel refused to say

An attorney representing Charles P. Taft is in this city looking after the interests of the Tafts and it is said now that Fogel has failed to sell the club that this attorney has been given instructions to go ahead and dispose of the property.

Clymer to Manager Buffalo Team.

Wilkesbarre, Pa., Nov. 13.—William J. Clymer, president and principal owner of the Wilkesbarre baseball team of the New York State league, will manage the Buffalo team of the International league next year.

Final Game for Chicago Boy.

Geneva, N. Y., Nov. 13.—[Special.]—M. J. Barker of Chicago will play his last game for Hobart against Rochester on Saturday. Barker has played a star game at right half and is feared by Rochester. The Hobart-Rochester game is the most important contest of the season in this vicinity.

'PREP' FIVES HAVE THRILLING FINISH

Lake View Team Stops Winning Streak of Lake High Quintet.

GET ONE POINT MARGIN.

Losers Make Desperate Rally in Second Period, but Are Trimmed, 20 to 19.

BY PREP.

Lake View High school lightweights by winning their third practice basketball game stopped the winning streak of Lake High five at Fuller park gymnasium, 20 to 19. The contest was the closest played among high school teams this season.

Lake View took a commanding lead right off the reel and when the first half closed the north siders were in front, 16 to 8. Lake braced wonderfully in the second period and accurate shooting by Huster almost evened up the count in the closing minute of play. The all around work of the Lake View forwards was the feature. Lineup:

Lake View [20].		Lake [19].
Cleveland	R. F.	Knowles
Laist	L. F.	Alcock, S. Portis
Herron	C.	Huster
Wasley	R. G.	Goldfuss, Alcock
Blessing	L. G.	Monroe

Baskets—Cleveland [2], Laist [2], Wasley [2], Blessing [3], Knowles [2], Huster [4], Alcock, Monroe. Free throws—Cleveland [2], Huster [3]. Referee—Nearles. Time of halves—20 and 15 minutes.

Lewis Trims McKinley.

Lewis institute added another victory to its string by defeating McKinley High school, 37 to 22, in the former's gymnasium. Painter shot seven baskets and Wallen made three ringers and seven free throws. The pair scored twenty-seven of the victors' points. For McKinley the Frank brothers and Stanley played the best game. Lineup:

Lewis Institute [37].		McKinley [22].
Painter	R. F.	Stanley
Wallen	L. F.	M. Frank, Wein
Donaho, Stenberg	C.	V. Frank
Phelps, Stein	R. G.	Stearns
Hill	L. G.	Taboreck

Baskets—Painter [7], Stein [4], Wallen [3], V. Frank [3], Stenberg [3], M. Frank [2], Stenberg, Wein. Free throws—Wallen [7], V. Frank [3], Stanley. Referee—Wheeler. Time of halves—20 minutes.

Englewood, 28; Bowen, 16.

After holding the Englewood lightweights to a 16 to 16 tie in the first half, Bowen High school five went to pieces in the second, failing to score. Englewood took the game played in the Bowen gymnasium, 28 to 16. Tance played the star game for the losing five, scoring all the points but two. Lineup:

Englewood [28].		Bowen [16].
Carver	R. F.	Tance
Hayes	L. F.	Ridgley
McPhail, Leviton	C.	Carlson
Lippert, Spahr	R. G.	Stockdale, Cousley
Jacobson	L. G.	Wagner

Baskets—Carver, Hayes [4], McPhail [5], Leviton [3], Jacobson, Tance [5], Wagner. Free throws—Tance [4]. Referee—Brew. Time of halves—20 and 15 minutes.

Easy for Crane Midgets.

Crane Tech midgets encountered little opposition against the Lewis Institute Juniors, winning, 11 to 1, on the former's floor. A free throw by Peare was the only point secured by the losers. The two Bernsteins played the feature offensive game for Crane. Lineup:

Crane H. S. [11].		Lewis Juniors [1].
M. Bernstein	R. F.	Popp
C. Bernstein	L. F.	Zoelin
Newell	C.	Tomaszweski, Peare
Rayspis	R. G.	Colley, Tantozzi
Levinson	L. G.	Field, Tomaszweski

Baskets—Levinson, C. Bernstein [2], M. Bernstein [2]. Free throws—Peare, M. Bernstein. Referee—Bartik. Umpire—Wheeler. Time of halves—20 and 15 minutes.

The Carl Schurz High school five defeated Wilmette, 26 to 22, at the Schurz gymnasium. Ten free throws by Payne won the game.

Marshall High triumphed over St. Philip's five in the former's gymnasium, 21 to 6. Marshall took the lead at the start and never was headed.

IN THE WAKE OF THE NEWS.

BY HUGH S. FULLERTON.

A haze dimming the forest distances; the blue gray dimness that bears the hint of wood smoke; a bronze and green and gold bird, stepping proudly, its scarlet crest dropping, leads a parade of more sober colored birds into the opening, gobbling its reassurance; a raking shot setting the silence of the forest to flight, a wild scurrying, a fluttering mass or two on the grass of the glade. All right, if you want to pay 32 cents a pound for a stringy cold storage gobbler, go ahead. 'Spose one must celebrate Thanksgiving.

How to Earn Money at Home

The purpose of this department is to find profitable employment for women in occupations which they can carry on at home without interfering with their domestic duties. To stimulate suggestions The Tribune will award $1 each for every help published. Address—
Sally Joy Brown, care The Tribune, Chicago.

Have You Such a Book?

BY SALLY JOY BROWN.

HAVE you a magic book—the magic book? The magic bank book that makes all your wishes come true?

A bank book means so many nice things!

It may mean a trip that you have been wanting to take for a long time.

It may mean a pretty party dress for a dance that you are anxious to attend.

It may mean some new furniture for the house.

Or a gift for your husband that is not bought with his own money.

Or something for the children.

There are women to whom it has meant a chance to read the things for which they never before had the time or money.

There are women to whom it has meant the greatest thing of all—peace of mind and freedom from anxiety!

Everything has a beginning—sometimes a very small one, but if the beginning is a good one it will grow into a big, worth while thing that will mean happiness and comfort.

Read this letter:

I have been interested in reading your department, and I wondered if you could find some one who will make for me a gentlemen's crocheted silk tie in a dull blue. I had expected to make it myself, but I find that I shall not have the time to do it before Christmas. I want the real hand made article.

That is just a hint to some of the women who are so clever at making the things.

Are you one of these women?

There was once a woman who made extra nice gingerbread, and she sold it to a few customers. Her trade grew and grew, until now she is supplying bread, cakes, pies, and other good things to several large restaurants.

When are you going to make your small beginning?

Every girl and every woman who wants to earn money for purposes of pleasure or necessity is welcome to come to me for help and suggestions.

I am ready at any and all times to give you the benefit of my years of training and experience in dealing with the problems of the home woman who wants to earn money at home.

Won't you read the story of one woman who accepted my invitation to come to me for the suggestions that she needed? It is a story that will make you feel new hope and courage!

Some time ago I sent you some samples of the calendars that I make. They were not selling, and I wanted to know why. You told me that I was using too expensive a ribbon to make any profit without charging too high a price for the calendars, and that the calendars were too large for desk use; and that was what I was making them for, especially. It would seem that I could have seen these things for myself, but I didn't. You suggested that I use a different color scheme in the mountings and make them more original. I took all the suggestions, and my success was so marked that I even passed my own dreams! Several women who had read my letter in your department wrote to me and ordered cards and calendars of various kinds. I have been making these things for some of the stationery stores, and they are delighted with my work—the very same people who refused to buy it before. I can never tell you how thankful I am that I took you at your word and wrote to you so freely!

Won't you take me at my word and let me help you start that magic book?

Just think of all the joy you will have in planning just how to spend the money which you earn yourself!

Have you had your copy of the booklet, "One Hundred Ways to Earn Money at Home"?

I don't want you to miss it, and the supply is very low, so be sure to write for it today!

Pumpkin Pies.

The making of old-fashioned pumpkin pies helps support one woman. She uses large deep pie tins and puts in an abundance of filling, which she prepares according to the following recipe: Two cups stewed pumpkin, one cup milk, one-half cup molasses, one-half cup sugar, one tablespoonful melted butter, one tablespoonful ginger, one teaspoonful salt, two eggs.

Being of generous size the pies readily sell for 25 cents each.

Making Dolls.

A woman makes dolls—the kind especially adapted to small children. She makes the bodies of a good grade of unbleached muslin and stuffs them with sawdust. The arms are made to bend at the elbows and the legs at the knees. The head is fashioned of cloth, and eyes, nose, mouth, ears, and cheeks are penciled with paints. A small piece of "bearskin" such as used for children's coats, makes good hair. A doll like this, simply dressed, finds a ready market at a good price.

Making Coffee Cakes.

In a small town in the south a woman makes coffee cakes according to the following recipe. They are much in demand:

Cream three-fourths of a cup of sugar and two heaping tablespoons of butter, one egg, well beaten; two cups of flour, three-fourths of a cup of milk, two heaping teaspoons of baking powder, and one-half a teaspoon of salt. Bake in two square cake tins. When baked, butter well and cover top with sugar and cinnamon mixed and a few chopped nuts and put in the oven again for a few minutes.

ELLA FLAGG YOUNG TALKS AGAINST SCHOOL DIVISION.

Tells Club Women She Is Opposed to Separation of Vocational and Academic Branches of Education.

In an address before the Chicago Woman's club yesterday, Mrs. Ella Flagg Young, superintendent of schools, said she was opposed to the separation of the vocational and academic branches of education.

Following her address members of the club expressed their disapproval of the idea, which has been approved by the Chicago Association of Commerce, the Commercial association, and various clubs.

The proposed separation was suggested by Edwin G. Cooley, former superintendent of schools, who will place a bill before the next legislature. Mrs. Young spoke almost an hour and was frequently applauded.

"To separate these two branches of education would do an injury to our educational system that could never be repaired," said Mrs. Young. "The academic and vocational branches have become necessary to each other. If they are separated two educational boards will have to be formed, and it will mean double expense to the state.

"I am opposed to the Cooley bill, which proposes to make the two branches separate. Its only argument is that the system of separate branches is being worked successfully in Germany. In Germany the conditions are different. There they have 'classes and masses.' If this system is adopted here it will be a disgrace to Chicago public schools."

Mrs. Young was followed by Prof. George Meade of the University of Chicago, who agreed with the superintendent.

Charles P. Bradley, an undertaker and liveryman at 1429 West Madison street, yesterday began suit for $50,000 in the Circuit court against the officers and the executive committee of the Chicago Liverymen's association. According to Attorney Charles Soelke, it is charged that the defendants sent cut letters boycotting Bradley.

EXPERTS ON IMMIGRATION CONFER IN CHICAGO TODAY.

Problems Will Be Discussed by Economists and Social Workers from All Parts of the Country.

The problems of immigration—not only those which concern the immigrant, but those affecting the nation—will be considered in Chicago today by students of the subject, economists and social workers from all parts of the country.

The subject will be discussed before the national conference of immigration, land, and labor officials at its second annual meeting, to be held at the La Salle hotel.

Among those who will deliver speeches before the conference are T. V. Powderly, chief of the federal bureau of immigration, the honorary president, and John R. Commons of the University of Wisconsin, president of the conference.

James Mullenbach of Chicago, the executive secretary, said one of the most vital problems of immigration at present is the exploitation of the newcomers by labor agents, "runners" for fraudulent concerns, and unscrupulous hotelkeepers and expressmen. Suggestions will be offered, he said, for eliminating these evils.

TYPES 116 WORDS A MINUTE.

Florence Wilson of New York Breaks Record by Keeping Up Speed for an Hour.

New York, Nov. 13.—Miss Florence E. Wilson of this city today eclipsed all fast typewriting records by writing at the rate of 116 words a minute for one hour. The best previous record was 112 words a minute.

In an amateur contest Miss Margaret D. Owen also surpassed all former records with an average speed of 116 words a minute.

Both contests were conducted under the auspices of the national business show.

U. S. BUILDING FLAG UP AGAIN.

Man Climbs Seventy Foot Pole to Replace Emblem Which Had Been Down for Four Days.

The nation's emblem of red, white, and blue is again unfurled over the dome of the federal building. Since Saturday the flag has been down, for the first time since the construction of the United States building. Through Fred S. Southerland the banner was put up again yesterday morning, despite a dangerous wind. Southerland climbed the seventy foot flagpole and remained there for more than an hour putting up a copper and steel cable to hold the flag.

TO STOP DANDRUFF

This Homemade Mixture Stops Dandruff and Falling Hair and Aids Its Growth.

To a half pint of water add:

Bay Rum	1 oz.
Barbo Compound	a small box
Glycerine	¼ oz.

These are all simple ingredients that you can buy from any druggist at very little cost, and mix them yourself. Apply to the scalp once a day for two weeks, then once every other week until all the mixture is used. A half pint should be enough to rid the head of dandruff and kill the dandruff germs. It stops the hair from falling out, relieves itching and scalp diseases.

Although it is not a dye, it acts upon the hair roots and will darken streaked, faded, gray hair in ten or fifteen days. It promotes the growth of the hair and makes harsh hair soft and glossy.—Advertisement.

How to Fight Cost of Living

Forming New Eating Habits

BY MARY ELEANOR O'DONNELL.

MANY of the letters that come to this department bring out the thought that new eating habits will have to form a part of the advancement of the future. The acquiring of them will also help materially to solve the present day big problem of the high cost of living.

The American family must be trained how to eat sensibly, how to get the greatest food values and how to eliminate unnecessary eating, to distinguish between the food that builds up the body and the food that merely tickles the palate.

Meat probably is the most expensive proteid food there is!

The American housewife will be obliged to give a little more time and more careful attention to the study of foods and food values and to the real art of cooking so that she can prepare appetizing dishes from foods other than meat. Or, with the addition of small quantities of meat she will find that she can provide an astonishing variety of nutritious and enjoyable meals at small cost.

◆

Dr. A. L. Benedict, a prominent English scientist, recently said:

"Food seldom receives the attention economically from the average individual that it deserves. The true nutritive value of foodstuffs in families is seldom appreciated. Their economics is limited to a knowledge of prices at which one can afford to purchase them, their freshness and palatability. Almost the entire trade in food considers nothing but price and unit of measure.

"It is important to consider the possible economics in food supply as the cost and hygienic requirements."

◆

The cost of food can be greatly reduced, it is true, if one knows food values.

Today there is no reason why any woman should not know food values. The public library shelves are filled with most helpful books on this subject.

Any woman has but to apply to the public library to get the benefit of such books.

We want practical views on this deeply interesting subject.

Have you any other theory or practical hint in regards to solving the high cost of living?

Has it been published?

If not, won't you send it to THE TRIBUNE?

THE TRIBUNE wishes to publish direct personal experiences of those who have successfully solved the problem of living within their income.

Your name will not be published if you do not wish it.

For every suggestion published $1 will be paid.

Address Mary Eleanor O'Donnell, TRIBUNE, Chicago.

◆

Some Weapons for the Fight.

"Some fine weapons to use in a war on the high cost of living are to be found among the following suggestions:

"Pay cash for everything.

"Buy in large quantities, as you always save thereby.

"Don't, because you have a whole barrel of sugar, entertain any fear that you'll never get to see the bottom of the barrel.

"Do all your own baking. I have learned by experience that $1 invested in flour will make forty loaves of bread the size of a baker's loaf, and the same amount invested in bread at a bakery would purchase only twenty loaves.

"Lard can be used as a substitute for butter with perfect results in any cake if a pinch of salt is added, and never be detected.

"Use gingerbread made without eggs and the eggless kind of cakes whenever eggs are high.

"When the price of potatoes is high use rice, cornmeal, and small grits. These foods are very nutritious, and should be used very freely by those who desire to be economical. Mush made of nice, fresh, sweet meal, cooked thin and well done, to which has been added a bit of pure lard, can be eaten with cream and sugar for breakfast.

"Mush cooked thick and let stand until cold can be sliced, dipped in egg, and fried nicely. This is nice with sirup for breakfast, or a splendid substitute for potatoes. Small grits are fine if boiled plain to serve for breakfast with cream and sugar, cost 2½ cents a pound, and one-half pound will serve six people. When cold can be sliced, dipped in egg, and fried the same as mush. Left over grits also make an excellent 'rice' pudding with the addition of egg, milk, sugar, and lemon flavoring. Lest we forget, cornmeal pancakes with home made sirup are very fine.

"Use meat but once a day. This will prove beneficial to both the stomach and purse. Use only the cheaper cuts of meat and cook them properly. Get soup meat on wash and ironing day, and serve your family with a fine, hot rice soup for supper. The following day run the soup meat through the food grinder, add egg, milk, and stale bread crumbs, and season with onion or sage. Bake in a loaf, garnish with parsley. There you have a tempting dish of cheap meat for dinner at a cost of 15 or 20 cents. Soup meat also makes fine wet or dry hash for breakfast. Use salt pork, which can be had for 14 cents a pound, instead of breakfast bacon for 28 cents.

"The housewife should practice economy in everything. She should do all her own housework, including sewing, and teach all she knows along these lines to the daughters.

"As children must have some sweets, learn to make nice home made candies for them. Home made candy is always cheaper and far more wholesome.

"Always keep the children in mind when preparing meals, so it won't be necessary for them to sit and watch papa and mamma enjoy a few grindstones at dinner while they are forced to eat soap bubbles and wash them down with plain water. Let every meal be a compromise. Give the little ones consideration.

"Don't invest in silk hose or sox until you earn more than enough in one day to pay for one pair.

"Ask 'hubby' to please cut down on his expenses for drink and tobacco, while 'wifey' tries so hard to economize in every possible manner. Unfortunately, too often King Alcohol makes living impossible and existence miserable.

Buys Goods in Bulk.

"We are a family of three—husband, wife, and baby—with hearty appetites. I find it best to allow 'so much' for groceries and meat and I always order with the thought of making my grocery bill less if possible and yet set a good table I do all ordering by telephone and pay at the end of each month. I send back any article that fails to please me.

"I trade at a department store and my grocery bill always includes small articles of dry goods and I buy oil, smoking tobacco and cigars, butter, milk, eggs, and all groceries—well, everything it is possible to get at the one store. I buy in bulk everything that I can, such as flour, lard, soap, beans, cocoa, sugar, etc., and arrange to 'lay in' a supply of certain articles one month and something else the next. That way I keep within my allowance each month.

"I buy apples and potatoes when they are cheapest; also eggs, and I pack them in waterglass to use during the winter when others are paying 40 cents a dozen. I use all leftovers in the many different ways and never waste meat fryings. I do all my baking except bread and put up two meals in the lunch bucket, as my husband only has dinner at home.

"Our grocery bill ranges from $14 to $16 a month and that includes the meat.

"MRS. V. W., Fort Madison, Ia."

Suggests Purchasing Agent.

"Is there not a field for a purchasing agent to do the buying for a club of housewives? For example, a woman qualified by her own experience could purchase the meat supplies for a dozen or more homes. She could call on each one and advise them and secure a list of the kind and amount of meat desired for each day of the ensuing week. With this list, calling for 150 or more pounds of meat, she could make terms with the retail merchant for cash, that would leave a margin of profit for retailer, consumer, and agent. She should be able to counsel with them as to value of the various cuts, availability of cheaper pieces, management of leftovers, checking waste, and in general teach them to eat to live rather than live to eat.

"The same method can be applied to coöperative purchase, in quantities, of all kinds of food for individual families at a saving of 20 to 25 per cent.

News of Music and Theaters.

Pretty Music in "My Little Friend."

"MY LITTLE FRIEND."

Comic opera, in prologue and two acts, from a German libretto of Willner and Stein, by Harry B. and Robert B. Smith, with music by Oscar Straus. Sung in Chicago for the first time Monday, Nov. 11, by the following cast:

Count Henri Artois	Louis Harrison
Fernand, his son	Alfred Kappeler
Barbasson	George O'Donnell
Mme. Barbasson	Edith Sinclair
Claire, their daughter	Juanita Fletcher
Louison, artist's model	Gertrude Hutcheson
Philine, a florist	Fern Rogers
Saturin	Charles Angelo
Mouchon, valet to Barbasson	Harry MacDonough
Dr. La Fleur, Egyptologist	A. Lionel Hogarth
Margot, maid	Blanche Sherwood
Piperlin, a chauffeur	William Mack

NOTHING better in the way of an "attached" score than that of "My Little Friend" has been brought hither in the tentative renaissance of operetta. Indeed, the Oscar Straus music presented at the Studebaker is superior as music to that of Straus' earlier work, "The Waltz Dream," a failure here, but a composition of far greater value than the score of "The Chocolate Soldier."

The new piece fairly radiates good melody of the best school of continental operetta. There is at least one waltz, a lente movement that takes title from the play, which transcends in sheer beauty the "My Hero" song, although not at all likely, for just this reason, ever to win the popularity that marked the latter; and there are marches, polkas, and a schottische that sparkle in their purity and humor. For Oscar Straus is that rara-avis among latter day composers of light melody, a musical humorist. Of sixteen distinct melodies in the score of "My Little Friend," twelve at least are well worth while.

But the expressed enthusiasm evoked by the score is not to be translated into terms of prophecy as to the success of "My Little Friend" with the general theatergoer. Straus' beautiful music is wedded to as stupid an example of translated libretto as even the brothers Smith have yet committed. No intimate knowledge of continental freedom in the matter of comic opera "books" is required to discern in the mild and slow paced "argument" of "My Little Friend" an original that required bichloride and the dry cleaner. The Messrs. Smith provided the chemical and performed the necessary eradicatory functions, but they left the libretto of Herren Willner und Stern shrieking for the pulmotor.

It would seem that they would have fared better had they undertaken a new story, disregarding everything in the original save the delightful Straus score. They have fitted fairly singable but commonplace verses to the delicious music. Their part of the work betrays no more enterprise than necessary to carry them through a routine job, and they have been helped none whatever by the conventional, unimaginative manner in which Frank Smithson has placed the operetta on the stage. However, it is well to remember, in respect to both the Messrs. Smith and Mr. Smithson, that the German authors may have imposed restrictions in just these items, and that neither the translators nor the stage director enjoyed desirable liberty in preparing the piece for the American theater.

Mr. F. C. Whitney, an impresario of light opera whose career has been marked by a well-nigh uninterrupted effort to preserve the best traditions of that form, has cast the piece as well, perhaps, as the market permits. Nearly all the principals know how to sing, and those who do not know how are not without the means of singing. Thus, Miss Fern Rogers, on whom falls the real burden of the score, has an excellent light soprano, and, so far as might be discerned from listening to her, not the slightest idea of what to do with it. The Misses Gertrude Hutcheson and Juanita Fletcher, less gifted vocally, had greater resources of art. The three young women were, to the eye, a delightful trio of hoydens clandestinely bent on realizing their own amatory ideals.

Mr. Alfred Kappeler attacked manfully the chief sentimental rôle among the men, and managed a difficult task rather well, when his physical shortcomings for the work were allowed for. The fugitive lines in the text that drew laughter appeared to be the personal contribution of Mr. Louis Harrison, who, as always, was delightful in a tie-wiggy sort of a part that offered small opportunity.

Small use is made of the chorus, the members of which, however, can sing. The veteran De Novellis directed the best light opera orchestra of recent seasons with his accustomed ease and effectiveness. The piece is set with quiet, tasteful beauty.

First of Elmendorf Lectures.

The first of the Elmendorf lectures of the season was given before a large audience at Orchestra hall last evening. The lecturer's purpose in this series of picture talks is to show his fellow travelers, so many of whom have toured Europe with him, some of the picture places of home—meaning the United States.

He started last night from his own residence in New York state and took them from there in one long jump into Colorado. There in a series of wonderful mountain pictures he showed Cheyenne cañon, the Garden of the Gods, Pike's Peak, the Royal Gorge, Holy Cross mountain, and the Black cañon, concluding this part of his tour with interesting photographs of the pueblo of Taos.

The second part of the journey passed through the more important of the mining towns of Colorado and the lecture ended with kinetoscope pictures of a drive through Crystal park and colored views of the flowers that bloom with such strange luxuriance in Colorado's desert places.

"Ben Hur" at the Colonial.

"Ben Hur" is undergoing impressive revival at the Colonial, where, oddly enough, it appears to as much advantage as it did in the more spacious area of the Auditorium. The Colonial's large stage is of more than sufficient capacity to accommodate the vast equipment of scenery and players, and the moderate size of the theater permits the dramatic part of the exhibition to be more effectively staged than usual. By way of statistics there are sixteen "steeds" in the chariot race and 200 players in the crowds, ballets, etc. The ballets are especially attractive this season, the dancers therein being as graceful and good looking as those of any musical comedy in town. Ben Hur is acted by Thomas Holding in a somewhat fragile fashion; Miss Muriel Godfrey-Turner is an imposing Iras, and Miss Louise Huff plays Tirzah competently.

Donald Brian in "The Siren."

Donald Brian, Miss Julia Sanderson, and "The Siren," forming as pleasant a musical comedy trio as is to be compiled these days, are again in town playing this time at the Chicago Opera house. That genial clown, Will West, is also there, making the affair a quartet in fact by adding the gusto of his burly buffoonery to the somewhat quiet tale. Last season "The Siren" was the most popular of the musical comedy visitants. Its score by Leo Fall, among the prettiest of its kind, is still sung and danced in a manner approaching perfection by Mr. Brian and Miss Sanderson, who have a new number or two by way of refreshing the entertainment.

Loving Cup to Chauncey Olcott.

Litt & Dingwall, proprietors of McVicker's theater, presented Chauncey Olcott with a loving cup yesterday afternoon.

-From Near and Far-

Why We Are Right Handed.

Primitive man, being by nature a fighting animal, fought for the most part at first with his great canine teeth, his nails, and his fists, till in process of time he added to those early and natural weapons the further persuasions of a club or shillalah. He also fought, as Darwin has conclusively shown, in the main for the possession of the ladies of his kind, against other members of his own sex and species. And if you fight you soon learn to protect the most exposed and vulnerable portion of your body. Or, if you don't, natural selection manages it for you by killing you off as an immediate consequence.

To the boxer, wrestler, or hand-to-hand combatant that most vulnerable portion is undoubtedly the heart. A hard blow, well delivered, on the left breast, will easily kill or, at any rate, stun a strong man. Hence, from an early period men have used the right hand to fight with and have employed the left arm chiefly to cover the heart and to parry a blow aimed at that specially vulnerable region. And when weapons of offense and defense supersede mere fists and teeth it is the right hand that grasps the spear or sword, while the left holds over the heart for defense the shield or buckler.

From this simple origin then the whole vast difference of right and left in civilized life takes its beginning. At first, no doubt, the superiority of the right hand was only felt in the manner of fighting. But that alone gave it a distinct pull and paved the way at last for the supremacy elsewhere. For when weapons came into use the habitual employment of the right hand to grasp the spear, sword, or knife made the nerves or muscles of the right side far more obedient to the control of the will than those of the left. The dexterity thus acquired by the right—see how the word "dexterity" implies this fact—made it more natural for the early hunter and artificer to employ the same hand preferentially in the manufacture of flint hatchets, bows and arrows, and all the other manifold activities of savage life. It was the hand with which he grasped his weapon; it was therefore the hand with which he chipped it. To the end, however, the right hand remains especially "the hand in which you hold your knife"; and that is exactly how your own children to this day decide the question which is which when they begin to know their right hand from their left for practical purposes.

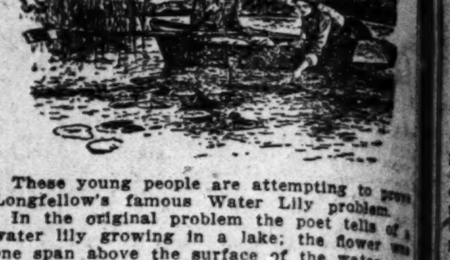
HERE, WE HAVE A HORSE DOCTOR



These young people are attempting to prove Longfellow's famous Water Lily problem. In the original problem the poet tells of a water lily growing in a lake; the flower was one span above the surface of the water, and when swayed by the breeze would touch the surface at a distance of two cubits, from which data it was desired to compute the depth of the lake.

Now, let us suppose, as shown in the sketch, that the water lily is ten inches above the surface of the water, and that if it were pulled over to one side it would disappear under the surface at a point distant twenty-one inches from where it now stands; say just where the young lady is supposed to have drawn it, which shows that the two flowers are anchored to the same root at the bottom of the lake.

From the data given, can you compute the exact depth of the lake?

Queer Beliefs.

The Fijian cannibal's emotions have reference for the greater part to food, so he worships the god Matawaloo, who has eight stomachs and is always eating.

The Tongans have a very curious dogma to account for a day and night being twenty-four hours long. It used to be less; the sun used to go down too quick. So one day a man caught it with a noose and it had to go slower thereafter.

The ancient Peruvians believed that the sun once came down to the earth and laid two eggs and then went back again. From these two eggs men sprung.

The American Indians had a dogma that the sun was the one supreme god, and the moon was his wife. One tribe inhabiting a fearfully hot district worshiped the moon alone, saying that they had no use for the sun.

In the days of Columbus scientific dogmas asserted: If a ship should reach India it could never get back again, because the rotundity of the globe would present a kind of mountain up which it would be impossible to sail even with the most favorable wind.

Woman Does the Courting.

In the Ukraine, Russia, the maiden is the one that does all the courting. When she falls in love with a man she goes to his house and tells him the state of her feelings. If he reciprocates all is well, and a formal marriage is duly arranged. If, however, he is unwilling, she remains there, hoping to coax him into a better mind. The poor fellow cannot treat her with the least discourtesy or turn her out, for her friends would be sure to avenge the insult. His best chance, therefore, if he is really determined that he won't, is to leave his home and stay away as long as she is in it.

PROGRESSIVE PARTY WOMEN PLAN TO CALL CONVENTION.

Details for Continuation of Campaign Will Be Mapped Out at Meeting to Be Held This Winter.

Women of the Progressive party in Illinois will hold a convention in Chicago during December or January at which plans for a continuation of the fight for the new party will be mapped out.

This was decided upon yesterday at a meeting of the women leaders at the Hotel La Salle. The convention will be called for a date to be set after the meeting of the Progressive national committee, which will be held here Dec. 11 and 12.

Mrs. Raymond Robins and Mrs. J. F. Bentley of Freeport were appointed by the chairman, Mrs. John F. Bass, a committee to arrange for the convention and to invite all the leading Progressive women workers in the state to attend. The purpose will be to outline a publicity and educational campaign that will be carried out energetically.

Miss Frances A. Kellar of New York, a member of the Progressive national committee, was present.

"We women must decide upon some course which will keep our cause uppermost in the minds of all," she said. "Correspondence courses, different forms of educational advertising, and the training of speakers for future campaigns must all be discussed.

"We must not allow the movement to die down now and then try to revive it just before the next campaign. We must keep working at all times."

Miss Kellar suggested the forming of a legislative bureau where legislation advocated by the Progressives could be watched and prepared.

Y. M. C. A. LAUNCHES LECTURES ON EUGENICS BY DR. EVANS.

Physician Discusses Influence on Child of Heredity and Environment of Mother.

In the first of a series of lectures on eugenics to be given during the next five weeks in the auditorium of the of the Central Y. M. C. A., Dr. W. A. Evans spoke yesterday afternoon on the "Heredity of Physical Character" to a large audience. Dr. Evans will lecture each Wednesday at noon.

"One of the best arguments for eugenics is the Darwin family," said Dr. Evans. "Charles Darwin put forward the study of evolution of the species through breeding and environment. His father, Erasmus Darwin, was the first to suggest the influence of environment on types. Sir Francis Galton, a descendant of Darwin, founded the science of eugenics. Leonard Darwin was president of the first international eugenics congress.

"The first two Darwins believed environment affected the race more than inheritance. The two latter Darwins believed just the opposite. The environment of the mother before the child is born will have no effect on the child. Whatever shock may affect the mother will have no influence on the child. The teachings of Mendelism show heredity has more influence over the development of the child than environment."

Dr. Evans' next lecture will be on 'The Heredity of Mental and Moral Characteristics."

The World's Cooks

By Jane Eddington

The English Oyster.

LONDON.

As I peep into places where I do not exactly wish to go I often see most curiosity provoking sights, and I enter. Lately I peered in where there was on a high counter a succession of plates with a roll on each, and standing by each plate large pepper and vinegar bottles. Between every two places, hanging against the counter, was a short roller towel. You cannot eat oysters with your fingers without getting them soiled. The window of the tiny place had nothing but oysters in it.

By the way, this towel provision seemed exceptional, for in none except the most expensive places in London do you get a napkin unless you pay extra for it. Napkins are never furnished, seeemingly, at the afternoon tea at home, nor are you given one in the most expensive tea places.

I cannot study the great oyster question in England, where they consider their oysters the best in the world, as thoroughly as I ought, for I am not an oyster epicure. The oysters here are much smaller than those of the east and south of our country, but not so small as those in California. They say their oysters are but a quarter the size of ours, but I should say they were about half the size, if not more.

At Harrod's I saw Whitstable natives, Colchester natives (Colchester and Whitstable seem to be the sources of the largest and best supply), Dutch natives, deep sea cooking, and American blue points.

I went to Pimm's oyster rooms and restaurant yesterday and saw other people eat oysters, but I indulged in white bait, eating about a tenth of what was brought me, and pheasant. In watching others eat oysters from the flat, small shells of the English oysters I nearly decided that some men were eating them as an agreeable flavor to a great deal of vinegar.

Pimm's, by the way, sends oysters all over the world. It has its market at Billingsgate, but its restaurant is the great place, much frequented. It boasts of being one of the oldest eating places in London. Like the other places, it boasts of having one beam that is as old as the fire of London.

This one beam story becomes amusing in time, although I do not doubt that these beams are old. Those I have seen look old. They have been punched enough times, as proof of their age, to be old.

Pimm's is interesting, but it is one of the places without a book telling its history, more's the pity! I could read some of its history in sagging windows. In the kitchen at the top of the building were forty cooks working as hard as they could to meet the demands of the people in the many little rooms below.

In her introduction to "Oysters à la Mode" Mrs. De Salis says that oysters nowhere attain such perfection as in "our seas." "The more delicate and smallest kinds are called natives, and are used for eating; the coarser kinds are called the deep sea oysters and are dredged for and are used for cooking. . . . Real lovers of oysters maintain that no oyster is worth eating till it is quite two years old. Their age is known by their shell, just the same as the age of a tree is known by its bark, or a fish by its scales, and the smaller the oyster the finer the flavor. Many esteem the Colchester pyfleet as the best, though the native Milton is reckoned the fattest and whitest."

Mrs. De Salis tells how men formerly ate a gross of oysters at the beginning of a meal and even more, and she says that not one man in a thousand knows how to open an oyster, and still less how to eat it.

"The ordinary system which is employed at the oyster shops is radically false, for all the juice is lost and the oyster is left to become dry and insipid upon the flat shell, which effectually answers as a drain to convey off the liquid, which is to the oyster what the milk is to the cocoanut. Those who wish to eat oysters as they should be eaten should act as follows:

"Hold the mollusk firmly in a cloth; insert the point of a knife neatly just before the edge of the upper shell; give a quick, decided pressure until the point is felt to glide along the polished inner surface of the under shell; force it sharply to the hinge; give a smart wrench rather toward the right hand and off comes the shell.

"Then pass the knife quickly under the oyster; separate it from its attachment; let it fall into the lower shell, floating in its juice; lift it quickly to the lips and eat it before the delicate aroma has been dissipated in the atmosphere."

Food and Cookery and the Catering World for October, C. Herman Senn's magazine, has an article on "Oyster Lore" with the following recipe:

"OYSTER TIMBALES—Take a dozen large sauce oysters, remove their beards and put these with the oyster liquor into a saucepan and boil up with three tablespoons of rich white sauce. When well reduced strain into a basin, add a little cream and let cool. Stir in two yolks of eggs and a cupful of finely crushed cracknels or milk biscuits (crackers). Divide the oysters into quarters and mix with the above. Season to taste with salt, pepper, and a pinch of cayenne. Whisk the whites of two eggs to a stiff froth and incorporate with the above. Fill the mixture into several small well buttered plain timbale molds and bake them for about half an hour. Unmold the cakes on a hot dish and serve with or without sauce."

The Letter Box.

Date Cake.

Cut into very small bits a cupful of stoned dates, and add to them a cup of hot water and a teaspoonful of baking soda. Set aside to cool while you prepare one-half cupful of nutmeats and one tablespoonful of melted butter creamed with a cup of sugar and one beaten egg. Mix all these ingredients together, stir in the drained dates and one and a quarter cups of flour. Bake in a moderate oven for forty-five minutes. When taken from the oven sprinkle with powdered sugar and serve at once.—Kindness of Mrs. F. M.

How to Frost Glass.

"Having received many benefits from your able household corner I grasp the first opportunity offered me to express my appreciation in answer to 'Mrs. John G.'s' query, 'How to frost glass':

"To one pint of stale beer add about two-thirds of the usual 5 cents' worth of epsom salts. Dissolve thoroughly before applying.

"M. J. B."

Banishing Red Ants.

"If 'M. H. M. D.' will let me have her address I will tell her how to use oil of sassafras. It utterly and forever banished red ants which had tormented me for two or three seasons, despite every suggestion of relief that I tried, perhaps twenty. I will write to her more particularly.

A. F."

Keeping Brass Faucets Bright.

"Inquiry of 'V. S. Q.' relative to keeping brass faucets bright, noted:

"This housekeeper will find her efforts toward having an immaculate kitchen greatly aided, so far as the faucets are concerned, at least, by polishing them brightly and then applying a heavy coating of collodion, previously warmed. The ideal way to do this would be to unscrew the faucet, then dip it; but a camel's hair brush will do nicely otherwise.

"Perhaps the rarity of tarnished silver in jewelry shops has been noticed; the collodion bath is the explanation of the whole secret. Warm water will quickly remove the coating.

"HAROLD V. N."

Rainproofing a Cravenette.

"In reply to inquiry of 'R. M.' for a formula for rainproofing an old cravenette, I will quote from an author in the Chicago public library on rainproofing cloth, viz: Two ounces alum, one ounce sugar of lead, twenty quarts of spring water. Strain off to clear. Let the garment soak forty-eight hours. Hang up until dry, then brush well.

J. O. D."

Copy of "The Maniac."

"Please tell 'Mrs. C. C. H.' that I have some white embroidery patterns she may have if wanted.

"Also a copy of 'The Maniac,' which is in 'Swan's District School reader,' and was written by 'Lewis.'

JULIA A. P."

Regarding Marriage of Cousins.

"I should say to 'M. F. F.' with regard to cousins marrying: I have known personally of ten cases of cousins marrying. All had children, perfectly healthy, as well as mentally perfect.

"Who can say in the cases you mention that the lunatic children were the result of the parents being cousins? That might happen to people if they were not related. How many cases you see of deformed and foolish children where the parents were not related? Medical science gives us another reason for this.

"The mayor of one of our large cities married his first cousin. They have five as smart and good looking children as any parents could wish. When an intelligent man shows us an example of that kind why should people be afraid? You will find that it is nothing more than a foolish superstition to believe such things, just like a lot of other foolish sayings, like the 'number thirteen' being unlucky.

"MARGARET D."

Kerosene a Good Remedy.

"'M. H. M. D.': An ounce of prevention is worth a pound of dead ants! With a small rag dipped in kerosene draw a circle on the floor around each leg of the refrigerator. If the refrigerator is built in draw a line carefully around the doors of the food chambers. Not an ant will cross it! If the enemy returns when this has evaporated repeat the dose. Treat kitchen sinks in the same way. If one objects to the odor, then remember that no ant, of any size or color, will ever climb onto a coal or gas range or even a gas plate, either hot or cold. Set everything which may be covered with ants on a cold stove and watch them flee your house. A member of my family has dedicated the following verse to me:

"'Sing aloud the praise of King Kerosene,
Near this household agent ants are never seen!
Insects of all nations hate its pungent smell,
For they know its presence voices their death knell.'

"A. C."

A Cure for Red Ants.

"In answer to 'M. H. M. D.': Table salt is a sure cure for red ants. Use salt freely upon the shelves and window sills. Also, spread ground cloves or borax upon the shelves to get rid of black ants, and leave it several weeks.

"MRS. A. A. B."

Another Red Ant Cure.

"Please inform 'M. H. M. D.' that fresh parsley strewn on the shelves of her refrigerator will drive away the red ants. It is a remedy given in the Corner two years ago, and which I found good.

ELIZA K."

Lillian Russell's Beauty Secrets.

By Lillian Russell

Individuality.

[Copyright: 1912: By Lillian Russell.]

With the superior beauty of face and figure that American women possess they should be the women of all women to stand for beauty.

Foreign social leaders and beauty specialists come to our shores and criticise our women. They all admit that our women dress better in the daytime than do their country women, but they declare that American women lack taste and individuality in evening dress, and they seem to resent the fact that our women dress too much alike.

In a way they are right, but it is observable only for the reason that our well dressed women are numbered by the thousands whereas the well dressed women of their countries are numbered only by the hundreds or less.

Individuality in dress is dangerous excepting to the few who are artists. With the knowledge of artistic forms and colors a woman could let her fancy have full sway and each creation would be a revelation of beauty and fitness. But the majority of women know little of art—though they mean well—and they want to make the best of themselves. Therefore they rely upon the artistic few as models.

Imitation is the sincerest flattery, and the woman who has no individual taste is clever who puts herself in the hands of an expert who can dress her properly.

It takes a courageous, clever, artistic woman to defy fashions and dress according to her own ideas of beauty. A woman who parades her ignorance of taste and discretion in dress and does not care how she looks does not sufficiently respect what God has given her, and there is always discord between her outer and inner self.

A woman should care what she wears for her own sake and for the sake of those about her. It is a serious fault and not a virtue to be reckless of the impression one leaves on the eye, just as it is a fault to be indifferent to the feelings of others. In either case there is a sad absence of those subtle and beautiful perceptions that go to make a delicate and gentle mind.

Individuality should be expressed in the selection of suitable colors. One wonderful woman of my acquaintance looked like a madonna when dressed in white, so she never wore colors of any description. Winter and summer found her always in white. Another woman who was celebrated for beauty always wore gray. A woman who knows that one certain color is wonderfully becoming to her should in duty to herself always affect that color.

Dress should express the person and not disguise. Less time at the dressmaker's and more time devoted to dress would be beneficial. Dress should express character and taste.

Remember: Dress bears the same relation to the body as speech to the brain; therefore, dress is the speech of the body.

Lillian Russell's Answers.

MILDRED: How do you know that you have too much blood? That is not for you to say. Do not attempt to take any remedies, for you are liable to ruin your health. I would advise you to consult your physician and abide by his advice.

LURA C.: I am sorry, but I cannot send you the formula you ask for. However, I shall be glad to send you the treatment by which a number of friends of mine have developed their busts upon receipt of a stamped addressed envelope. This treatment is absolutely harmless.

Laura Jean Libbey's Advice

By Laura Jean Libbey

Misplaced Attachments.

[Copyright: 1912: By Laura Jean Libbey.]

Does it surprise you to know that a hasp should be put upon thoughts, which are supposed to have the right to swing clear, to and fro through the brain, without let or hindrance? The hasp is to shut them in that they may not exit at will.

Despite all that I have observed, heard, and read upon the subject, men and maids do not look and love—in other words, fall in love at first sight. There may be a subtle attraction which draws the one to the other—for instance, a smile, an indescribable something in a glance which thrills both hearts simultaneously, or the cadence of a voice. But, when each has turned away after this first greeting, romance would not begin between them unless Cupid sent thought to light the fires of interest and to see that they were kept in a constant blaze. attachments. mind to dwell upon a love that is not worth affection. The motto should be, friendship only, until one is well acquainted with the habits, the interests, and the life of the one who would seek more than friendship—affection, which leads to the altar.

When a person gives herself or himself up to dreaming of an unworthy object, each should know full well that the outcome of it is unhappiness, bound about by bands of steel which cannot be broken easily. When the object of one's affections ceases to be worthy of the tender sentiment one should have no hesitancy in breaking away unless the marriage tie binds them. In that case it is wisest to make the best of a poor bargain. The victim of misplaced attachments has need of sympathy, for he has a heavy burden to carry.

A noble affection inspires a man to his highest endeavors. An ignoble affection—a misplaced attachment—drags him down, robs him of ambition, hope, and the feeling that he has made the most out of life. Love makes or mars us—makes angels of some and desperadoes of others. Nothing could be more pitiful, more cruel, than a misplaced attachment.

Her Brother-in-Law Interferes.

"Dear Miss Libbey: I am a girl of 17. I have a brother-in-law. Do you think my brother-in-law has any business to interfere with my company? A couple of boy friends called on me the other night. He came in there and insulted them, and even told them to go home. Is he jealous? Should I ignore his action?

"LIZZY."

Do you live with your brother-in-law? If you are in his house you must be under his control to some extent. You are too young to be entertaining men friends. You should wait for at least two or three years before you bother your head about the boys.

* *

A "Deceitful Fiance."

"Dear Miss Libbey: I am 22 and am engaged to a promising young man of 27 with a good business career ahead of him. I am to be married to him next June, but this is what I want to know: He is away from me nine months each year and he writes and tells me his love for me and what we will do when I am his wife and when he is settled at his profession.

"But our trouble is this: He and I were engaged in June this year and he never said a thing about the ring, only I would get it at Christmas. He took another girl to a party in July and he would not take her to a county fair in September, as the boys and girls of his home town said that he said he was tired of her.

"I came to think that he was tired of me also, and I don't know what to do. I sometimes think I will give him a good talking to and again I can nail him to the cross, and I feel like throwing him out of my mind. I would call him a deceitful fiancé, would you not? I am a much worried sweetheart. G."

Why not have a straight talk with the fellow and let him know how you feel in regard to the matter. I think this would be a wise thing to do. It would clear the atmosphere, anyhow. No embittered words, threats, or tears, but simply a straight, practical talk telling him how his actions have displeased you.

* *

Wants Him to Give Up Brewery.

"Dear Miss Libbey: I am a German and have been keeping company with a pretty girl of Irish descent for the last two years. I love this girl dearly, but there is one thing that causes our hearts to beat as two, and that is I must dispose of my brewery interests. I cannot understand why she takes this attitude. I do not drink and she knows it. Her father owns a large distillery and is a sober and industrious man. I think that she is foolish in asking me to do such a thing. I have plenty and have a nice home. What would you advise in a case like the above? OSCAR."

It seems to me that the girl is rather unreasonable in her demands. She probably realizes, however, the stigma that is attached to the liquor business in all its branches and wishes to avoid it.

CEREAL MARKETS UNDER PRESSURE

Liquidation in December Future is Feature in All Pits; Demand Is Limited.

FOREIGN CABLES LOWER.

Larger Receipts of Corn and Oats Indicated; Fine Weather Is Predicted.

Liverpool cables again failed to reflect any anxiety over the political situation abroad, and prices at the close in the English market were ½@⅝d lower. The decline there was due to the increased Russian offerings, the free offers of Canadian wheat, and to the fact that big receipts at both American and Canadian centers indicate liberal supplies. Moreover, Argentine reports were reassuring.

Other foreign markets, with the exception of Paris, were weak. Antwerp unchanged, Berlin ⅝c off, and Budapest 2⅛c off. Paris was unchanged to ¼c up for wheat and ¼c higher for flour. With the foreign cables heavy, local bulls sold wheat freely, and there was scattered liquidation in the December. Final prices were ½c lower. Shorts were fair buyers on the break.

Northwest Receipts Big.

Northwest receipts were large, failing to show any indication of a falling off in the movement. Arrivals at the two points were 1,136 cars, compared to 522 cars a year ago, or more than double. Winnipeg had 898 cars; last year, 459 cars. Primary arrivals were 2,156,000 bu, compared to 783,000 bu a year ago. Local arrivals were 128 cars, with 97 for today. Clearances for the day were 692,000 bu, wheat and flour. Cash sales were 60,000 bu.

The cash demand was slow here and at outside markets. Minneapolis premiums were ½c lower relatively, best grades of No. 1 northern being quoted 2c over the December, with mills less anxious. Kansas City and Omaha prices were sharply lower on the cash stuff, and the demand, both export and domestic, was called slow. Omaha cash wheat was 1½@1⅝c lower. The fact that the export rate via the gulf is to be raised Dec. 1 2½c is expected to shut off export business.

Weather conditions were favorable in this country and most of the winter wheat belt got another wetting down, which was regarded as favorable, while conditions northwest were decidedly favorable. Private Argentine cable said that conditions were favorable and there was no apprehension displayed. Harvest will soon begin in the South American country.

Support Fair in Corn.

December corn showed quite a stubborn undertone early, but the weakness in other grains and lower cash prices here caused selling of substantial character. Prices at the close were ¼@⅜c lower. The cash demand was moderate, with prices ½c lower, and sales were 80,000 bu. Country offerings were moderate. Weather map showed general precipitation. Predictions were for fair and colder weather, which will be just what is needed for drying out the corn.

Receipts were 106 cars with 156 cars for today. Receipts in the west were 394,000 bu, against 378,000 bu a year ago. Outside cash markets were easy, except St. Louis, which was higher early. Cables were ⅛@⅜d off. Heavy offers of Plate corn being a big factor.

Oats Sentiment Bearish.

Oats were under pressure of both short sales and liquidation by longs, giving the market a heavy undertone. Prices at the close were ¼@½c lower. Cash prices were ½@¾c lower, with liberal offerings from the country. Cash sales were 280,000 bu. Receipts here were 318 cars, with 228 cars inspected yesterday. Commission houses were fair buyers of the May on the break. Primary receipts were 1,017,000 bu, against 347,000 bu a year ago.

Provisions Advance Sharply.

The market for provisions had a strong undertone. At the start shorts bid up the market because of the sharp advance in hogs and later stockyard houses bought freely and continued to buy until the close of the session. At no time were the offerings heavy. Longs took profits on the advance and late in the session some selling appeared, which the talent were inclined to credit to the packing interests. The hog run was estimated at 30,000 head and 24,000 head are expected today. In the west 81,000 hogs were received, as compared with 112,700 head the corresponding day last year. Prices at the yards were 10@15c higher. Meat and lard shipments were far in excess of a year ago. Liverpool prices on provisions showed no change.

Rye Dull and Weak.

Rye again met with a restricted demand and the market was easy. No. 2 sold at 65c and No. 3 at 62c. Receipts, 6 cars.

Barley was steady, with malting 52@74c; feed, 45@50c; screenings 35@43c. Receipts, 46 cars.

Timothy seed was quiet, with March sold at $4.00. Cash lots were $2.75@3.75. Clover seed held steady at $13.00@17.50 for cash lots.

Duluth flax closed 2@3c lower, with cash on track $1.40⅝; November, $1.39¾; December, $1.35; January, $1.36¾. Receipts, 176 cars. Minneapolis flax was 2c lower at $1.38⅜ for cash on track. Receipts, 85 cars. Winnipeg closed 2@3c lower, with November $1.23; December, $1.16; May, $1.21. Receipts, 126 cars.

BUYS LANDMARK OF NORTH SIDE

A. L. Farwell Gets Sheldon Residence at Lincoln Park Blvd. and Erie St.

DEAL IN BOWEN AVENUE.

Frederick H. Bartlett & Co. Acquire Four Story 32 Flat Building at 417-423.

A real estate transaction with features of unusual interest, just closed, is the sale by Henry I. Sheldon of Sheldon & Sheldon, attorneys, to Arthur L. Farwell of the residence of the former at the northwest corner of Lincoln Park boulevard and Erie street. It is one of the residential landmarks in that part of the city, having been erected nearly thirty years ago by Mr. Sheldon, who has lived there ever since.

The house is a two and a half story stone structure, containing about fifteen rooms, and resembles somewhat a small castle. It occupies a lot having a frontage of 60 feet on the boulevard and 150 feet on Erie street. The price paid by Mr. Farwell is withheld. The sale was negotiated by the Bowes Realty company.

This is the second purchase recently made along the boulevard by Mr. Farwell, and the third by him and his brother, John V. Farwell, through the Bowes Realty company. The other purchase of Arthur Farwell comprised the property at the northwest corner of Superior street and Lincoln Park boulevard, while John V. Farwell recently bought from Frederick M. Bowes the "Boulevard shops" at the northwest corner of the boulevard and Ontario street for a reported consideration of about $100,000.

Deal in Bowen Avenue.

Frederick H. Bartlett & Co. have purchased from Louis H. Towne of Edgerton, Wis., the 4 story apartment building containing 32 flats of 4 rooms each at 417-23 Bowen avenue, on 58½ by 122 feet of ground, north front, 181 feet east of Grand boulevard. The consideration is nominal, subject to an incumbrance of $30,000 not assumed by the grantee. In part exchange Mr. Bartlett conveyed the property at 2608 Washington boulevard, improved with a brick residence, a flat building at 7707 Goldsmith avenue, and frame store and flat buildings at 453-5 West Forty-third street, 125 feet west of Canal street. The three are subject to an incumbrance of $6,400.

Edward Mendell has leased to George A. Stamslides the property at the northwest corner of Montrose and Kedzie avenues, 100x125 feet, for a term of ninety-nine years at an annual rent of $1,500 for the first five years and $1,800 for the remaining ninety-four years. The lease provides for the construction of a building within two years to cost not less than $20,000, but the lessee is said to plan building in the near future. A. Adelman represented both parties to the transaction.

The store and flat property at the southwest corner of Blue Island avenue and Polk street, with 47x120 feet of ground, has been sold by Jacob Taff to Caroline A. Dyckman, the consideration being nominal, subject to an incumbrance of $14,000.

Murray Wolbach has bought the property at the northeast corner of Harrison street and South Forty-fifth avenue and the northwest corner of Harrison street and Forty-fourth avenue, and will improve the former with a building to contain six stores, five flats, and four offices to cost $30,000. The Forty-fourth avenue corner will be improved with a building to contain six stores and four flats to cost $20,000.

Sale at Cleaver and Division.

The Catholic bishop of Chicago has purchased from Michael Hosinski the property in Cleaver street 141 feet south of Division street, 75x124 feet, west front, for $17,875.

Henry S. Josselyn has sold to Esrael Samuels the property at the southeast corner of Douglas boulevard and Millard avenue, 133x133 feet, the consideration being withheld.

George C. Murray has bought from Minerva Sweinhart the high grade six apartment building at 714-716 Sheridan road for 50,000. The building was recently constructed, and the sale was negotiated by R. E. De Vault of W. K. Young & Bro.

At the special meeting of the Chicago real estate board yesterday to take action on the death of Willard T. Orr a committee consisting of Frederick H. Bartlett, John F. Wallace, and W. D. McKee reported appropriate resolutions. A large committee was appointed to attend the funeral, which will be held this morning at 11 o'clock at the late residence of Mr. Orr, 911 Ainslie street.

JUDGE LANDIS GRANTS RESPITE TO LOAN AGENCY BORROWER.

John M. Walsh Balks at Heavy Demands and Enlists Aid of "Tribune" Loan Shark Bureau.

For three months John M. Walsh of 1026 North California avenue was vainly trying to satisfy the demands of the J. F. Collins loan agency at 118 North La Salle street. Early in July he had borrowed a small sum to "tide him over a few rough places," and had signed a note which would have kept him on the books of the agency until July 31, 1919.

It was not until a few days ago that Walsh balked at the heavy demands made on him and appealed to Attorney Abram Adelman of the TRIBUNE Loan Shark bureau. Attorney Adelman appeared before Judge Landis yesterday and Walsh was assured that he would be granted a brief breathing spell. Collins and his attorney were ordered to appear in court tomorrow.

"Walsh was in straightened circumstances and was forced to ask the loan," said Mr. Adelman. "He had paid back $48 since July, but it seems even though he had practically signed himself away until July, 1919, his payments were not fast enough. The game was a little too strong for him, and he was gradually being forced to the wall. That is why he balked. On Nov. 6 bankruptcy proceedings were filed and he was adjudged a bankrupt two days later. We do not expect any further trouble, for it seems to me the collecting agency has had about all the money coming to it."

"The steady inflow of export orders to steel corporation is one explanation of variant reports; another, and probably greater weight, is that the steel corporation has been selling farther ahead at exist contract prices than most of its competit having taken considerable business, it known, for delivery in the third quart 1913.

Good Line Pipe Business.

"The merchant pipe trade is not as heavy the early fall, jobbing demand having been fied, but there is good line pipe business miles of twenty inch pipe being closed while there is inquiry for fifteen miles of shape for West Virginia. In cast iron pipe vance of $1 a ten has been made by recently in view of further pig iron advance.

THE PRINTOGRAPH
MULTIPLE TYPEWRITER
Increases Sales Volume
Decreases Sales Expense
Hitch a Brain to a Printograph!

That Question of Durability

In considering the purchase of any office appliance you will surely come to that question, "Is it durable—will it stand up under hard conditions?" Here's the answer to this question when applied to the Printograph.

The Gardner Nursery Company

"We have printed over 200,000 circular letters on our 'Printograph' in the last year and a half. We like the machine very much. It has had no repairs, and our machine, as far as we can see, is as good for future service as it was when we got it."—C. E. GARDNER.

Solving the Problem of Sales Expense

The biggest business problem of today is the ever-increasing sales expense. Competition is keener than ever; salesmen's salaries and expenses are high. And this is the important fact. Individual sales effort is no greater—individual sales results [illegible] increased.

Bigger results per man must be the aim of every company employing salesmen. How to get bigger results per man? Put part of your sales effort into the mails. Simplify and intensify the work of your salesmen by Printograph Sales Plans.

A salesman backed by Printograph letters can double his sales efforts 100 per cent more effectively. Hours formerly spent in "digging up prospects" is expended in selling goods to people located by Printograph letters. Printographed sales letters reach prospects [illegible]. Printograph sales letters are increasing the sales volume and decreasing the sales expense in hundreds of business houses—large and small—every day.

The Printograph typewrites the date, name, address, salutation, [illegible] of letter and [illegible] signature all in one operation and addresses the envelope [illegible].

You need the powerful force of Printograph in your business—and you need it now.

Put It Up to Us

Learn just what this wonderful business-building machine can do for your business. Don't overlook this great business-building factor. Don't let anything stop you from getting the real facts. A letter or telephone call to our nearest office brings a man with a trained merchandising [illegible]. This man will be able to show you how the Printograph can [illegible] your sales expense by the Printograph method. In any case you have nothing to gain. Act now, while it is on your mind.

CALL LOAN RATE RAISED BY BANKS

Some National Institutions Ask 6 Per Cent, Following New York Lead.

CURB BUYING OF PAPER.

United States for First Time Is International Money Market, Due to War.

Some of the large national institutions have marked by their call loans from 5½ to 6 per cent, the increased rate to take effect Nov. 15. The same institutions are not doing much in the way of purchases of commercial paper, and practically making 5¾ per cent their minimum rate. They try mostly for 6 per cent.

New York banking sentiment is, in part, responsible for a firmer situation here. New York is more directly affected by the foreign money market. In consequence, the eastern banks are asking for the payment of loans and bringing into this market borrowers who but for having been disturbed in their eastern arrangements would not seek accommodation here. There is a generally good, strong demand, and the 6 per cent rate probably will operate to curtail expansion at this time.

New York's Prestige Grows.

The position of New York has been greatly improved as an international money center, since the Balkan war became serious the New York financial resources and the stock market have proved to be the most liquid of any of the world centers. When Paris, Berlin, and London became apprehentive and wished to sell securities a ready market was found in New York, being quite the contrary to market conditions abroad. It proved to be the first time in the development of international finance that New York rose in prestige above the markets of other countries.

It cannot be said that the situation here or in the east suggests anything more than the wholesome conservatism that for several months has obtained.

Lincoln, chairman; Norman B. Ream, J. P. Morgan, John J. Mitchell, John S. Runnells, and George F. Baker. Mr. Baker was chosen to fill the place formerly held by Mr. Hulbert.

Boom in Stock Failed.

The figures attract especial attention because of the fact of the market movement started in the preferred stock several months ago, and carried on without the good will of the Standard Oil interests which control the property.

Similarly the pool which undertook to boost Corn Products Refining common, on the basis of the large corn crop has since been told that the company's earnings are not good, that the Edgewater plant has been operating at a loss that the outlook is not specially encouraging. The Standard Oil people alsocontroith e Corn Products Refining company.

Increase in Railroad Earnings.

From the statements of earnings submitted by the railroads of the country to the interstate commerce commission, the Wall Street Journal has compiled a table showing the percentage of increase in gross and net earnings by months of these roads since 1909. The figures show decreases in gross for eight of the twelve months of 1911, while for the first seven months of 1912 increases are shown in the last six.

Net earnings for the first seven months in 1912 do not make relatively so good an exhibit because of increased operating costs. Following are the figures:

DRESSERS BID UP TURKEY PRICES

Live Birds Sell Well Above Board Values and Call Exceeds Supply.

BUTTER AND EGGS FIRM.

Best Grades Advanced Half a Cent; Potatoes Show Buoyant Undertone.

Poultry dressers bid 1½@2c higher than the board prices for live turkeys at Chicago yesterday, but could not get all they wanted, even at the premium. Expectations are that Thanksgiving day turkeys this year will sell at 3@4c a lb higher than a year ago, or around 22c a lb, and dressers are anxious to accumulate liberal reserves before the general rush sets in.

Better grades of butter and eggs were given a further upward boost of ½c, with cooler weather and prospects of still lighter receipts in the near future the incentives for the advance. Trade was quiet.

Receipts of potatoes aggregated 60 cars. The demand was stimulated by more favorable weather and the market had a buoyant undertone at the previous day's prices, sales being made at 45c to 54c a bu on track.

Fresh fruits and green vegetables met with a moderate demand, with apples and fancy head lettuce and string beans bringing advanced prices.

Chicago Real Estate Daily Increasing in Value

To the conservative investor in first mortgage loans, the fact that real estate values in Chicago are rising constantly, day by day, is a fact of vital importance. It means that the land securing his loan is steadily becoming more valuable, adding to his margin of security and to the safety of his investment.

Chicago's position, as the great central market of the United States, the greatest railroad center in the world, and the financial and commercial capital of the Middle West, insures a continuance of this growth in realty values for many years to come.

The attention of conservative investors is called to the following partial list of first mortgage loans secured by improved, income producing, centrally located Chicago real estate of the highest class, purchased by us after thorough examination:

Amount	Rate	Security	Value of Security
$ 8,000	5½%	Store and Flat Building	$16,000
8,500	5½%	6-Apartment Building	17,000
9,500	5½%	6-Apartment Building	20,000
11,500	5½%	3-Story 6-Flat Building	23,000
14,000	6%	2-Story Store and Flat Building	29,000
18,000	5½%	Store and Theater Building	30,000
20,000	5½%	6-Apartment Building	40,000
20,000	5½%	Store and Theater Building	42,000
21,000	5½%	6-Apartment Building	43,000
25,000	5%	Mercantile Building	65,000
35,000	5%	5-Story Mercantile Building	90,000
40,000	5½%	2-Story Store and Flat Building	85,000

The total loan is never more than 50% of the value of the security. Title guarantee policy, certificate of validity, and ample fire insurance with every loan.

No investor has ever lost a dollar of principal or interest on any security purchased of us in the thirty years we have been investment bankers in Chicago. All the above loans are rapidly convertible into cash.

Receipts Fall Below Forecast and Buyers Take Hold at Firmer Prices.

BRISK CALL LIFTS HOGS.

Rise of 10@15 Cents Brings Average to $7.82; Sheep and Lambs Firm.

Cattle receipts at Chicago yesterday were posted at 20,000 head, but packers had about 4,000 of these direct and the supply on the open market fell short of expectations. Buyers took hold with more avidity than on any previous day this week, and prices were firm to 10c higher, with tops at $10.85 for heavy beeves and $10.50 for yearlings. Cows and heifers sold higher at the outset, but closed on a reaction of 10@15c. Calves dropped 25c, topping at $10.50 for assorted vealers.

Hogs met with a brisk demand on local and outside account and prices were given an upward boost of 10@15c, with the average at $7.82, against $7.66 Tuesday. Many loads were sold at $8.00, and a top was made at $8.10. A little weakness developed in the trade toward the finish, but the supply was well cleared before this easiness was felt. Packers' droves aggregated 20,700 head, while shippers were given credit for purchases of 4,500 head.

Sheep and lambs sold on a firm market, with occasional sales at an advance of 10c. Quality was good and the trade had an active tone, with best lambs topping at $7.25.

New York.

FOR SALE—
POSSIBILITIES IN FRUITS.
New York produces one-seventh of the nation's apple crop. You plant 27 or 33 trees to the acre, and orchards are producing this year 8 to 12 barrels to the tree, worth $2.00 per barrel. This is an average production and price. Vineyards are producing 3 to 5 tons of grapes to the acre, worth $25 to $45 per ton according to variety. Peaches yield $200 to $350 per acre and are almost a sure crop. A big grower near Geneva has had 18 crops in 18 years. Pears grow about as well as peaches and are easy to grow. Sour cherries produce 3 or 4 tons to the acre, and they sell for $100 to $120 per ton.
Aside from fruit, this is one of the best farming centers in New York state. The diversity of crops is great. Alfalfa, 3 tons to the acre; timothy about the same. We have samples of corn in our office that will grow 100 bushels to the acre. Oats, a record this year was 79 bushels. Wheat was showing 25 to 36 bushels to the acre, and you will remember the straw will sell for $9 to $10 per ton. Cabbage this year is producing 20 to 28 tons to the acre. Those who contracted early in the season got $5 a ton. You can grow anything here that will grow in the west. You can grow more. You are nearer markets and you get a better price. Your farms are low priced. You can buy a well improved farm here for $75 to $125 per acre. In the west similar farms would be worth $200 to $300 per acre. Don't buy anywhere until you have investigated what we have to offer in Seneca and Ontario counties.

Rumors of a Coal Famine Make the Heating Problem A Live Subject

And there's many a full coal bin that won't be touched this year until real winter comes.

Until then thousands of coal eating furnaces will give way to

Little Gas Heaters

These little heaters have been greatly improved.

Some of the newer models have fire brick backs that retain and throw out heat long after the flame is turned off.

A Five Dollar Heater

will in a few minutes make the average living room warm and cozy on a frosty Fall morning or evening.

This heat on tap effects a big saving over the furnace or stove fire that eats coal day and night.

At our big salesroom down town and our outlying stores we are showing these heaters in dozens of different shapes from $5.00 to $20.00.

Ask us for descriptions and pictures.
